(By Associated Press.)
DETROIT, June 26.—Early returns of the strike vote taken by the union maintenance of way employees and railway shop laborers show the recent wage cut order by the United States railroad labor board, indicate an "overwhelming majority" in favor of a walkout. Tabulation of the ballots started Monday morning and it was said about 1,000 had been checked. It was reported the vote was considered "fairly representative."

No Figures Given Out.
Exact figures were withheld until instructions from E. F. Grable, president, now in Chicago conferring with the leaders of other crafts whose membership has been hit by wage cuts and who, it was said, would consider taking some action in protest.

Some of the memberships, according to officials, favor striking irrespective of the action taken by other unions, but the greater percentage, it is emphasized, favors a strike only if the other workers participate.

The door to one of the bedrooms was open, but as no one was sleeping in the room it was not entered. The thief was apparently looking for money only as no silverware, jewelry or other articles were taken.

POVERTY BLAMED FOR CRIME WAVE

SAN FRANCISCO, June 27.—(U. P.)—Crime depends largely on environment and poverty, according to William A. Pinkerton, head of the International known service.

Pinkerton explains that he does not mean that a man will commit a crime just because he is poor, but that it is the environment for children which is to blame.

"The child hasn't the moral sense of the grown person," declares Pinkerton. "Consequently, when poverty puts many things out of the reach of a youngster, he lacks the restraining influence within him—and you have the making of a criminal. Much depends on the home training and environment. A good child can be brought up in any place or under any conditions, provided his parents exercise parental love and care.

"Poor boys are easily influenced. Two or three really bad boys will corrupt a whole neighborhood. But that tendency can be educated out of most boys."

MISS INGRAM GIVES PLEASING RECITAL

Contralto From Famous Opera Companies Appears At Chautauqua.

GIVEN GOOD SUPPORT

Stearns-Helleken Trio Are Fitting Assisting Artists Ranking Up With the Best of Music Organizations.

Wednesday at Chautauqua
Morning—10 a. m. Junior Chautauqua.
Afternoon—2:30 p. m. Popular Concert—Oceanic Quintet, with a record of continuous success on three continents under five flags.
Evening—8 p. m. Prelude—Oceanic Quintet, 8:30 p. m.—Lecture, "Human Nature and Politics,"—Opie Reed. An hour with America's kindest philosopher.

Miss Frances Ingram, one of America's most famous contraltos, was the feature attraction at the Chautauqua last night. Miss Ingram is a wonderful singer and the deafening outburst of applause which greeted each number was sufficient to show that the large audience, which completely filled the Chautauqua tent, even taking the standing room, was enthralled by the charm of the artist.

Miss Ingram has sung all of the leading contralto roles in the modern operas and classics. She has appeared in Metropolitan Grand Opera and the Chicago Operatic association, where she has appeared on the stage with the greatest singers of the world.

Her voice is rich and full, and her rounded tones carry extremely well. Her interpretation of difficult selections left nothing to be desired, and in all, it was a recital which will long be remembered by the music lovers of Roseburg.

Miss Ingram was ably supported by the Stearns-Helleken trio, an organization of musicians which greatly pleased the Chautauqua audience, both in the afternoon and evening. The individual numbers and the ensemble were delightful, the young women playing brilliantly alone and with a very pleasing effect together. In the afternoon their program was followed by a health lecture by Edna Eugenia Lowe, who gave the members of the audience a number of health rules to enable them to "keep fit." She also spoke on the many things which undermine and destroy health, and told how this might be prevented.

This afternoon a musical program was given by the Patton Brothers, a trio of musicians and versatile entertainers, who will appear again this evening, followed by a lecture by Norman Allan Imlrie, Captain Imlrie, served with the Canadian and American troops during the late war, and is now professor of modern history in one of the world's greatest military academies. His lecture on "Working Together for Billions," is expected to be a wonderful treat.

Fire Damages Davis Rooming House

Fire evidently originating from an ember from the chimney this morning damaged the roof of the Davis Rooming House on Kane street just in the rear of the Underlaking Parlors. The fire was discovered by Fire Chief James Fletcher from the window of the fire hall and the truck was rushed to the scene before the occupants of the building knew that the place was on fire. One line of hose on the outside and the chemical in the attic soon extinguished the blaze with but little difficulty. The fire was discovered before it had obtained a good start and consequently was easily put out, but if it had burned a few minutes more before being discovered the fire would have been a very hard one to get under control as the building is old and dry.
