SPECULATION IN FOODS.

Many people feel that speculation in foodstuffs is a great public abuse. Its effect on food prices should be carefully studied. If prices to the consumer advance to an unreasonable height, the producer is not likely to get the full benefit.

SPREADING MISINFORMATION.

It is amazing how much misinformation is spread around by a type of orators and so called thinkers who are trying to create class warfare. They sling around their alleged facts, and many people can not say positively whether the things they report are correct or not.

GOOD EVENING FOLKS—

Men folks are only boys grown up. They like a shotgun and a pup, and dote on baseball games; they always hanker after cake, the kind that mother used to make, with pie they stuff their frames. They never get too old, 'tis said, to relish sugar on their bread and jelly hits the place; the gizzard from a country fry, most always takes a fellow's eye and strikes the empty space.

Opie Read, a former pencil pusher for various newspapers, was the chairman of the lecture last night. Opie looks like a veteran reporter and he told us, confidentially yesterday afternoon that he "has the dope" on human nature.

The bloodthirsty citizens of Herrin, Ill., held a celebration near the hospital where the mine massacre victims were suffering and heaped insult upon injury which makes ye ed, think that this old battered world is sinking back into the mire and wallow of the dark ages when man, with a knotted club, ruled with might and slew those who did not happen to agree with his desires and whims.

There's a flapper waiting around the corner for your husband. Learn to turn the corner first.

A kiss flavored with cold cream is like an egg without salt.

In these days of hay fever and ice bills a fellow hardly knows which way to turn.

The south is hothovered with the boll weevils but we'll bet they don't have to contend with the stink bug.

The drinking fountain on the corner of Cass and Jackson streets is spouting forth a refreshing brand of Umpqua aqua pura.

A lot of birds have found out that they can celebrate a holiday without the assistance of likker and feel much better for it the day after.

Three July 4th celebrations will be staged in old Douglas county, which ought to mean a good business for the local brewers.

Guy Corden says he got a gray hair from fright the other evening at a lecture and explains:

"It is an established fact," said the lecturer, "that the sun is gradually but surely losing its heat, and in the course of 70,000,000 years it will be exhausted; consequently this world of ours will be dead and, like the moon, unable to support any form of life."

He rose excitedly and asked, "Pardon me, Professor! How many years did you say it would be before this calamity overtakes us?" Seventy millions, sir," said the professor. "Thank heaven!" gasped he, sinking back exhausted into his seat. "I thought you said seven millions."

Our idea of necessary work is farm work.

ODE TO FOOLS. They use the gun that isn't loaded. They play with power wires. They rock the boat while standing. They haunt thin ice and fires. They jump from roofs and windows. Play football, cane rush, haze. They seem to die, yet multiply in suicidal ways.

You meet them on the thoroughfare. For they in autos ride. When shopping their names is legion. And then some more beside. That the fools are not dead yet Nor will they ever die is owed to the fact that none would live. Save only you and I.

A negro charged with stealing a watch had been arraigned before the court. The judge was not convinced that he was guilty and said: "You are acquitted, Sam."

"Acquitted," repeated Sam doubtfully. "What do you mean, judge?" "That's the sentence; you are acquitted."

Still looking somewhat confused.

Sam said: "Judge, does dat mean I have to give the watch back?"

Everybody should learn to swim. It is not a hard thing to learn and it often comes mighty handy. If you have a boy see to it that he gets a chance to handle himself in the water.

During a divorce trial a lawyer asked the fair plaintiff: "If you did not love him, why did you marry him?" She answered: "You see, when he proposed he looked so cheap I could not refuse the bargain."

INDEPENDENCE DAY WAR CRY IS PUBLISHED

The Salvation Army in America publishes a very special number of their weekly gazette on the above named subject.

The name of "Independence" is very dear to every true American, to every Christian and to every true Salvationist. Independence, in the Christian sense of the word, really means dependence upon God, the secession of that existence which cries "I do not need God," and a life lived that asks daily aid and strength from Him who "knoweth our frame" and who gives his care even to the sparrow.

The Salvation Army's publication, The War Cry, under date of July 1 contains a splendid collection of stories and data relative to Independence and Independence day.

