GLENDALE WANTS POLICE PROTECTION

Newspaper of That City Raps County Officials For Negligence—Suggests Recall.

BOOTLEGGERS APLENTY

Citizens Are Puzzled and Wonder Whether Glendale is Still a Part of Douglas County—Many Delinquents, Editor Says.

This is the way the editor of the Glendale News puts it up to the county court and officers of this county in the last issue of his paper. The article in part says:

What course is open to citizens of Glendale to get enforcement of law and order here? Bootlegging and moonshining are going on in our midst, and nothing is done. Crimes are committed, and the county officials do not act, or if they are compelled to act they make the affair a complete farce and turn the criminal free. Juvenile offenses get absolutely no attention at the hands of the court or the juvenile officer. We have no local deputy, and no one wants the job, and not without cause for there is no recompense, and anyway when an officer here or the city police arrest a lawbreaker he is made a jackass by the county officials. Boys of school age, who ought to be and the laws require that they should be, in school, are not attending school but are being let go with absolutely no attention, and in one case a youth has been delinquent in many escapades that border on crime, and officers, although called into the case, have refused to take any action save to reprimand him for offenses. Local officers are about to give up in despair. Local citizens are puzzled and are beginning to wonder whether Glendale is part of Douglas county and the state of Oregon or not, for we are without any protection whatever from the law. We are paying taxes; why are we ignored by our county legal officers? The merry moonshiners hold regular revels among us, hootch flows freely, juvenile criminals are committing serious crimes and going free time after time, thus leading other boys into like escapades, stills are running overtime in our vicinity, the game laws are violated daily all around us, and yet nothing is done. The local police is powerless, local authorities are about to give up in despair, and citizens who believe in law and order are wondering what next. It is about time the people at this end of the county took some action. Why pay our taxes to go toward salaries for officers, county court and sheriff, who ignore us entirely? What is wrong? A recall of some of our county officials who are putting over such rank stuff might help, but the question is, are there enough people in our vicinity to effect a recall? There is one thing certain, there are several county officials who have either got to get busy in this neck of the woods or else around about election time they need expect no votes from Glendale.

No Fishing In Umpqua Tributaries

Recently the News-Review published a statement from Deputy Game Warden Walker, regarding the fishing laws. Later W. S. Hogan of Oakland presented a resolution of the fish and game commission permitting fishing in the Calapooya, which he claimed was in full effect. Mr. Hogan's claim was published, credit for the statement being given to him, the News-Review taking no responsibility for it. Mr. Hogan's claim is answered in a letter from A. E. Burghdoff, state game warden to Deputy Game Warden Walker, the letter being as follows:

Portland, Oregon, January 18, 1922.

Mr. Ed. Walker, District Game Warden, Roseburg, Oregon.

My Dear Walker:

Replying to your letter of the 13th instant:

Reference is had to the published item in the Roseburg News-Review with reference to fishing in the Calapooya in which it states that fishing for ten inch trout may be done in this stream during the winter months.

The order of the Commission closing portions of the Umpqua river and tributaries, including the Calapooya river to a point on said Calapooya river known as the Nonpariel Dam, expired on the 1st day of May, 1921. Therefore, it is of no force and effect.

The 1921 game laws provide that the only winter fishing that can be had is for 10-inch fish and over, and these 10-inch fish can only be taken in streams affected by tide water. The Umpqua river is affected by tide water, but the upper tributaries of the Umpqua are not affected by tide water. This being the case all tributaries of the Umpqua river are closed to fishing in the winter time with hook and line, commonly called angling, and you cannot get away from it.

We fail to find that we have had any communication from W. S. Hogan of Oakland within the last six months, about fishing or any other. If we have had our files fail to disclose the nature of such correspondence.

Yours very truly,
A. E. BURGHDOFF,
State Game Warden.
By F. M. Brown,
Chief Deputy Game Warden.

BONUS LOANS

Within a very few months, the State of Oregon will commence paying its ex-service men thousands of dollars upon mortgage loans. In order to secure such a loan it is essential that you have a clear title to the property offered as security.

You should have your abstract prepared at once in order that there may be no delay in closing up the loan. Many minor defects in titles can be cleared up without much difficulty but it takes time to secure quit claim deeds, copies of unrecorded patents, affidavits, etc. If you wish to secure quick action in closing your loan be prepared, order your abstract now.

Come in and talk it over; we will be glad to give you any assistance possible.

BOOSTS OREGON.

Polk City, Ia.—To the Editor:—An article in the Tribune says Iowa is 75 years old and the best state in the union. She is a good state but not the best. What state raises some of the best apples in the world? Oregon. Oregon was the second state in the union in the production of wheat per acre with an average of 2.14 bushels. Oregon averaged 42.3 bushels of oats and 35 bushels of barley. The average for potatoes was 135 bushels. Oregon is 63 years old and Portland, her largest city, has a population of 295,463, while Des Moines had a population of 104,052 in 1919. Laying the rough stuff aside, Iowa couldn't get along without Oregon and Oregon couldn't get along without Iowa. I have two babies, one born in Iowa and the other in Oregon, and I treat them just the same.

WOOL GROWERS ENDORSE COOPERATIVE MARKETING METHOD

Cooperative marketing of wool and lambs was strongly urged by the fifty-seventh annual convention of the National Wool Growers Association, held in Salt Lake City, January 8 to 11. The committee on wool marketing composed of Frank Nebelitt of Wyoming, W. D. Candland of Utah, J. E. Morse of Montana, Fred Gooding of Idaho, T. E. Pollack of Arizona, and R. A. Ward of Oregon, in their report recommended the establishment of regional wool marketing associations at centers to be later determined by freight differentials. Cities tentatively selected as concentration points are Portland, Ore., Dillon, Mont., Cheyenne, Wyo., Salt Lake City, Utah, San Francisco and Los Angeles, Cal., Albuquerque, New Mex., Houston, Texas, Chicago, Ill., Philadelphia, Pa., and Boston, Mass. At these points it was recommended that the wool be warehoused in U. S. licensed wool warehouses, graded, baled, and sold direct by the associations to mills and reputable wool merchants. It was further recommended that plans be made at a future date for the establishment of one central wool-selling agency to act for all of the associations. The committee recommended that financing be done on the basis of advances made on U. S. wool warehouse receipts as collateral.

The convention was addressed on wool marketing by Senator Williams of Montana, John E. Pinecock of Idaho, and R. A. Ward, manager of the Pacific Cooperative Wool Growers, Portland, Oregon. Following Mr. Ward's remarks, Charles J. Webb, leading wool dealer and manufacturer of Philadelphia stated that the plan of the Oregon association was ideal for the wools handled and the territory involved. He stated that only by such a plan could small growers receive actual value for their wools. The National association was addressed on financial problems of the sheep man by W. A. Armstrong of the National Copper Bank of Salt Lake and J. W. Hendricks, president of the Joint Stock Land Bank of San Francisco.

Resolutions were passed recommending cooperative marketing of sheep and wool, extension of the War Finance Corporation, urging passage of the Truth-in-Fabrics bill, and a wool tariff which would afford adequate compensation for wool manufacturers as well as wool growers.

Among the guests at the Grand hotel are the following: Mrs. Wm. M. Porter, Camas Valley; Maude Porter, Camas Valley; T. B. Davis, Glide; J. A. Hurst, Oakland; Donald Snyder, Days Creek; Mae Sutton, Days Creek; J. Wilson, Corvallis; and A. W. Ream, Glide.
