'Business of Peace' to Be Keynote of National Convention of Y. M. C. A.

College Girls' Auxiliary to Form First National Body at Hot Springs.

(International News Service). HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 24.—The Seventh National Biennial convention of the Young Women's Christian association, will be held at Oaklawn Park, Hot Springs, Arkansas, from April 29 to April 27. Aside from business, the purpose of the meeting is to study the place of the organization in the community today, particularly as to its responsibility to women and girls. In addition to this a series of addresses will be given on "Internationalism" in its various phases by speakers of international reputation. The convention will be formally opened on the evening of April 29. Mrs. Frederick Paist, of Philadelphia, president of the convention, who will preside pro tem., will give the opening address. Mrs. Paist was elected to the presidency of the National Association at the Cleveland convention. She has been actively interested in the Y. W. C. A. since her undergraduate days at Leland Stanford University, where she was president of the college association. On the second day of the convention A. Maude Roydon, England's famed preacher and leader of women, will give the first of a series of lectures on "The Christian Way of Life," designed to show how girls and women should live in every relation—personally, socially, family and internationally. "Facing the Present." Mrs. Robert E. Speer, of New York, president of the National Board, and Miss Mabel Cratty, the general secretary, will both talk. The former will give a resume of the work done during the past two years, while Miss Cratty's subject will be "Facing the Present," which will be a consideration of the Y. W. C. A. in our modern community life. "Internationalism," or "The Business of Peace," has been divided into three topics—between nations, between races and in our workday life. The first will be interpreted by Charlotte Niven, of London, general secretary of the World's Committee; the second by Mrs. J. O. Arthur, formerly a missionary to the Apache Indians who will have charge of this meeting. Evening service, 7:30 p. m., "Lost and Found." The orchestra will lead the song service, and will render a special selection. Sunday afternoon, the canvassing committee will visit the homes of the members of the church, for the annual Every Member Canvass.

Countess Helen Goblet d'Alviella, of Belgium; Anne Lamb, an Anglo-Indian, of Calcutta, and Judge Florence Allen, of Cleveland, the first woman judge of Common Pleas Court in the United States. The second by Bishop Robert E. Jones, of New Orleans, and Mrs. Luke G. Johnson, of Atlanta, and the third by Professor Eduard C. Lindeman, of the North Carolina College for Women. Students Cooperate. Meeting simultaneously with the general convention will be the National Student assembly. Miss Emily Gordon, of Wellesley, national chairman of the Field Council, will open the assembly. For the first time in the history of the student movement, a national president will be elected, and the future plans and policies of the students will be in their own hands. One of the afternoon sessions of the National convention will be completely turned over to the student of industrial groups. Miss Mildred Welch, of Boston University is chairman of the executive committee of the National Student assembly. Fully 1,500 delegates will attend. About 200 of these will be from the leading colleges and universities of the United States. Arkansas is making elaborate preparations to entertain visitors, the whole state joining in with Hot Springs.

Seattle on the noon train today where she will remain until her daughter's condition is improved.

Here from Detroit, Oregon— Mrs. Joe Patrick, who now resides at Detroit, Oregon, is in this city to spend a few days visiting with her daughter, Miss Pearl Patrick, and attending to business matters.

Returns to Green— Mrs. T. G. Havent, who spent the day yesterday in this city shopping and attending to business affairs, left for her home on the evening train yesterday.

Goes to Riddle— Edward Alken, a student of the Oregon Agricultural college, who has been visiting with his parents in this city, left last evening for Riddle where he will visit a few days with relatives and friends.
