World War Veteran Entertains Students At High School Today

BEN SCOVELL—Famous Shakespearean actor and cheerio to the troops in France during the World War.

Ben Scovell, director of the American Legion play, "The Four Liars," to be presented at the Antlers theatre, March 15th and 16th, appeared this afternoon before the high school student body and gave a short entertainment. The quarrel scene from Julius Caesar was given and also a Robert Service reading. Mr. Scovell is an entertainer worth while and his program delighted the students. The legionnaires were very fortunate in securing his services to coach the cast of the annual play and he is devoting a great deal of time to that work. Mr. Scovell only agreed to remain here and take charge of the play because of the fact that he, himself, is a world war veteran. He was the first entertainer to arrive in France during the war and started his work in the fall of 1915, leaving Toronto with the Canadian troops. He was wounded, gassed and shell-shocked during his several years on the firing line and still bears marks of his distinguished service overseas.

SHANGHAI, China, March 10.—Braving the dangers of the bandit-infested regions of China, traveling 800 miles into the interior by boat, third class train and sedan chair, and making the trip absolutely alone although she does not speak Chinese, Dr. V. D. Appleton, instructor in Pediatrics, University of California, on leave of absence, has returned to Shanghai, after opening the first children's health clinic in China, in Changshu, Hunan Province.

Dr. Appleton, who is on leave of absence from California, has come to China to work with the council on health education and it was in answer to a call from the Hunan women that the American woman made the dangerous and uncomfortable trip. Dr. Appleton, when found in her little office at the council on health education quarters, was full of enthusiasm regarding the Chinese women.

"The Chinese women are eager and responsive," said Dr. Appleton. "I felt that they understood every word I said, although I worked through an interpreter and by means of colored charts."

"They are eager to learn and welcome a clinic. We will strive to teach the women how to effectively combat infant mortality and the work, which will be carried on by the Hunan council on health education, will be along the lines of the Well Babies' Clinic of Berkeley, Cal."

"The council will teach the Chinese mothers by examining and weighing the babies, how to take better care of them. Every month the mothers will bring the babies to the clinic for examination and the record of their development will be kept in a book."

"Although I have worked in France America and the Labrador I have never found any women as responsive as the eager, bright-faced, intelligent women of Changshu, China."

During the War Dr. Appleton gained recognition for her heroic work among the children in France and won fame several years ago as being the first woman physician to practice in the bound Labrador. She is a graduate of Johns Hopkins University and contributed scientific articles to a number of leading scientific publications.

SUNDAY AT THE CHURCHES

First Presbyterian Church, corner Lane and Jackson streets, L. Bowering Quick, minister. Bible school at 9:45, E. E. Helliwell, Supt. Morning worship, 11. Junior sermon, "A to-paz," second in the series of Bible gems. Morning topic: "The Natural Man." Junior Endeavor, 2:30, "The Sin of Profanity," leader, Charliott Crocker. Christian Endeavor, 6:30. Topic, "A Son; the First Characteristic of a Christian." Leader, Miss Evelyn Young. Evening worship. Short cuts. We would like to have you worship with us. The newly organized Presbyterian orchestra will play several selections during the evening service. This will be a musical treat you will enjoy.

Christian Church, Corner Pine and Woodward streets, C. H. Hinton, minister. A great service is planned for Sunday evening. A unique number will be the Chinese fiddle, a one stringed instrument. Chas. Stanton and Mrs. Stanton will sing a duet, and a duet by Charles Stanton and Jeanette Gibbs. Jesse Gibbs will give a reading. This will make a great evening. The Chinese fiddle will have phonographic accompaniment. Morning subject, "The Watchman." Evening subject, "Is Religion Too Common—Too Cheap." Great bible school at 3:45, and Y. P. S. C. E. at 6:30. You are welcome.

M. E. Church, South, Main & Lane streets, Rev. J. B. Needham, pastor. The church school meets at 9:45, A. J. Rand, assistant superintendent, in charge. Bring your children and young people and come to the church school and study the Bible with them. Preaching services at 11 o'clock by the pastor. Subject: "Duties to One's Household." The family is bound together by a community of interests. Possibly submission to duty does not always involve the highest motive. But there is no moral strength or development of character that does not build upon the foundation of confessed obligation. The Epworth League meets at 6:30. At 7:30 Rev. J. H. Jills will throw on the screen a set of pictures illustrating the achievements of the century during the last three years. Don't fail to see them. It is free to everybody. The pastor will preach at Calapootia at 3 p. m.

First Methodist Church, on Main street at Lane. Rev. William Steward Gordon, pastor. The series of meetings which have been looked forward to with keen anticipation for the past two months will begin Sunday morning 11 o'clock. Mr. Thomas E. Isaacs, the popular singer, will direct the music, and furnish one or more solos at each service. Mrs. Rhoda E. Remison, his cousin, will accompany him, and also interest the children with her chalk-talks. Mr. Gordon's subject in the morning will be: "A Salvation That Satisfies." In these days of discontent and nerve strain anything that does not satisfy is too shallow. In the evening the topic will be: "A Giant in Chains." This is the tragic story of Samson, the ancient strong man after he was blinded and grinding at a mill as a slave. After giving this sermon once a visitor told Mr. Gordon he should have been an actor, but he thinks not. There will be a spirited song service beginning promptly at 7:30 each evening. If you cannot come until 8 o'clock, you will hear the sermon anyway. The Sunday school will meet at 9:45 and the Epworth League at 6:30. The visiting musicians will add much interest to both of these services.

Duets, readings, Chinese fiddle, and phonograph. Christian church Sunday night, March 12.

C. H. Gram Will Seek Reelection

SALEM, March 10.—C. H. Gram, state labor commissioner, will be a candidate for reelection. His formal declaration as candidate for the republican nomination for commissioner of labor statistics and inspector of factories and workshops, was filed with Secretary of State Kozar Wednesday.

In his platform Gram promises to "continue to work for safety in all places of employment, not only by installation of scientific safety devices, but on hazardous machinery, but to also encourage every movement that tends to educate employer and employee in accident prevention."

"Will continue, whenever an opportunity presents itself, to act as mediator for employer and employee and in a conciliatory spirit endeavor to foster friendly industrial relations between capital and labor—a condition essential to the greatest development of the state."

Gram's slogan proclaims: "My record is your guarantee for efficiency."

Bids Received on Lodge Hall

Bids were received this morning on the construction of the Knights of Pythias lodge hall which is to be built upon. Bids were submitted by Contractors F. F. Patterson and L. W. Metzger, the latter's proposal being the lowest. The committee, however, is desirous of making several changes and alterations and revision of the contracts will probably be made. The matter is now under advisement and will be discussed by the committee before any contracts are allowed.
