Women Turn City Government Back to Husbands They Defeated For Office

Petticoat Rule at Jewett, Texas, Builds Stable Municipality.

(International News Service). JEWETT, Texas, June 7.—Out at the rim of the old west, the vicinity has blazed the trail to civilization, women are triumphant.

Female office holders have proved the world that women can guide destinies of municipalities and at the same time successfully pilot the duties given unto them as wives and mothers.

Jewett's tax dodgers have paid up. She has become a myth in this little community. A city administration women, who defeated their own husbands at the polls, did the trick and did it well.

And now the women officers are going to lay aside the robes of authority. They have shown the men how to successfully conduct the administration of this city's affairs.

It is at what they believed to be a brilliant performance of duties by their husbands, five Jewett women and the political ring against their "better halves." They made a clean sweep and took over the governmental reins.

"You've seen what can be done how we did it," the women told their husbands. "We're not going to return to politics. It's up to you to step in and continue the work we have started."

And so America's very first "governed-by-women" city steps back into the category of those cities governed by men.

Jewett's city officials for the past two years have been: Mrs. J. T. Addison, mayor; Mrs. R. H. Evans, city clerk; Mrs. W. R. Dotson, Mrs. Coakley and Mrs. E. P. Harrison, commissioners.

Other Cities Followed.

Following the inception of Jewett's "all-women" government, Thayer, Kansas, and Addington, Okla., elected women to fill municipal offices. Women in those two cities, however, did not defeat their own husbands.

Before the women took office no effort had been made to collect city taxes, and they began their duties with an empty treasury. Gathering these taxes was the hardest problem they tackled, and now they are leaving office with a full treasury. The first year the women collected taxes from all but a few, and the second year every cent due to the city was collected. A few stubborn ones resisted this collection the first year, but the women were determined, employed counsel to bring suit and finally won. They learned that it was necessary to collect from all, because when it became known that a few managed to escape some of the other citizens held back. They wanted all to pay or none. So the women made it "all."

The women used the tax money to good advantage, expending it improving the town. Roads were put in better condition, unsightly buildings were removed, many trees were planted, weeds were kept cut, new sidewalks were laid, a city marshal was employed. There hasn't been an occupant in the jail here for two years.

The five women who formed the "petticoat government" for the last two years, besides having husbands to manage, have children to look after. They also were deeply interested in club and church work.

"But hasn't your work as office holders interfered with your home work?" Mrs. Addison, the mayor, was situated just across the line dividing the land of the Israelites and the Philistines.

Captain Clarence Ford of the local corps states that quite a number of "prisoners" have been taken since the opening of the crusade.

Colonel Davis will speak tonight at 8 o'clock. His address will be preceded by a song service beginning at 8 o'clock.

VISITORS AT THE AUTO CAMP GROUNDS

Short Stories of the Strangers Who Stop in Their Journey Along the Highway.

Roseburg was visited last night by a large number of Shriners on the way to the convention. The bulk of the caravan passed through the city during the afternoon and stopped at points further south as they are desirous of making as good speed as possible. Roseburg, however, was host to a great many cars from Oregon and Washington, and it is predicted that on the way back, the camp grounds will be completely filled with the cars of the Shriners.

The Roseburg camp ground is running neck and neck with the Ashland park in the accommodation of tourists. During the past few days the records show each park to have accommodated practically an equal number of cars.

C. C. Pennington, wife and son of La Grande, are traveling by slow stages and are making frequent visits along the way. They have a very complete camping outfit and are enjoying a delightful vacation. They went on to Grants Pass today.

Among other visitors last night were: J. J. Miller and wife, Louie Beach, Cal.; H. L. Laundry and wife, four, Seattle; J. M. Pearson and party of six, Santa Ana, Cal.; J. A. Winn and party of five, Long Beach, Cal.; H. Marlow and party of four, Portland; R. L. Nichols and wife, San Francisco; J. H. Busing and wife, Elma, Wash.; J. W. Boddy and party of five, Pendleton; Wm. Thomas and party of four, Vancouver, B. C.; B. D. Procter and party of three, Olney Beach; Wm. Plaxel and wife, Long Beach; E. E. Vaughn and wife, Reno, Nev.; W. M. Booth and wife, Downey, Cal.; J. R. Brown and party of three, Placencia, Cal.; L. D. Cook and wife, Kalama, Wn.; Charles Rickabough and party of four, Tacoma; A. J. Teepe and party of five, Portland; Tom Riley and party of four, Santa Rosa, Cal.; H. A. Ellsworth and party of three, of Boise, Ida.; W. W. Martin and party of four, Portland; R. P. Campbell and wife, Seattle; M. E. Johnson and party of three, Centralia.

Letters have been received from every state in the union inquiring how the "Jewett experiment" turned out, these letters coming from officials, magazines, politicians, women and newspapers.

TAXPAYERS MEETING HELD.

The regular monthly meeting of the directors of the Douglas County Taxpayers League was held this afternoon. 6,000,000th FORD WAS BUILT MAY 18th, 1922

Four Out of Five Ford Cars and Trucks Sold Since 1908 Still in Operation.

