VISITORS AT THE AUTO CAMP GROUNDS

Short Stories of the Strangers Who Stop in Their Journey Along the Highway.

The attendance at the camp grounds last night was the best yet and the manager was kept busy until a late hour at night finding suitable camping spots for all of his guests.

E. O. Williams and wife, of San Diego, arrived last night for their fifth fishing trip in this county. For the last five years they have come to Roseburg for an outing each year and they spend two weeks or more fishing at Hoaglin, making excursions up Rock Creek or the North Umpqua. Mr. Williams says that he spends so much time in Douglas county that he has decided to locate here, and if he finds a suitable place while here on this trip, will remain permanently.

Although the camp ground is not an employment agency, yet several men have been placed in jobs as a result of their stopping there. P. Sundquist, of Portland, arrived yesterday, looking for work. Yesterday evening one of the county's prominent fruit growers was in Roseburg looking for men to work in his orchards. He had about given up hope of finding the men he needed when he went to the camp ground and there got in touch with Mr. Sundquist, who left this morning to take the job offered him. There are quite frequently parties of men looking for work, and many employers, unable to find men elsewhere, will probably take advantage of this fact.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Jennings, of Coronado, California, stopped last night on their way to Portland. They expect to spend about six weeks or two months in Portland attending to business matters.

Among other visitors were Ralón Young and friend, Corvallis; A. S. McAllister and wife, Meeteetse, Wyoming; W. Luchford and wife, Vancouver, B. C.; G. Winslow and wife, Seattle; A. L. Travis and family, Santa Maria, California; W. J. Pardue, wife and daughter, Chehalis; F. H. Walker and wife, Omaha; L. A. Snyder, Seattle; Mrs. Kendrick, two children and mother, of Seattle; S. J. Everett and family, Eugene; George Rasmussen and family, Nelson, B. C.; N. T. Koms and wife, Berkeley; H. Thomas and wife, San Francisco; C. J. Lyman and family, Berkeley; M. G. Cunningham and wife, San Diego; W. E. Woodward and family, Remona, California; Paul Norborn and wife, Los Angeles; L. S. Dalton, wife and child, Los Angeles; F. J. Cook and family, Seattle; S. F. Racine and family, Seattle; M. Harrell and wife, Canyon, Texas; A. E. Hoyt and family, Goodley, Idaho; A. C. Rose and family, Angelen, Kansas; S. G. Wood, Santa Barbara; J. C. Aitken, Medford; J. E. Warnor, and family, Spokane; J. B. Kauger and wife, San Francisco; C. F. Bowerman, Great Falls, Montana; H. C. Paur and wife, Portland; Charles Paul, Portland; A. L. Thomas and family, New York; B. F. Miano and family, and J. M. Dohl and family, Westwood, California; E. S. Young, Standing, California; K. M. Hills and Mrs. W. H. Greely and sons, Seattle; A. G. Hacker and family, Sacramento; E. T. Hawkins and wife, Seattle; J. T. Watson and family, Greenville, S. C.; Glen F. Cutcomb, and wife, Cody, Nebraska; L. J. Bergman and friend, Minneapolis.

Making an Asset of Difficulties

A great opportunity is now before American business—the opportunity of making a big and permanent asset out of the very difficulties of the present situation. The conviction that this can be done is extremely heartening. It is enough to put a new thrill of life and activity into every form of industry.

From one point of view the present situation is by far the most desirable, the soundest, the sanest, and the most hopeful this country has ever seen. Why? Because it brings into bold relief, through sheer necessity, the latent power to create conditions as we would like to have them.

The curtailment of Demand for the products of industry brought us face to face with the question, hitherto ignored, as to what causes demand. Then it was discovered that Demand was a created thing, and that more of it could be created in almost any direction—if enough of the right effort were applied. Chief among the means of creating Demand is now seen to be Advertising. Wherever you find a big demand for any product you find, invariably, that the demand for that product has been stimulated by human effort, and chiefly through advertising.

It is obvious to any one who will think it through that the present demand for any product could be substantially lessened if it were possible to eliminate all forms of advertising—including pictures, displays, and word-of-mouth, as well as printed and painted messages—and just let that product depend on the natural or unstimulated demand.

And it is equally obvious that a demand for any worthy product can be created and stimulated by means of Advertising.

This fact puts within the hands of the business man the means of creating his own market. That would be the biggest asset he could have—an assured market for all he could produce.
