Flapper Comes West to Lead Kansas Jayhawkers to Liberty

Restoration of Light Wines Beer and Jazz Favored by Miss Pettigrew

By Jack Casberry, International News Service Special Correspondent. KANSAS CITY, Kan., July 3.—Shades of Carrie Nation!

Kansas—Western paradise of the prohibitionists; home of the anti-cigarette law; bugbear of the shimmy-shaking shoulder—is to hear the gospel of "light wines, beer, jazz, smokes for women" preached from the political stump.

For out of the west has come a flapper to lead the Jayhawkers to "liberty." At least such is the claim of Helen Pettigrew, hobbled, blond and twenty-three, Republican candidate for the party nomination of governor.

Miss Pettigrew, who lives in Kansas City, Kan., has filed for the nomination with the secretary of state at Topeka.

Here is a platform without precedent in the arid spaces of the state over which another woman—Carrie Nation—romped with an upraised.

Miss Pettigrew outlined her platform in her petition for a place on the ticket.

"Give the people what they want!" Such, she says, is her one and only campaign slogan.

Favors Light Wines. She favors restoration of beer and light wine. She vows death to all blue laws—and Kansas has more than its share. She champions jazz, the shimmy and the abbreviated skirt. She cries out against more war.

Miss Pettigrew is but one of fourteen Republican candidates for the nomination.

The great number to appear on the ticket at the primary August 5 gives her new hope of being victorious.

"My platform is simple," the flapper candidate says in explaining the things she advocates.

"I sum it all up in saying, 'Give the people what they want!'"

"Kansas is a wonderful state, but a lot of blue-law reformers—men and women whose faces would crack if they smiled—have made life a burden for its people.

"What a man or a woman wears, eats, reads or drinks is a matter of personal liberty. And personal liberty is the very cornerstone upon which our American institutions are founded," Miss Pettigrew says.

"I'm In To Win."

"I am in this campaign to win. With my sister, Alice Pettigrew, as my manager, I intend to go into every town and hamlet, every city and every crossroad in the state between now and primary day seeking to lead Kansas out of the darkness of narrow-mindedness.

"I do not advocate a return of the old saloon system. I do stand for the sale of beer and light wine. I live in a community where there are many foreigners—the packing house workers of Kansas City, Kan. I know what prohibition has done to them—killed scores, jailed hundreds and made thousands discontented.

"They call Kansas dry. I have been into the very heart of the state—it is flooded with liquor. Death-dealing home-made liquor is on sale everywhere. Kansas is not a particle different from any other state, even though the blue-lawyers would like to make it appear so.

Alice and Helen Pettigrew

"It is absurd and inhuman to prohibit the sale of light wines and beer—just as much as to prohibit the sale of cough syrup and pills.

"Let Women Smoke."

"Personally I do not smoke, for I believe smoking is bad for a girl's voice—she is not physically able to withstand it. But if women desire to smoke, what right have others to take this right from them. Let women smoke.

"Much has been said of my views of women's dress. I believe the dress of the modern flapper the most sensible ever designed. It is neat, comfortable and is fitted to meet modern conditions for the girl who works."

Miss Pettigrew is a working girl herself.

Previous to her entrance into the Kansas governorship race she was employed in an executive position in a Kansas City, Mo., department store.

"But matters of women's dress are outside of the field of politics," she says.

"What I really want to accomplish is to do away with war and, secondarily, to keep alive the spirit of personal liberty.

"It is these two planks that I have submitted my candidacy to the voters of Kansas."

process somewhat and then paying special care to thinning-out the wormy fruit.

Farmers sending in grass seed samples for test at this time will be ready for early sowing this fall and will know how much to use.—O. A. C. Experiment Station.

Walnut Blight Less Severe. Walnut and filbert blight are less severe than last season, due to the late spring and warm dry weather. Both blights are bacterial diseases. No remedy has yet been found for walnut-blight. The disease attacks the young filbert trees, affecting the new shoots and suckers. The suckers should be removed as soon as the blight appears. This appears to be a year unfavorable to the development of apple scab.—O. A. C. Experiment Station.

MAY BE PEAKS OF ATLANTIS

Azores, Madeira, Canary and Cape Verde Islands Possibly Mountain Tops of Vanished Continent.

