WITHDRAWS NAME FOR POLITICAL JOB

(By United Press.) WASHINGTON, May 10.—Nat Goldstein of St. Louis requested Harding to withdraw from the senate his nomination as collector of internal revenue at St. Louis, Senator Spencer, of Missouri, announced to the senate today. The controversy started over Goldstein when former Governor Lowden of Illinois called the St. Louis Globe-Democrat to oppose Goldstein's appointment because of Goldstein's alleged acceptance of a $2500 retainer to be a Lowden delegate at the republican convention.

Held Meeting Last Evening

The members of the Christian Workers' Band held a very enjoyable meeting at the South Methodist church last evening. There was a very good attendance and every one entered heartily into the program for the evening. The president had prepared several special features which proved to be successful and entertaining. The business was first disposed of and then an impressive devotional service was given. Following this came the most interesting part of the program, a revised edition of the old fashioned spelling match. This proved so popular with the young people that a somewhat similar program was authorized for next week at the meeting to be held at the Baptist church.

Medical Meeting Very Interesting

Dr. A. C. Seely, Dr. R. B. Shoemaker and Dr. Charles B. Wade, who motored to Medford to attend the annual meeting of the Southern Oregon Medical Association, returned here today. They report the meeting as being exceptionally good and every number on the program was unusually interesting and instructive. Dr. Stewart and Dr. Houck, who also attended the meeting, were among the speakers during the afternoon session. Others on the program who gave especially interesting talks were Dr. R. C. Coffey of Portland, Dr. J. A. Pettit of Portland, Dr. J. Guy Strohm of Portland and Dr. Ray Matson of Portland. Dr. Seely of

RED CROSS BUSY DURING APRIL

Many Calls and Individual Work by Civilian Relief Worker.

MANY WERE GIVEN HELP

People of Community Are Asked to Send in Clothing or Supplies and to Notify Civilian Workers of Jobs That Are Open.

(By C. S. HEINLINE.) The month of April found the Red Cross continuously on the job of relieving the needy families in Douglas county. Miss Pitchford's report shows a larger number of calls and more individual work done than for several months past. The Red Cross was in Glendale, Oakland, Drain and Canyonville. Families in these districts have received clothing and food, and employment has been found for those able to work. Medical attention has been rendered in several cases. The Days-Creek country has received attention and some good work has been done in this vicinity. Bedding and clothing have been given to families having five or six little folks with scarcely sufficient clothing to cover their bodies. This was made possible through your donations in the past few months, of clothing, food, etc. In Oakland and Sutherland our social service worker has been cooperating with the ladies of these towns and several families have been materially assisted and are now able to take care of themselves. We have been cooperating with the lodges and churches where calls have been sent to each organization, and in this way we have avoided a duplication of effort and needless expenditure of money. There have been cases where it has been necessary to place people in the hospital for a short time and this good work is going on throughout the county. Two families of elderly people have been taken care of through contact with their own relatives in distant states, and the Red Cross and other organizations have rendered substantial and lasting aid to these people, and they will now be given care. There is one case of a mother and three boys in rather destitute circumstances and this family is being assisted and work found for the mother and oldest boy, and in another week, it is hoped that this family will be self-supporting and have a comfortable home to live in. One of our business men has given the boys a pair of shoes and they were very much appreciated during this cold weather. If you have any house work or any other work the mother can do, we will be glad to give you further information about the family. Eight women have been permanently placed in homes and six have been found work by the day. The chapter has been in receipt of ten letters asking as to how we are conducting our social service work, and we have been glad to furnish other counties with this information. If you have any clothing for boys and girls, let us have them for we have urgent need of them, especially baby clothes. The road work starting in various parts of the county will furnish employment to a large number of people and it is hoped that this will relieve the constant demands upon the Red Cross for assistance. Several families with the mother at the head of them and a household of little children will not be helped by the road work, and it is our place to help them until they are placed on their feet. A large number of ex-service men with credentials who have not been able to find work are still tramping the country, and all the assistance they are asking is one meal which is cheerfully furnished them by the Red Cross. The first duty of the Red Cross is toward ex-service men and their families. The social service work is vitally important and can not be neglected.

SAVED CONFERENCE FROM DISRUPTION

(By United Press.) GENOA, May 10.—Foreign Minister Schanzer today saved the Genoa conference from disruption when he prevented Russia from delivering an unsatisfactory reply to the allied memorandum. The Russian note was described as "dilatory and evasive." It was ready for delivery, Schanzer, realizing its unacceptability and possible effects, persuaded Tchitcherine to retain the note and consider certain changes before formally presenting it. It was reported here today that a baby son was born to Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Decker yesterday at their home at 645 Mill street. Both mother and son are doing nicely.

AROUND THE TOWN.

Enjoyed Meeting—The members of the Daughters of the Nile enjoyed a meeting last evening at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Crocker. About twelve members were present. After the secret meeting delicious refreshments were served both to the ladies and to their husbands.

Returns from North—C. O. Garrett, republican candidate for county commissioner, returned yesterday evening from a trip to Yoncalla, Drain, Oakland, Sutherland and other points in the northern end of the county. Mr. Garrett expressed himself as being well pleased with conditions there. He will leave next week for the lower Umpqua country to remain for several days.

Man Falls Over Bluff—Thomas Hickey, an employe at the cement quarry near this city, fell over a 35 foot bank this morning. The fall knocked him unconscious, and it was thought for a time that he was dead. Dr. Hoover of this city was called and brought him to Roseburg where he was placed in the Mercy hospital. He has regained consciousness, and although his head is severely cut and bruised, it is thought that there are no serious injuries.