The six millionth Model "T" Ford motor was produced May 18th, in the Ford factory at Detroit. In other words, from the time back in 1908 when the Ford Motor Company began marketing the now famous Model "T" motor car until May 18th, 1922, a total of six million Ford cars and trucks have been produced. Out of this total, 5,317,555 were delivered to purchasers in the United States alone, and according to the latest statistics, 4,478,248 of these Ford cars and trucks are still in daily service.

Thus it will be seen that out of every five Ford cars and trucks sold to retail purchasers in the United States alone during the last fourteen years, four are still in actual daily use, which is really remarkable when the hard service of commercial cars is taken into consideration. This seems to forcibly confirm the popular knowledge of the longevity of Ford cars.

That Ford products have been quite evenly distributed throughout the United States is borne out by the fact that through the sparsely settled communities in the west to the densely populated cities in the east, practically the same ratio of Ford cars and trucks to population exists.

Ohio leads with a total of 290,769 Ford cars and trucks in daily use; Illinois comes second, Pennsylvania third; Texas fourth, and Michigan fifth, with a total of 234,981. New York, Iowa and California follow in the order named, each having more than 200,000.

An idea of the important part played by Ford cars and trucks in the daily transportation of goods and persons in the United States can be gained by realization of the fact that with the Ford cars now in operation, averaging a minimum of 5,000 miles per year each, they would pile up a total of twenty-five billion transportation miles—equivalent to more than a million trips around the world.

Fine Game Ball Played Last Night

It was a nice ball game that was played at Bellows field last night between the Presbyterians and the Christians. The Christians won the game by the score of 5 to 3. Busch and Yates were in the points for the Christians, and Hewett and Helliwell for the Presbyterians. Both pitchers were some wild and had a difficult time locating the plate, but neither pitcher was hit very hard. But two clean hits were registered off Busch, and four from Hewett. Two of the Christians' hits were two-baggers by Hall and Ferrell, and gave them a run in the second. Helliwell's hit, an error, and a wild heave, let Helliwell get round for the Presbyterians' first score in the second. The Presbyterians added two in the third. A base on balls to Ashworth, an error, and a wild pitch let him around. Also a base on balls to Watson, a wild heave to catch him at second went so far in the field that he came on home. But that was the last chance the Presbyterians had to score. No player of that team reached farther than second after that. The Christians added four to their number of scores in the fourth.

Fisher, opening the inning, reached first on an error. Ferrell got a life on an error, then Yates made a hit, Fisher scored and Ferrell went to third, but was caught there for an out. A passed ball let Yates to second, and on a fielder's choice on Frederickson, which got no one, Yates scored. Frederickson stole second. Orr struck out, but Helliwell let the ball get away, Orr being safe, and Frederickson scoring. Orr went on around to third a moment later and scored on Miles' hit. The next two men received bases on balls, then with the bases loaded and a chance to glorify himself, Fisher struck out, ending the inning. No more runs were made, the game ending 5 to 3.

The Baptists and Christians play Thursday evening.

The Baptists have won four games and lost one. The Christians and Presbyterians have won two each. The Christians have lost four and the Presbyterians have lost the same number.

THE UMPQUA

Fons part, in the days of creation in a tender and quizzical mood, The Great Father created the Umpqua. And smilingly called it good.

From the mist He called its blue mountains, For its floor took the bed of the sea, And spread rich its land with lavish hand. As He thought of its life to be, He gave it the heart of a woman, In its capricious, tempestuous way; The strength of the souls of red blooded men, In its swift, sure course to the bay.

Then He tossed in a handful of pebbles, As they caught the bright rays of the sun; Away swam the gay trout, and huge silver kings, And the life of the river began.

He breathed life in to the mountains Up rose the slim fir and stout oak; And the shy, wild, beautiful flowers Bloomed into life when He spoke.

And so its life grew, and the ages sped; The red men have pitched their wigwams Around their council fires, burning so red, Sang of valor of war and of home.

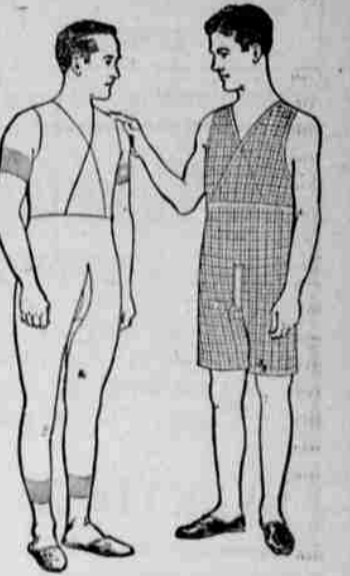

No longer the red men sing by their fires; Their voices are long hushed and stilled; The pale-faces found it the land of their hearts' desires The ground is all fenced and tilled. But the Umpqua remembers the day of its birth, And all who live in this wonderful land Are the favored of all the earth— Over it God keeps his hand.
