Church Treasure Recovered.
 An Italian ice cream dealer in attempting to dispose of a solid silver cross for $500,000 in Glasgow disclosed the whereabouts of a thirteenth century church ornament worth $500,000 which disappeared several years ago from the Church of Borgo Colicchio, near Aquila, Italy. The evidence presented in court was to the effect that the cross was one of the most valuable antiquities of Italy, and was thought to have been smuggled out of the country by an art collector. The ice cream vendor's effort to sell it at a $500,000 figure aroused the suspicions of an antiquarian because of its greater intrinsic worth. The Italian confessed that it has been in the possession of his family for generations, that it had been lost in the earthquake at Messina and had been recovered by him from the ruins.

"Perfect 30" is No More.
 The perfect 30 bust is no more, writes a sartorial correspondent. In the days of her prime, before flappers owned their own elegance, she flourished. Now she is gone, forever. In her place is the willowy creature with a figure like a twelve-year-old boy and dresses that are suspended from sharp shoulders. The fashionable figure now is smaller than the 30, more undeveloped. The stylish girl accentuates this thin, waxy appearance.

BEAR HAS TRIPLETS
 DENVER, Colo., Feb. 1.—(United Press.)—Brien, big silver-tipped Grizzly at the city park zoo, is the proud father of triplets. Mattie, his 590-pound mate, gave birth to three cubs with a total weight of only a pound and a half. In a few days, barring bad luck, the half-pound cubs should weigh a quarter of a ton each, zoo officials say.

TRUANT OFFICER
MERE FIGUREHEAD.
 With the almost universal adoption of the school-bus begins a long period of restfulness for the county truant officer whose duty is to check up on school attendance. Rainy days, long distances, and muddy roads no longer make the district school look like a deserted village. Used now by more than 12,000 consolidated schools, the school-bus system is a simple and practical one. Every morning the bus, with driver provided by the school, drives up before each farm house where there are children of school age. The sound of the horn is the signal for the children to come rushing out of the house, and they are on their way to school. Stormy weather is now a feeble excuse for not attending. More and more, the truant officer of these consolidated schools is coming to lead the life of ease.

General use of Dodge Brothers cars and Graham Brothers trucks with Dodge Brothers power plant shows how well they are fitted for this service, says J. O. Newland, local Dodge Brothers dealer. The proportion of Dodge Brothers cars among the 12,000 schools is high, and the reason may be found by taking particular instances where they are used. In Beckham county, Oklahoma, for example, three Dodge Brothers cars take the place of six smaller cars formerly used by the country schools. To give some idea of the amount of walking the kids of that county save, the buses each travel 35 miles on their way to school every morning, and the same distance going home. In another case, that of Winnemago Community School near Rockford, Ill., 30 or more children travel to school each morning in the comfortable, roomy interior of a Graham Brothers school bus with Dodge Brothers power plant.

By reason of their reliability and economical operation, Dodge Brothers cars and Graham Brothers School buses are admirably suited to the use of country schools.

 SAN BENITO, Texas, Feb. 1.—(United Press.)—Tentative plans for establishing a large pecking plant in the Rio Grand valley are being discussed among live stock growers, as the prospective enforcement of the tick eradication law. Before cattle can be shipped to packing centers, the new "tick" law requires each animal to be dipped. To comply with the requirements of this law, establishing the dipping vats, ets would cost more than $100,000 for the first year.

TAKING TANLAC

"I Don't Hesitate To Recommend It To Anyone Suffering From Stomach Trouble And Kindred Complaints," States Well Known Seattle Woman.

"After bearing so much about Tanlac I bought a bottle thinking if it did others so much good it might help me too. Well, it has not only helped me, but I have actually gained twenty-five pounds since taking it and never felt better in my life," said Mrs. Marie J. Howard, graduate nurse of Bellevue Hospital, 402 Westlake Ave., North, Seattle, Wash.

"My appetite is good now and my stomach is in such splendid condition that everything I eat agrees with me. I used to be bothered a good deal by my kidneys and liver, but now they both seem normal in every way."

"My nerves are calm and steady and I sleep like a child every night. I have had a great deal of experience with medicine and I don't hesitate to recommend Tanlac to those who have stomach trouble and kindred complaints."

Tanlac is sold in Roseburg by W. F. Chapman's Pharmacy, and by leading druggists everywhere.

TO MAKE HEADWAY IN LIFE
 Consecrate and Concentrate, is the Advice Given by Writer in Forbes Magazine.

You want to make headway in the world, of course. See if this thought can help you: First, consecrate yourself to your calling; then concentrate. The lives of most men of notable achievement have been characterized by consecration and concentration. Before one can consecrate oneself, one must be possessed by some bigger and broader and better idea than mere money making. There must be something in the work that appeals to one. The work must appear to be worth while, worth effort and industry and sacrifice. You could not, for example, conceive of anyone consecrating himself to "bootlegging." There isn't one honest calling, however, to which a worker could not consecrate himself or herself if animated by the right spirit. Having consecrated oneself to a line of endeavor, then concentration must follow if proficiency and success are to be attained.

The worker, be he employee or employer, who hasn't consecrated himself to his calling fails to derive from it that deep satisfaction known to those who have consecrated themselves to their jobs. Concentration follows consecration naturally and with joy rather than hard effort.—Forbes Magazine.

Swiss Santa Rings Bell.
 In the quaint little town of St. Gallen, Switzerland, which has retained many of its curious medieval customs, Santa Claus makes his visits ringing a gigantic cowbell, says Popular Science Magazine.

In St. Gallen, every Christmas eve twelve men array themselves in white trousers and shirts, embroidered wool suspenders, and bright red ties. Each one fastens an enormous cowbell on to a wide leather belt, and covers his head with an enormous mask of cardboard, the upper part of which is decorated by stencilled designs.

One of the twelve is called "Samichlaus." It is his duty to give the good children presents. The other eleven remain at a little distance on the outskirts of the jolly crowd that follows them on their rounds, giving candy to the grownups and entertaining everybody with their clowning.

Cave-Dwelling Snakes.
 Until recent times no reptiles were known to have adapted themselves to existence in the darkness of caverns. Now, however, it is known that in the Malay peninsula a snake, a species of coluber, inhabits certain caverns, feeding upon the bats.

These cave-dwelling snakes attain a length of between eight and nine feet. Their coloring simulates that of the walls of the caverns. The rock is a yellowish limestone, traversed with blackish veins, and these markings and colors are curiously reproduced in the snakes, many of which lurk on the ledge in the semi-darkness near the entrances, watching for the bats.

The Game of Whist.
 All great discoveries are works of time, and the game of whist is no exception to the rule. Its merits were not recognized in early times, and under the vulgar appellation of "whisk and wadders" it long lingered in the servants' hall ere it could ascend to the drawing room.

At length some gentlemen in England who met at the Crown coffee-house in Bedford Road, studied the game, gave it rules, established its principles, and then Edward Hoyle, in 1743, blazoned it forth to all the world.

CLAIM FILED AGAINST SMITH TIMBER CO.

PORTLAND, Feb. 1.—A claim of $3,000,000 against the C. A. Smith Timber company was filed this morning by James B. Wilson, attorney for the claimant, H. W. Wheeler of Minneapolis.

The petition was filed under protest of William Denman, receiver for the timber company appointed by the court in 1919, on the grounds that the claim should have been presented before.

The amount asked for, according to the petition, is due Wheeler from commissions for selling tracts of the company's timber lands in southern Oregon and Northern California. Judge Wolverton has taken the matter under advisement.

All future activities of the organization will be segregated into departments, with a director in charge who will be expected to report back to the executive committee on results achieved.
