Proposed Sugar Tariff Would Cost American Housewives $162,000,000

CONGRESS is now considering a permanent increase in the sugar tariff of 60 per cent above former rates. It is designed to give additional protection to the sugar growers in the United States at the expense of the American housewife.

If this new tariff is passed it will put a burden, a "sugar bowl tax," of $162,000,000 on the sugar consumers, large and small, in this country.

Only half the sugar consumed in the United States is grown here. The remainder normally is imported from Cuba, which is economically a part of the United States and whose sugar business is largely owned by Americans.

In the past the domestic producers have been protected from an influx of too much imported sugar by a tariff of one cent per pound. Those proposing the 60 per cent increase in the sugar tariff say that the domestic producers need greater protection.

Opponents of the increase in the sugar tax which the housewife would have to pay, declare that a subsidy is being sought, not protection, inasmuch as domestic producers who cannot supply all the sugar America needs have prospered under the former tariff.

Rise in Price of Hogs Aids

(International News Service.) CHICAGO, March 1.—When top hogs reached $10 per hundred pounds on the Chicago market recently an unprecedented rise of nearly $3 in a month and a half at the height of the packing season was recorded. Packers stated that at the average price paid hogs were bringing from 80 cents to $1 per bushel for the corn consumed. That establishes the widest price known in the difference of corn sold as grain and corn fed into pork.

"The record set is a signal victory for the open competitive market," said S. B. Stanford, president of the Chicago Livestock Exchange. "In spite of a determined fight on the part of the big packers to hold values down, prices have rapidly advanced through the active competitive bidding of the numerous small packing plants scattered over the country."

"Only a short time ago a Milwaukee packing house freely prophesied that hogs would sell on a parity with corn prices and cost the packers around $5. But the competition of the smaller packing houses on the open market upset that program. During December 51 per cent of the hogs received at Chicago were bought by out shippers and in January they took 39 per cent. This competition is without precedent and indicates to what extent the smaller houses have at least temporarily wrested the control of the market from the big packers."

"In an attempt to avoid this competition the big packers are buying hogs at country points and keeping them from entering the market, where they would be subject to bids from all classes of buyers. If the big packers were obliged to buy all their supplies on the open market they would lose the advantage they now enjoy."

MINISTER DECIDES TO EXPUNGE 109TH PSALM FROM BIBLE

(International News Service.) LONDON, Feb. 27.—The Rev. Darcy S. Rudd, vicar of St. John the Evangelist, Leeds, has decided to expunge the 109th psalm from the Bible of his church on the ground that it is not only un-Christian, but anti-Christian.

In making this announcement the vicar says that he has not sung the psalm himself, and he wondered how many members of the congregation appreciated the real import of the terrible words that they sang so enthusiastically.

The 109th, he said, was probably the most malevolent and bitter of the psalms, and the verses were written by some vindictive man who was longing for revenge.

The vicar read some of the passages in which David complains of his slanderous adversary and says:

"Let his children be fatherless, and his wife a widow."

"Let his children be vagabonds and beg their bread."

"Let there be no man to pity him, nor to have compassion upon his fatherless children."

"When sentence is given upon him, let him be condemned; and let his prayer be turned into sin."

They do us no good, said the vicar, for they represent human nature at its very worst.

HOMEMAKERS CONFERENCE WILL SOUND NEW SLOGAN

(O. A. C. Experiment Station.) "Better Homes for Oregon" is the new slogan around which the practical scientists and scientific practitioners of Oregon homemaking will rally for their first separate conference at the state college, Corvallis, March 29-30.

"And the slogan will be made vital," say the leaders of the movement. "The opening address of Dean A. B. Milam, 'Homemaking From a New Standpoint,' will sound the keynote."

The conference has always heretofore been held in connection with Farmers' Week, when some of the women thought they were expected to play "second fiddle" in the men's orchestra. In conformity with the development of a better standard of homes and homemaking, the method has been changed to meet the new needs.

Grain Ration for Cows.

The most economical grain ration to feed dairy cows along with common home grown roughage is composed of corn, 300 pounds, hulls run 240 pounds, and cotton seed meal 100 pounds. Corn is relatively low in price now as compared with barley or oats. Cotton seed meal can be replaced by flax seed meal or succulent or laxative feeds are lacking in the ration.

Poison the Field Mice.

Many berry growers are reporting trouble with mice that follow mole holes to the base of plants or even make tunnels of their own. Both the moles and mice can be discouraged by any system of cultivation that will tear out the ridge in the rows between plants. With black raspberries check cultivation will do this but with tree fruit a grape hoe is best. Mice can be poisoned easily by mixing 1 ounce of strychnine (alkaloid), one eighth ounce saccharine or oats. Scatter it in holes or runways.

