

ONE BRAND- ONE QUALITY- One Size Package

All our skill, facilities, and lifelong knowledge of the finest tobaccos are concentrated on this one cigarette—CAMEL.

Into this ONE BRAND, we put the utmost quality. Nothing is too good for Camels. They are as good as it's possible to make a cigarette.

Camel QUALITY is always maintained at the same high, exclusive standard. You can always depend on the same mellow-mild refreshing smoothness—the taste and rich flavor of choicest tobaccos—and entire freedom from cigarettey aftertaste.

And remember this! Camels come in one size package only—20 cigarettes—just the right size to make the greatest saving in production and packing. This saving goes straight into Camel Quality. That's one reason why you can get Camel Quality at so moderate a price.

Here's another. We put no useless frills on the Camel package. No "extra wrappers!" Nothing just for show!

Such things do not improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons. And their added cost must go onto the price or come out of the quality.

One thing, and only one, is responsible for Camels great and growing popularity—that is CAMEL QUALITY.

TEAMS LEAVE THIS WEEK

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 20. (United Press.)—Washington and Jefferson's football squad will leave for Pasadena on December 23, according to present plans. The exact number of men who will compose the squad has not as yet been announced.

Plans to leave for Pasadena early time of their arrival, and continued or were changed because it was feared that the players might lose their "pep" and vitality if the weather proved to be unusually warm at the time of their arrival, and continued so during the work-out.

Telephone Traffic

The signals of the traffic officer are obeyed instantly by the intelligent citizen, as he realizes that indifference means confusion and congestion.

Over the wires and through the switchboards of the telephone company there is a constant volume of traffic. Here there is also a signal—the ringing of the telephone bell. A great obstacle in the flow of this traffic is delay in answering the telephone bell.

Answer your telephone bell promptly. You will accommodate the party calling. Your own line will be more quickly cleared for other business.

MEN AND MEN

Herb was frowning when I looked at him, somewhat timidly, I couldn't understand whether it was because of his long distance talk with Ria or for something that I had done. I concluded that the best thing to do was to wait until he was ready to speak.

"I should have taken you with me," he exclaimed. "I might have known that if I left you here that some cad would have considered you his prey."

As I did not answer, he continued: "I don't know what I am going to do with you. If I appoint myself your protector everybody in town will talk about you. That is what it means to have my reputation. But unless someone is taking care of you, you are going to get into all sorts of trouble. I can see that. You look too innocent, my dear."

"Surely, Herb, Mr. Stratton was disinterested. He took me over to Miss Sanson, you know."

"Theodore Stratton's methods are not crude. If you succeed in this work you must work and fight like a man in this game. You must not expect or want chivalry from the other sex. For the much vaunted chivalry of men in these days is only the polite attentions they pay to the woman they are wooing. Some of them, like Al Brown, will frighten you by saying: 'Why not now?' and others, like Theodore Stratton, are willing to whisper to themselves: 'Eventually.'"

"Oh, yes," he continued savagely. "I know I am giving the whole game away."

"Isn't that an indication that you have turned over a new leaf yourself, Herb?" I asked with a smile. "Yes, it is. And I am thoroughly ashamed of the way I have lived before this. But honestly, Virgie, I can't get over the idea that every woman must be taken care of by some man. She must either have a father, a brother, or some man who loves her to protect her. It is an old tradition, my dear, and it dies hard. Consequently, when one of us sees a girl like you, innocent, courageous, pretty, we never stop to give her the benefit of her doubt but ask sneeringly, if our advances are repelled: 'Who is the other man?'"

"Theodore Stratton appointed himself the other man in the little comedy that has just been played, my dear."

"Can't you give him the credit for being disinterested, Herb?"

"No. Theodore Stratton would have never come near you had he not been interested."

"But what of Maud Sanson?"

"Oh, she knew it. She has had to swallow her pride many times since she has known Stratton."

"Don't you think that she felt sorry for me?"

"Yes, in a way, but she won't feel sorry for you if you attract Stratton's attention to any great extent."