MURPHY IS NOT SURPRISED AT GAIN IN WEIGHT

FLU LEFT HIM TERRIBLY RUN DOWN WITH SERIOUS STOMACH DISORDER, BUT TANLAC ENTIRELY RESTORED HIM, SAYS OREGON MAN.

"Before taking Tanlac I fell off to one hundred and thirty pounds, but now I believe I am the healthiest man that walks and I weigh one hundred and seventy-eight," said Joe Murphy, 171 13th St., Portland, Ore., in charge of the Shell Gasoline Station at 20th and Washington Streets.

"For fifteen years I have had one cold after another and finally had the flu which left me nearly badly run down and with no appetite. I was terribly nauseated, suffered from gas on the stomach and couldn't retain what little I managed to eat. "I tried many medicines, but the only one that helped me was Tanlac and it brought me right out. I am not surprised at my gain in weight because I can hardly get enough to eat my appetite is so good. You can give me Tanlac every time." Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

PROFITABLE DEAL IN FOXES

Treasury of the United States Benefited and the Value of the Breed Increased.

In the spring of 1921 the bureau of biological survey directed attention to the fact that the blue foxes on some of the Aleutian islands are deteriorating through inbreeding, and that there was a desire on the part of the natives and others to secure animals from the Pribilof islands for restocking purposes. In order to assist in building up the blue fox industry of the Aleutians, where climatic conditions appear to be favorable, the introduction of new blood from the Pribilofs was accordingly undertaken by the bureau of fisheries, and eight live blue foxes were placed aboard the coast guard cutter Bear at St. George Island September 15, 1921. One pair went to L. A. Lavigne, lessee of Unalaska Island; one pair to the Unalaska Native Brotherhood, lessees of Avatanak Island, and two pairs to N. E. Bolshaid, lessee of Kavalga and other islands. The purchasers supplied shipping cases and transportation was at their risk.

All the foxes were received at Unalaska in good order and were promptly placed on the islands under lease to the various persons concerned. The price charged for each animal was $88.12, this being the average realized for Pribilof blue fox skins at the sale at St. Louis February 21, 1921. The amount received for the eight foxes was $704.96; $5 was allowed natives of the Pribilof islands for each fox secured, and the net proceeds, amounting to $684.96, were turned into the treasury of the United States.—Fisheries Service Bulletin.

SOME MERIT IN SUGGESTION

World Would Certainly Be More Colorful if Woman Would Dress as This Article Desires.

"If some women are so anxious to dress like men why don't they imitate the masculine styles of a loverlier day and age than the present one?" asked an elderly artist the other day. He pointed out the lack of beauty of the existent garb for man and then he recalled the silken dandies of Shakespeare's day.

"And wouldn't the women of today look nice in those attires?" he asked. "The imitation shirts and the stiff collars that the women flaunt set me crazy, let alone the cuffs and tortoise shell glasses, and now I even hear they're thinking of wearing bloomers and trousers. "Well, let them revive the fashions of old when a tailor knew how to dress a man. Let them wear the silken knee-breeches and the silken coats, peaked high in the front with frilly stockings and fringed with lace cuffs. And then—ah! the accompanying white silk stockings would be rather delightful. And that would solve the short-skirt controversy."

Gets Paderewski a Gift. No one can ever realize how hard Paderewski worked for his results. Sometimes one hears of the great heroism of the pianist who practices six or seven hours a day. Time and again I have known Paderewski to keep on working until three and four in the morning, often working fourteen to sixteen hours a day. Of course, only a physical giant could have accomplished this, and indeed such was Paderewski. His endurance and strength were enormous. When I was playing with him at Erard's he insisted upon having a chair that was especially heavy.

This very physical power gave Paderewski an enormous range of tone color possibilities. Indeed, if it had not been for his enormous endurance he could never have accomplished the work which gave him a seat at the peace conference as the foremost citizen of Poland.—Harold Bauer in Etude.

HELD SECRET OF HAPPINESS

John Wesley's Nearly Ninety Years Passed With Remarkably Few Periods of Depression.

There was John Wesley, his "Journal," with its record of indefatigable labor, is one of the cheeriest books in the language. What a rare good time he had! When he was eighty-seven he could say, "I do not remember to have felt loneliness of spirits for a quarter of an hour since I was born." For more than sixty years this indefatigable pleasure-seeker had been doing as he pleased. Up every day in time to preach at five o'clock in the morning; then over the hills or through the pleasant lanes to preach again at the tiny hazy citizens were ready for breakfast; off again, on horseback, or by chaise or in a lumbering stage coach, for more preaching. . . . Now and then facing a mob, or being wet through in a thunder storm, or stopping to get information in regard to some old ruin. Between sermons he refreshed his mind with all sorts and conditions of books. On the pleasant road to Chatham he reads Tasso's "Jerusalem Delivered." On the road to Aberdeen he loses himself delightfully in the misty subtlimities of Ossian. "Oriundo Furioso" is good Saturday reading. The eager octogenarian confesses that "Astofo's shield and horn and voyage to the moon, the lance that unhorses everyone, the all-penetrating sword, and I know not how many impenetrable helmets and shields" are rather too much for his sober English imagination. Still, they afford an agreeable interlude in his missionary journeys.—Samuel McClure in "Among Friends."

RAUSCH—A man must sell, is no reason why he should give it away. Forty acres bordering on Umpqua river, mile and half to high school, store, post office. Ten acres in crop, ten acres to clear; big early garden; seventy Italian prime trees; miles of outcrops adjoining; six rooms, concrete barn, all other necessary improvements. Pull up and see. Also available: bunch turkeys, chickens and hogs; big bunch sheep on shares. Twenty-five hundred dollars gives you clear title to the whole business. A. T. Lawrence, Commercial Agent, 125 Cass Street, Phone 212.
