PORT OF UMPQUA FILES ANSWER TO APPLICATION FOR INSPECTION ORDER

Claimed That Certain Influences and Parties, Led by Attorney, Are Endeavoring to Embarrass Commission and Injure Reputation and Credit of Court.

The Port of Umpqua in its answer to the motion for an order on the part of the plaintiffs or their attorney to inspect or take copies of the records. It is alleged that A. K. Peck as attorney for the plaintiffs has had access at all reasonable times to the records and may examine the same and that the plaintiffs have provided an attorney and custodian of the records, the duty of it is to open the records to the inspection of the public at reasonable state periods and that the public in examining the records, that said application for an order against the Port is made for the purpose of publicity and politics and to reflect upon the present port commission.

It is claimed that Attorney Peck at all times been treated with the same consideration as an attorney and that the Port's attorney not only will refer to the records, but also information concerning the same in reference to all other cases asked for by the attorney. The defense further alleges that the real purpose is not for an examination of the records but is done for the purpose of publicity and to injure the reputation and credit of the Port and its commission.

Attorney Napier, representing the Port, filed an affidavit in which he swore that in May or June he voluntarily offered his assistance to Attorney Peck in examining the records and that he is securing data and that for a few minor papers the Port's attorney has not taken advantage of the offer, and that Peck referred to the records to intimidate the secretary of the commission and officials.

Mr. Napier states that upon his recommendation the commission appointed a custodian of the books with public access and that reasonable intervals were set during which the records were open for public inspection.

"There have been certain influences and certain people, led by some attorney, who have found fault with and criticized and annoyed and nagged at the said secretary of the Port commission, regardless of his courteous treatment of them," the affidavit reads. Attorney Napier states that he voluntarily offered his help

'Jazz Goes Back To Jungle'

Pastor Says Our National "Anthem" Rings Bell for "Full Steam Astern."

(By International News Service.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—"Perhaps jazz is our national anthem, and if it is, then the devil's crying argument, 'Go to Hell,' is our national hymn," declared the Rev. Percy Stickney Grant, rector of the Episcopal Church of the Ascension, in a sermon on the text: "Is Jazz Our National Anthem?"

"Jazz goes back to the African jungle," the pastor said, "and its effect is to make you clatter, want to go on all fours and what your tail around your neck. It is a savage clash and bang. It rings the bell for full steam astern."

"There is no pathos or idealism about jazz music," Dr. Grant continued. "It is for sensation. In the dance, instead of symbolism, it becomes sensuality."

"Dancing is itself a substitute for sexual contact. But when it becomes a treatment for a gratification, then the whole psychological process is turned about, and instead you have an injury. Then it becomes the pathos of the jungle."

"Dance said that whenever modes of music change mortals change. Music changed greatly a few years ago. We have had storms of all kinds—international and interracial. Jazz cannot help closing our ideas, even the subconscious."

"There is no 'jazz' as described by the pastor as 'the poor little thing' who is trying to reform a sensual husband with good books, good music and a better entertainment."

"The world of today is too much concerned with the dancing floor and the men under the floor who hold it up," said Dr. Grant. "The only remedy for this condition is the words of Christ, 'Follow Me,' are the only cure for this mad-

BELFAST, Feb. 14.—Fifteen dead and fifty wounded is the toll here of fighting between the Sinn Feiners and the Orangemen. Border skirmishing continues. With the evacuation of British troops held up temporarily, the situation is more tense than at any time since the truce.

Evening Party at Kohlhaagen Home

Miss Bertha Kohlhaagen was a charming hostess yesterday evening at her home on Military avenue to the members of the World Wide Guild of the First Baptist church. The rooms were attractively arranged and decorated to represent a quiet Japanese tea shop. Several girls, dressed as Japanese maids, assisted Miss Kohlhaagen in a program bringing before the girls a knowledge of the missionary work that is being done in the Orient. Music was a pleasing feature of the evening and a Japanese song by Gertrude and Grace Wickham was very much appreciated. Tea and wafers were served during the evening. Those present were Misses Melan Plank, Grace and Gertrude Wickham, Ruth and Louis Jennings, Beulah Jarvis, Clarie Black, Florence Falger, Elva Kohlhaagen and the hostess, Bertha Kohlhaagen.

"Call the next case," said the judge, as he motioned Mrs. Miller to be on her way.

WHEAT PRICES JUMP SKYWARD

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—Wheat prices jumped as much as six and one-half cents per bushel today at the opening of the board of trade. A sensational advance in Liverpool and other foreign markets, while the United States exchanges closed yesterday during the holiday, was the reason. The extraordinary advance is generally believed due to the realization that the world is confronted by small supplies, with little hope of relief from the United States owing to a poor crop outlook.

Demurrer Upheld In Alienation Suit

The defendant's demurrer to the complaint in the case of Preston E. Turbott vs. R. L. Giles, a suit for damages, alleging alienation of the affections of the plaintiff's wife, was sustained by an order handed down by Circuit Judge Hamilton today. Judge Hamilton held that although the complaint alleged actions during the years 1918, 1917 and 1918 leading to alienation of the affections of Mrs. Turbott, that there were no allegations tending to show that the alienation was continued after that time. The plaintiff in his complaint referred to the marriage of Mr. Giles and Mrs. Turbott in 1919, commencing the "defendants' course to win the affections of the woman from her husband, but Judge Hamilton holds that it is merely an uncorroborated conclusion. After considering the facts and hearing arguments on both sides Judge Hamilton sustained the demurrer to the complaint. Attorney R. L. Day appeared for the defendant.