Articles of special mention are as follows: "Independence Day Number One," by Sarah J. Phiehard; "Historic Years," L. L. Commissioner Adam Gifford; "Young People," Attention! Colonel Barker; "Freedom, National, Church, Individual, and Spiritual," Colonel Turner; "The Portals of the Past," Commissioner Booth-Tucker; "Independence Day," Editorial; "First Reading of the Declaration," (Thus ever to tyrants) or Human Rights' Emancipation, Fred Marlette; "Song Page," page seven; "The Flags Glorious," Commander Evangeline Booth; The Army Statistics, national and international; "The Minute Men," Major A. Alison Coe, (Overseas S. A. war veteran); "The Greater Liberty," Lt. Colonel Davis; "Independence," Lt. Colonel J. Sharp; "Four Hundred Million," Commissioner Francis Pearce, (Peking, China); "But She Was a Loper," Mrs. Major Thompson, of Celebes; "Human Driftwood," a true story; "The Old Bell."

This special issue of the War Cry may be obtained from Captain Ford or any Salvation Army Representative.

This is splendid reading matter to take and read while you rest 'neath the shade of a friendly tree, when you go out of the city for your rest on the "Fourth of July."

ROAD GAME BLOCKED BY INSURGENT GROUP

PORTLAND, Ore., June 28.—Road work in about ten counties of Oregon is being held up and other counties inconvenienced because of Polk county, or rather a small group of obstructionists in the town of Independence. This statement was made direct to the Polk county court today by members of the state highway commission.

The road obstructionists in Polk county, not content with blocking the completion of the west side highway through the courts have "kummed up the road game" in many other counties through attack on the agreement of the Polk county court to contribute market road funds on the unfinished state highway in that county. Market road money was about all the court had and the obstructionists went to court and a decision was obtained from Circuit Judge Kelly to the effect that market road funds cannot be placed on state highways. Nearly a dozen counties have been so placing market road funds and, in view of Judge Kelly's decision, this road work must stop.

As soon as possible, the commission will try to get a decision from the supreme court. The development has brought down a shower of criticism against Polk county as a whole, although members of the county court, with some heat, denied today that they were responsible and declared the whole affair was the work of a few individuals.

Crater Lake Lodge Opened

MEDFORD, June 28.—The Crater Lake season for 1922 is on. Superintendent Sparrow of Crater National park gave out word officially this morning that the road through the park has all been cleared of snow and autos can now be driven all the way to the lodge.

The news was also given out that the lodge is already prepared to care for all visitors. The Crater Lake stages begin to run from Medford to Crater Lake on daily schedule Saturday forenoon. It is expected that there will be a great crowd at the lake over the Fourth of July.

The influx of visitors in private autos is expected to start Friday morning from this city to the lake and in this connection Kenneth Hodgman, district highway engineer, gives warning that all cars enroute to the lake must make a detour from the main Crater Lake highway because of the new road work that is being done between this city and Eagle Point.

Cars should go north on the highway one and a quarter miles from the city to the Biddle road, and follow the detour signs on that road four miles, which will take them back onto the main Crater Lake highway. This detour is in fairly good condition.

A Child's First Teeth

should not be neglected. They form the supporting structure upon which the dental arch is built and should be kept in the mouth until they are forced out by the permanent teeth.

The science of dentistry has so improved during the last century that if a dentist was consulted soon enough in childhood a person's teeth could be protected and kept whole during the course of their life. If tooth structure is completely broken down it can be restored to its former efficiency.

Massachusetts Girl Becomes Famous as Designer of Radio

Miss Eunice L. Randall.

By WILLIAM G. H. FINCH, International News Service Radio Editor.

NEW YORK, June 29.—During the war women demonstrated their ability in all lines of work, and, of course, they have not been slow in taking up radio in the same zealous spirit. One of their sex, Miss Eunice L. Randall, who sends thousands of youngsters to the "Land of Nod" every Tuesday and Thursday night, is an example of this. She broadcasts bedtime stories from Medford Hillside, Mass., to family circles thousands of miles away.

Miss Randall enjoys the reputation of being one of the pioneer figures in the development of radio broadcasting. Daytime she is employed as a radio designer by a large radio corporation at Medford Hillside and as far as known is the only woman radio designer in the industry today. Letters received by the corporation indicate that Miss Randall's stories are listened to by the young and old alike. Not only does she regularly give the bedtime stories, but on occasion of emergency she has even operated the broadcasting station.

Miss Randall is an accomplished member of the American Radio Relay league and recently has installed a radio transmitting and receiving station at her home at Medford Hillside, Mass. Her set would compare with the station of any amateur in the country. Her antenna system is of the variable type. The steel mast is 140 feet in height. The operating room is only half a mile from the aerial system.

On being questioned as to how she happened to enter the radio field she stated that during the war she was in the male force enlisted, and the operation was left without a woman. Miss Randall being a graduate of an art course, it simplified matters for her entry into radio designing. One of the officials declares Miss Randall's work is as good and neater than that done by their male employes previously.
