ADVICE TO LOVELORN AND OTHERS

Dear Mrs. Ellsbury: I have a very hard problem that has been worrying me for days and I thought I would tell you, and see what you said about it. I am nearly 27 years old and am going to be married in a few weeks. The man I am going to marry is very, very jealous. When I was eighteen I ran away from home and married a man much older than myself, but my mother followed me, and arrived just after the wedding ceremony was performed and made me return home. She had the marriage annulled and no one ever heard about it. Should I tell the man I am going to marry this, or should I let it remain in the past. I do not know how he would take it, and am afraid to tell him.

Ans. If you are sure there is no possible chance of the matter ever coming up to make trouble, I would not tell him. It was done many years ago, and cannot influence in any way your love for him. There is always a chance, however, that those matters we think are buried come up and cause trouble. If you are afraid this may happen, it would be better to tell him, and start your married life with no secrets. He surely could not let something that happened so many years ago, when you were young, cause trouble now. There is a chance that he will hear about it from someone else, in a

Will Work For Land Settlement

PORTLAND, Jan. 10.—(Special.)—The Oregon State Chamber of Commerce will continue its active work in colonizing and settling the unoccupied land of the state, and will bend every effort toward the merging of all land settlement agencies throughout the state during the coming year, according to an outline of the future policy of the organization made public today.

The report, which is an outgrowth of the annual meeting of the organization on January 3rd, emphasizes the fact that the State Chamber, due to the active cooperation of the railroads serving this state, executive departments at Salem, and all state-wide organizations, has become established as the central medium through which prospective settlers are put in touch with the various districts of the state in which they desire to locate.

An important development in the State Chamber's plan of placing ex-soldiers on the land under the provisions of the Oregon bonus law, was announced in the report. Robert O. Case of the State Chamber, an executive man, has been appointed secretary of the State Land Committee of the American Legion, and will immediately take up the work of compiling data in regard to specific tracts of land available for soldier settlement.

Thomas A. Sweeney, chairman of the State Land Committee of the American Legion, in announcing the appointment of the secretary, declared that the committee would take up the active work of soldier settlement through the State Chamber.

"Oregon ex-soldiers who desire to use the bonus as a means of buying a home should address the American Legion State Land Committee, Oregon Building, Portland," said Mr. Sweeney. "We expect to work closely with the State Chamber in this matter, as that organization has complete data on file relative to the various tracts of land for settlement."

Other matters taken up in the report include the announcement that a new department of Organization and Service, as recommended by the State Association of Commercial Secretaries, will be instituted by the State Chamber. The purpose of this department will be to give assistance to local commercial organizations throughout the state, and a field man will be employed who will devote his entire time to this work.

Meanest Thief Robbed the Poor

MONROVIA, Cal., Jan. 11. (United Press.)—Add one more to the list of meanest thieves. He lives in Monrovia.

On Christmas eve Mrs. Mary Wait, an aged, poor, and lonely woman whose home and is in the poorhouse, received a basket of Christmas cheer donated by local churches. She put the basket away and went to see the kiddies made happy at the municipal Christmas tree.

While she was gone the "meanest thief," who had evidently seen her hide it, broke into her little house and stole it.

Don Bollenbaugh of Canyonville spent several hours in Roseburg yesterday. Mr. Bollenbaugh receives medical treatment from Dr. Seely.

GREEN P. T. MEETING

The Green Parent Teacher meeting will be held Friday evening, January 12, at the school house.

The program committee has a very interesting program prepared. You will be entertained with songs, instrumental music, recitations and readings. In the business meeting you will be given a chance to express yourself in regard to the welfare of your community or otherwise.

The association has installed paper towels this week. During the holidays other improvements were made. It is to your interest to be present and assist in this good work for the benefit of your community.

Following the business meeting the following moving pictures will be shown:

Children's Hour—1 reel. A beautiful dramatization of the well-known poem by Henry W. Longfellow.

Laying Submarine Telephone Cable—1 reel. This is a new film just received by the University before the holidays. It shows dramatic pictures of the laying of the submarine telephone cable from Key West, Florida, to Havana, Cuba. The picture tells us how a man can now telephone from Santa Catalina Island off the coast of southern California to Havana, Cuba, a distance of 5,600 miles.