There is a theory that the Azores and Icos of America, who had developed a civilization on this continent many centuries before Columbus came, were descended from the Atlantians, the people who inhabited a continent which set out in the Atlantic ocean, between Europe and Africa and the American coast.

History seems to reach back to Asia and Africa about 5000 years before Christ and in the earliest historic times there was a tradition of a land far west of Africa having high mountains, valleys, plains and splendid cities. That land might have existed 10,000 or 20,000 years ago. It is thought possible that the Azores, Madeira, Canary and Cape Verde islands were some of the highlands and mountain tops of the old and vanished continent, the name of which has come to us from the early Greeks as "Atlantis."

Oceanographers, sounding and surveying the bottom of the Atlantic ocean, find deep valleys, mountain ranges, towering peaks and wide stretches of table land deep beneath the surface of the sea. There was a tradition in Asia and Africa at the time recorded history begins that the Atlantians were about to invade Africa and Asia, when their land was submerged. It might have been a vast disaster due to volcanic action. The bottom of the sea in that part of the world and the islands that rise out of it are volcanic and there are still active volcanoes in the sea and in the Azores, Canary and Cape Verde islands, which are supposed to be fragments of Atlantis.—Milwaukee Journal.

CHAUTAQUA IS COMING NEXT YEAR

Sufficient Guarantors Secured to Insure Good Program for Next Season

CLOSING CONCERT GOOD

Gilvan Opera Company Giving Selections from Light Opera Prove to Be One of Most Pleasing Numbers on Fine Program.

Roseburg's chautauqua closed Saturday night with a fine program by the Gilvan Opera company. This exceptionally fine entertainment and the audience was well pleased with the many selections given. All musical numbers were taken from the light operas and were well interpreted. The closing concert proved to be one of the best features of the chautauqua and everyone appeared to be well satisfied.

With the exception of one or two weak numbers, the program this year was highly satisfactory and those supporting the chautauqua were well pleased.

There was no difficulty in securing sufficient guarantors to bring the chautauqua back next year.

Although the full number of tickets was not subscribed there was sufficient enthusiasm shown to insure a good sale, and seventy-one guarantors were procured without effort. This year there was no long, tedious drive for tickets and the audience was not bored by this long drawn-out process as in former years. Mrs. Bryce-Smith, as a director, won the hearts of the Roseburg people and they were greatly pleased by the efficient manner in which she handled the various programs.

There is much sentiment here against reserve seats in the chautauqua tent and it is very probable that the guarantors will ask that there be no reserve seats next year. People holding season reserve seats tickets, it is claimed, struggle in long after the program commences and cause confusion and disturbance.

Reserve seats in such a democratic organization as the chautauqua are held to be out of place and it will probably be requested that only the ordinary seats be used next year.

MEN WANTED

For service as railroad machinists, boilermakers, blacksmiths, electricians, sheet metal workers, pipe fitters, coppersmiths, tanners, car inspectors, car repairers, helpers—all classes under strike conditions best explained by Chairman Ben W. Hooper of the United States Railroad Board, in his statement of July 1st reading as follows: "In the past a man who took up the work of another who was on strike against wages and working conditions, was termed a 'scab' or a strikebreaker—terms to which much approbrium was attached. In the present situation, created by the strike of shopcraft workers, men who assume the work of the strikers cannot justly be reproached with such epithets. This is not a customary strike in which the employer tries to impose upon the employe unjust wages and unreasonable working rules. "In this case the conflict is not between the employer and the oppressed employe. The people of this country, through an act of congress, signed by President Wilson, established a tribunal to decide such disputes over wages and working conditions which are submitted to it in a proper manner. It is the decision of this tribunal against which the shop crafts are striking. Regardless of any question of the right of the men to strike the men who take the strikers places are merely accepting the wages and working conditions prescribed by a government tribunal and are performing a public service. They are not accepting the wages and working conditions which an employer is trying to impose. For this reason, public sentiment and full government power will protect the men who remain in their position and new men who may come in." Adequate provisions have been made for the full protection of all new employes, the same as old employes who have remained loyally at work.

Applicants should apply to the office of the superintendent at Portland (Union Station), or to the assistant superintendent at Roseburg.