Involuntarily I rubbed down the front of my gown as though brushing something off.

"What is the matter, Virgie? Did you spill something?"

"No but it seemed that I was covered with mud, I guess."

"Well, mud stains can be cleaned off easily. The old saw about mud sticking has become about as obsolete as a fairy story, my dear. Ria has often remarked that she had to apply a human vacuum cleaner to her mind after talking to men of certain caliber; and then she could go her way and feel perfectly decent again. I am sorry you have had this shock. It is a hard lesson, but you must learn it."

"Eventually?" I interrupted.

"Now," he answered soberly.

"Tell me about Ria."

"Kitty Dalton—that little human hyena is driving Gloria wild. Some shyster lawyer got to her and she declares that she is going to have me arrested claiming big damages. I told Ria to come on back to Los Angeles and leave Kitty there. That there was no use of her worrying, for it would be up to me to settle. I told her you were dining with me and she seemed very glad of it. Said she was a bit envious of you. Wasn't that sweet of her? She also said that you and I could take care of each other. I wasn't very thoughtful of you tonight when I left you to the mercies of the Al Brown type."

"Whom I escaped," I said with a smile, "only to fall into the clutches of a man of the Theodore Stratton type."

"Virgie, don't you fall in love with Theodore Stratton?"

"What makes you say that Herb?"

"Because," he said with a sagacity I had not given him credit for, "every time you have spoken of him, your voice has held a little breath-taking note—a note that has always intrigued me when Ria spoke my name."

"You are learning altogether too much about our sex, Herbert, since you have been married. Is Ria coming back soon?"

"If I have anything to do with it, she will," he answered grimly.

RESORT WAITS FOR SNOWFALL.

TRUCKEE, Cal., Dec. 20.—(United Press.)—Residents of Truckee, the Sierra Nevada resort, are looking anxiously skyward for the first signs of a good snowfall.

Preparations are being made for a big winter sport season, as Truckee is the official spot where native Californians, from the tourist car tourists to social lights come to see and revel in real winter weather.

Ice skating will be one of the features of the program, a huge ice skating rink having been constructed a few hundred yards from the depot.

Skiing, tobogganing, sleigh-riding, and sled coasting for the youngsters will also be provided.

The annual "Fiesta of the Snows" will be the big offering of the "winter season" and will furnish an added attraction for those who want a "white Christmas." It takes place on Christmas day.

Added interest attaches to Truckee this winter because five moving picture companies have made reservations here, and plan to bring companies here to film a number of "Alaskan" and "Canadian" scenes.

GRANGE GIVES BANQUET

Evergreen Grange No. 469 gave a delightful banquet Saturday evening in honor of twelve new members taken in at the last regular meeting. A jolly houseful gathered around the long table loaded with dainty dishes of entrees and tried to do justice to all. Plans for a Christmas tree for grangers and their families were discussed and committees appointed to get a tree and decorations. The grange expects Santa Claus to be on the job at Kelly's Korner at 8 p. m., Saturday, Dec. 24, to gladden the hearts of young and old.

They told me Roseburg people were not classy enough to buy special wall paper, I took a chance. The papers and beautiful borders are here for your inspection, as I believe Roseburg people are as good judges as any on earth, and just as classy, and know a good thing when they see it. The Brunswick

Finished in Mahogany and Oak

Make This a Brunswick Christmas

An ideal addition to the Christmas festivities is a Brunswick, for it brings to each member of the household his favorite music in the intimate atmosphere of the home.

And note, too, that there is no reason why buying a phonograph, to be satisfied with anything short of a Brunswick—for prices and terms of Brunswick are the same as those of other makes.

Exclusive Features

Brunswick plays all makes of records without attachments. This means that with a Brunswick in your home you can enjoy all the great variety of the make of records for which you record.

This is accomplished by the Vitrolux—a part of The Brunswick—not an "attachment."

Another exclusive Brunswick feature is the Tone Amplifier or horn, made entirely of wood and moulded like a fine old violin. It is responsible for much of the wondrously beautiful Brunswick tone.