Orange Industry in California—1 reel. This film is also new and has never been shown outside the University. The photography of this film is of particular interest because it is in natural colors. The oranges are yellow, the foliage green, and distant California backgrounds are shown in all their natural hues.

Cultivation of Sugar Cane—1 reel.

garbled masonic, and start trouble before you can tell him the truth.

Dear Mrs. Ellsbury: My little girl has straight bobbed hair and I do not think it looks well, as her face is thin. I do not know how to comb it if I let it grow out as it is straight. I do not care to curl it. What shall I do to make it wave becoming?

Ans. Let her hair grow a little longer than you ordinarily do, then do the ends of it up on kid curlers at night. You will find that this will not injure the hair in any way, but will give a desirable fluffiness to it that will look well.

Will your "Good Morning" last all day?

Easy to start from the breakfast table with zest and enthusiasm, but how easy is it to keep on?

Does ambition last, or lag, as the day develops?

The afternoon "slump" is a factor to be counted upon, in business or social life.

Usually, there's a reason.

Nerves whipped by tea or coffee won't keep on running, and they won't stand constant whipping.

Many a man or woman who has wished the afternoon would be as bright as the morning has simply been wishing that the nerves wouldn't have to pay the natural penalty for being whipped with the caffeine drug.

Postum gives a breakfast cup of comfort and cheer, without any penalties afterward. There's no "letting down" from Postum—no midday drowsiness to make up for midnight wakefulness; no headaches; no nervous indigestion; no increase of blood pressure.

Think it over. There's full satisfaction in Postum—a cup of comfort for anybody (the children included), any time.

You can get Postum from your grocer or your waiter today, and probably you'll begin to have better tomorrows, as so many thousands have had, who have made the change from coffee to Postum.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup, by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

This is one of the pictures furnished us by the government of Holland and shows the cultivation of sugar cane in Java. Especially clear and interesting scenes showing the native workers at their labors taking the sugar cane from the time it is planted until it is made into sugar.

These films are loaned to the Parent Teacher Association and are shown by means of the Farm Bureau moving picture machine under the direction of Ellis Miller with his DeLoe light plant.

The same films will be used at the Melrose grange hall on Saturday, January 14th, under the auspices of the Melrose Parent Teacher association.

Frank Terry, of the Equitable Savings and Loan Association, is now at the Umpqua Hotel.

Missionary Program at Christian Church

There will be a most interesting missionary program given at the Christian church tonight. The meeting will be largely in the hands of the young people, but the meeting is for all. The program is as follows: Devotional period; instrumental music, piano and violin; the subject, the Awakening of India—What of its future? Several young people will appear in Indian costume, giving messages from the boys and girls raised in our orphanage there. Solo, with violin obligato. The life story of Chandra Lala will be given. This woman was an Indian priestess, who was married at the age of seven, and became a child widow at the age of nine, and who finally was won to Christianity. Special song written by one of the missionaries. A double quartette of young people. This program will be of interest to all.

Dog Tax Law Is Upheld by Court

SALEM, Jan. 11.—The constitutionality of the dog tax law enacted by the state legislature of 1919 is upheld in an opinion written by Justice Rand and handed down by the supreme court this morning affirming the decree of Judge Bingham of the Marion county circuit court in the case of E. Hofer vs. John Carson, district attorney, and other officials of Marion county.

Hofer, as the owner of a dog, sought to enjoin officials of Marion county from collecting the license fee fixed by the state law at $1 annually for male dogs and $2 annually for female dogs. Hofer in his complaint asserted that his dog was already regularly assessed and taxed as personal property and that he had paid this tax and that under the act of 1919, under attack, he would be compelled to pay an additional sum as license fee which in reality is not a license fee but a tax levied wholly for the purpose of raising a revenue to create and maintain a "dog fund."

In upholding the validity of the act Justice Rand points out that "the keeping of dogs is under the absolute control of the legislature and that right may be conditioned upon the payment of a license," that the license imposed by the state law was created "as an exercise of the police power" of the legislature "as distinguished from the taxing power."