Description of Woman Who Hurried From Taylor Apartment Tallies With the Person Mrs. Maclean Noticed.

(By United Press.)

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 14.—"The shot was fired in the apartment of William Taylor and immediately afterward a woman hurried from the house." A self-confessed bootlegger, under examination made this admission to District Attorney Woolwine today. He said that he was in the act of delivering liquor to Taylor's house, approaching it from the side, when a shot rang out and from behind the shrubbery he saw a woman hurry away. His description is said to tally almost exactly with that of the man Mrs. Douglas Maclean saw hurrying away from the Taylor house on the fatal night.

Still Located Near Freyer Cabin

A still, carefully hidden near the Wallace Freyer cabin, where Douglas Tapp was killed recently by C. M. Young in a drunken brawl, has been uncovered by Deputy Sheriff Rydell, according to word reaching Sheriff Starmer today. The officers were convinced that Tapp was engaged in making moonshine, and were confident that a still had been hidden near the Freyer cabin. It is very probable Sheriff Starmer states, that Freyer was also engaged with Tapp in operating the still. Convinced that the still was hidden somewhere near the cabin, the sheriff has had four men searching for it since the time Tapp was killed. The still has been discovered by Clyde Rydell, deputy sheriff at Hinton, and will be brought here at the time of the grand jury hearing next week.

MILLION DOLLARS DAILY IS SPENT UPON SOLDIERS SAYS GOVERNMENT REPORT

Half-Billion Expenditure for 1922 Aimed to Provide for All Relief—Such Is the Flat Answer of Uncle Sam to Those Charging Abuse of Veterans.

(By Webster K. Nolan, International News Service Staff Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Uncle Sam's flat answer to those who charge with failure to alleviate the physical and financial disabilities of his veteran fighters is that more than one million dollars a day, including Sunday, is being expended by the government for the ex-service men and their dependents. Supporting this answer, Uncle Sam points to the 1922 budget estimate of expenditures to be made directly for the benefit of ex-warriors, which calls for half a billion dollars.

Colonel C. R. Forbes, director of the United States Veterans' Bureau, today outlined for International News Service the expenditures his bureau contemplated for the current year. The estimate, in round figures calls for $510,000,000.

This sum will be divided, Colonel Forbes said, into seven composite branches of soldier relief work. For vocational training the sum of $167,500,000; for medical and hospital services, the sum of $54,000,000; for insurance on war risk terms, insurance, the sum of $81,700,000; for U. S. government life insurance, the sum of $5,700,000; for soldiers' compensation, the sum of $161,000,000; for retroactive government allowances on proven and extant claims, the sum of $2,000,000; and for salaries and expenses, that is administration, the sum of $31,500,000. These figures total $514,000,000 from which Colonel Forbes deducts the $5,700,000 to be paid in United States government life insurance claims, on the ground that it is a self-supporting branch of the bureau's activities.

Of the $167,500,000 allotted to vocational training, Colonel Forbes believes that not more than $3,000,000 will be used for administration expenses at the government's camps, training schools and reconstruction centers. This the major portion of that allotment will go to pay the ex-service men an average of $115 per man per month while in training.

$115 Monthly is Average.

He pointed out that $115 was an average, declaring that the payments vary between $50 and $170 per month per man. The greatest amount will be expended for men at Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, Ohio. In addition, it will pay for the former soldiers stationed at the bureau's six additional large training centers and forty-one small training centers.

The administration, or salaries and expenses, item will include salaries and expenses of the bureau's Washington office, its fourteen district offices, its 128 sub-offices and as well, the salaries of all the teachers.

Colonel Forbes declared that the bureau is handling satisfactorily 265,000 compensation claims, for which the $161,000,000 has been allotted, and 150,000 insurance claims, for which the $81,700,000 has been set aside.

50,000 Being Educated.

Doctors Should Use Publicity

Noted Health Expert Chides Medical Profession for Keeping its Cures Secret.

(By International News Service.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Publicity, if properly given, would wipe disease off the face of the earth, in the opinion of Dr. Royal S. Copeland, health commissioner of this city, in an address before the Advertising club.

Advertising should be the medium, the health commissioner declared, by which the hitherto dark secrets of the medical profession would be placed before the public to prevent plague, disease and pestilence. Dr. Copeland vigorously condemned the so-called "code of ethics" of doctors who make a secret of cures for various diseases.

"Sort of Miracle Man."

"The medical profession through the ages has chosen to make itself a secret thing," Dr. Copeland said, warning us to his subject. "The doctor has been looked upon as a sort of a miracle man. He has hidden his wisdom behind a veil of silence. An air of mystery has surrounded the profession, and we have developed a code of ethics."

"This, I believe, is the most antiquated, moss-covered and gum-laden institution in the world."

To illustrate his contentions, the health commissioner cited cancer, which, he said, is curable in the beginning of its growth. The public must be taught that, he declared. If more information were given by the medical profession about cancer the disease would never reach the cancerous stage.

Power of Advertising.

The power of advertising was vividly shown by the publicity given to Dr. Anselm Lorenz, the famous Vienna surgeon. Dr. Copeland continued. "Dr. Lorenz did not bring with him any greater ability than at least nearly surgeons in this city possess." Other doctors, Copeland stated, did not let the public know they could cure paralysis, and so the public remained in blissful ignorance of their ability. But when newspapers began to exploit the feats of Dr. Lorenz, 25,000 persons flocked to him to receive his treatment.

"There is something wrong with the system that makes it impossible for the sick or the crippled person to know he can be healed," Copeland went on. "And the fault is with the medical profession, which has been unwilling to advertise what it can do."
