FLAPPER HAS NO SOUL, ARTIST ASSERTS

Leyendecker Puts Working Girl Way Ahead of 'Modern' Young Woman.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 7. (By International News Service) — "The modern girl has no heart, no soul, no sentiment—if she has she refuses to admit it," says F. X. Leyendecker, one of the best known artists and illustrators in the country. "You do not dare to talk to the flapper of classics nor of other serious things," he continued, "for she will simply make no attempt to absorb them. She is idle, frivolous and heedless of tomorrow. However, I will admit that she is charming and often irresistible. She looks so young but knows so much—much that she could do

NO ELKS TONIGHT
There will be no regular meeting of the B. P. O. Elks tonight on account of the decision of the lodge to meet once every two weeks during the summer months. The next meeting will be held on June 15, and the social dance will also be held on that evening. June 29 will be the next meeting after that.

well not to know. She assumes no responsibility. She seeks nothing but amusement. When a boy gets to a "flapper" age he usually has some obligation to fulfill. He gets a job, or else he is branded as a loafer. The girl, however, spends her time reading frothy literature and smoking. "In my opinion the only hope of the nation rests upon the working girl. She has more originality and individuality than the flapper, who looks to me as if she were made from a die. Each working girl has her particular style in clothes and coiffure. "But the flapper? How can you tell one from another? The only danger with the working girl is that she is apt to become so self-reliant that she will scorn the help of mere man. But that danger is not so probable that any flapper should be afraid to reform and become a working girl.

Getting up in the night to quiet an uneasy baby is not the joke that some comic writers represent it to be. A young husband discovered this in case of his first-born and the means he took to overcome the difficulty won him a prize in a contest in new uses for electricity.

The only means of quieting this baby, who was ailing, was to move him up and down, gently. In the lower part of the crib the father fastened the motor of a discarded electric fan. From a small pulley on the motor he ran a belt to a larger pulley on a short shaft, at the other end of which he rigged a crank. Then he extended a connecting rod to the center of the frame that supported the springs and mattress.

Lumber Orders Exceed Production

The lumber business continues to be stimulated by the steady expansion in building and industry generally. The volume of orders is heavy, mills accepting orders for a good deal more lumber than they are producing. In fact, for the first 20 weeks of 1922, orders exceeded production by 13 per cent while for the last week orders exceeded production by 26 per cent. Stocks manufacturer's hands have been materially reduced. A number manufacturer's are out of the market temporarily and are concentrating their efforts upon making shipments so that they may reenter the market as soon as possible. Production has been increased but the increase from now on will be slower, as most big mills are running and many of them are operating night as well as day shifts. Demand for hardwoods is not so keen as that for softwoods, but the total volume is increasing and that division of the lumber market is firm. Softwood prices have been advanced quite generally due to the steady pressure of heavy demand, according to the American Lumberman. For the past 20 weeks of 1922, the National Lumber Manufacturers' association reports the following vital statistics in board feet:

Production, 2,812,227,274; shipments, 3,997,573,932; orders, 4,221,274,304.

There is considerable confusion as to the result of the freight rate decreases ordered by the interstate commerce commission. The reductions are from peak rates and not from current rates. Study indicates that, as there have already been reductions in lumber freight rates the additional reductions in these rates will be very small.

ROTARY CLUB MEETING TODAY.

A well attended meeting of the Rotary Club was held today noon in the dining rooms of the Umpqua hotel. The speakers at today's luncheon were H. W. Bates, on city taxes, and Robert Gib on the prime industry. Another subject that was before the gathering was the matter of getting the members of the Rotary Club interested in the proposed highway up the North Umpqua river as far as Diamond Lake, and it is quite likely a good delegation will go from the club on the excursion into that section some time during the summer months. At the next regular meeting Dexter Rice will discuss municipal ownership of water and light systems, and W. J. Weaver will speak on "My Own Business."

HEMSTITCHING.

Band Will Play For Monday Service

Lieutenant Colonel George J. Davis, Salvation Army "crusader" spoke on the subject of "Workers" last night in his service at the local army hall, 311 Jackson, where an evangelistic crusade is in progress.

"People who are busy are always in demand," he said. "God never called a man who had nothing to do. He called Matthew from gathering taxes, James and John from mending their nets, Amos from the plow, Elisha from the farm and scores of other active Bible characters from their labors."

The colonel stated that lazy people were a discredit to their community.

Colonel Davis' address was preceded by a song service, during which several testimonies were given. At the close of the service, several persons "hit the trail."

Captain Clarence Ford announced that the coming week-end services will conclude Colonel Davis' campaign here. The wind-up will take place on Monday evening when the colonel will lecture on his experiences with the A. E. F. during the late world war. The topic of his address is "In Flanders' Fields." Captain Ford states that he has secured the services of the Douglas county concert band for the occasion.

Tonight's service starts at 8:00 o'clock.