Students Warned Stop Morals Slump

(International News Service.) DEFIANCE, Ohio, Feb. 25.—A warning against cheap fiction, youthful "love cases," and sporting was given by Dr. Edith Swift of New York City, addressing the student body of Defiance college. She declared that a girl "all dolled up isn't always exactly what she seems."

"And a fellow can delude himself up to be just as deceptive," said Dr. Swift. "This is all wrong."

"Do not consider that because two young people have gone together for a short time that a bargain is foreclosed. I advise you not to pair off during the first semester of your freshman year."

Declaring that standards of morals had slumped among students since the war, as well as among other classes of young people, Dr. Swift made a plea for a rigid code of sex standards in the colleges and universities of the country.

"Don't forget that we cannot lie in one another's arms and not yield to emotions which should be suppressed," she said.

TAKES DRINK THEN HUNTS FOR THE UNDERTAKER

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 28. (United Press.)—By the way, where did that drink of whisky you had last night come from?

Rather an indiscreet question, to be sure, but federal officials can answer it in a general way. Assuming that it is whisky—which it probably wasn't—it may have reached "Bill," your favorite bootlegger, in sundry fashions.

Perhaps it has been smuggled out of a bonded government warehouse by one means or another. Perhaps it originally came as its papa a doctor's prescription.

Then again, it may be whisky which is being made on the quiet by stills. In such case it isn't old. It's raw, but it's whisky. A number of former distillery employees, federal officials state, are now retreating to the hills, where they use their knowledge in a quiet way to make genuine whisky.

But most likely, if it is whisky, it once clung perilously to a life buoy.

The most prevalent way of smuggling liquor at present, according to officials, is for some member of Vancouver's large and prosperous "whisky fleet" (which carried so much whisky ostensibly to Esenada, Lower California) to ship the liquor at the Canadian port, and proceed down the coast of the three Pacific states. The destination depends upon where the cargo is assigned.

If it is coming to San Francisco, the Vancouver boat, keeping well beyond the three-mile limit, ties the whisky cases to buoys, and submerges them at a prearranged point.

Thereupon an apparently harmless pleasure yacht cruises out beyond the Golden Gate, hauls in the buoys, takes the cargo aboard, and comes back with living colors. Or perhaps the boat is a fisherman's tub, whose nets haul far more profitable catches in than ever in the pre-Volstead days.

For this reason federal officials are keeping a close watch on the coast line, and checking "departures" from Vancouver carefully. Unusually, they say, the whisky is contracted for beforehand, and whisked into a truck and delivered to the ultimate consumer or dispenser within a few hours.

Preachers Will Stop Outlawry

(International News Service.) CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—At a time when bandits in Chicago are being compared with the days of the "wild and woolly west," a Methodist preacher, mild in speech and quiet in demeanor, has stepped into office as "law enforcement commissioner" of the second largest city in the country.

He is the Rev. John H. Williamson. His position has no parallel in any other American municipality. His duty will be to see to it that the laws on the statute books now flagrantly violated, are obeyed.

Will Go "Limit."

Rev. Williamson's first announcement was that he expected the cooperation of the citizens of the city to this end that his regime will be successful. He will go the limit, he said, to remedy any illegal condition reported by any citizen or group of citizens, providing the evidence is produced.

He will not proceed on hearsay or gossip, he declared.

"Any person knowing of a violation of the law is expected to go to the police station, procure an affidavit blank, write out his information concerning this violation of law and away to it before a notary public."

You Understand Advertising

Suppose you shuck a couple of thousand ears of corn! You're SURE to find some red-and-purple ears among 'em!

But suppose you shuck just ONE ear. Not much chance of finding a kissing ear with but one try! Selling is just like that. The first man you talk with probably isn't interested. But advertise to, say, 5000 families and then you'll sell things quick!

The more ears of corn you shuck, the more purple ears you find.

The more people you reach with advertising, the more sales you will make.

Meetings Started

The meetings which were postponed two weeks ago are now in progress. Dr. S. J. Reid of Portland arrived last Sunday and is preaching every night this week. He does not indulge in sensationalism, nor in abuse, but preaches the word of life in a manner satisfying to the intelligent Christian of our day. The audiences are remarkably good, deep interest being shown in the messages. Fine music is contributed by a special choir under the able leadership of Dr. E. A. Spear, with Miss Strong presiding at the piano. Dr. Reid's subject tonight is "Sleeping in Church." All should hear this wide-awake sermon.

Commissioner Williamson said if citizens do not want to act individually they might organize investigation committees in their communities and in their churches and operate through those committees.

"Go out in companies of one, two, three or more and get your evidence," he said. "I will do the rest."
