THE INCENTIVE TO SAVING.

Some people save money easily and have a love of thrift for its own sake. But the majority of folks seem to need some definite thing to save for. When the banks began to promote Christmas Clubs, Vacation Clubs, Etc., they found that a multitude of people who would not save money simply from the general purpose of thrift, would do so if you offered them some definite and attractive object to work for.

The close of school and college has brought many young people for the first time up against the problem of making good in a business or mechanical position. Their first efforts are mighty novel and interesting and also somewhat anxious.

Many people who at this time are beginning work for the first time realize that there are wide gaps in their education. When the stenographer has letters handed back with misspelled words, when the store clerk makes errors in his arithmetic that seem careless or ignorant, they lament some idle days spent in school.

Divorcees to the number of 6,900 before a single judge in Chicago may not be alarming to very many people, but the strain attendant on the strenuous work caused the judge to collapse.

Solemn warning was issued yesterday by Commander Lane Goodell at the state meeting of the American Legion now in session at The Dalles against allowing religious differences to enter into the affairs of the Legion.

"Liquor prices in Canada to decline," is a headline to a current news item. This will be intensely interesting to a lot of people on this side of the line who look to the king's domain for satisfying supplies of thirst reducing beverages.

Heading in Corvallis Gazette-Times of Tuesday reads: "Corvallis Couple is Looking for Son." Nothing unusual about this except the fact that they are very often compelled to accept a daughter.—Benton County Courier.

We are drawing near the real vacation month of the year—August. But July was not so slow for August weather.

The tourists' trade is a mighty fine asset—but don't forget that Douglas county was made by the farming element.

A mother isn't often found who can understand what her son sees in any girl he is about to marry.

Fate is a sack filled with stones and if you kick at it you are the only one that's hurt.

It is time to go into "high" in the way of improving the lateral roads.

Fine coast weather we enjoyed in Roseburg today.

Prune Pickin's

By BERT G. BATES.

GOOD EVENING FOLKS—

Well, well, well, Waddaya think about it— And we wouldn't believe it at first, but it's true— Von Casey has finally Tossed his straw derby into Prune Pickin's Beautiful Man Contest. And promises to reduce His waistline and Grab a few votes.

Another nickle cigar has dropped from 8 to 6 cents.

Many a man is credited with having a cool head when all he has is cold feet.

NATURAL.

"Why," asked the sweet girl, "do all the novels say that a man pines for a woman?" "Because," said the cynic, "pine is about the softest wood there is."

AND WALKS SOFT.

It was visiting day at the jail, and the uplifters were on deck.

"My good man," said one kindly woman, "I hope that since you have come here you have had time for meditation and have decided to correct your faults."

"I have that, mum," replied the prisoner in heartfelt tones. "Believe me, the next job I pull this baby wears gloves."

One look at the bathing suits and you know why the waves are wild.

Another man who speaks softly and carries a big stick is friend husband, employed by the missus to beat rugs.

THE TIME TO SAY IT WITH FLOWERS

All flowers have been reduced 100 per cent from former high prices.—Ad of Bloomingdale Bros., New York.

Don't forget to take your bath to-night

We see now they are advertising radio shortcakes, and suppose it is made of currents.

NEUTRALITY.

It was during the impaneling of a jury. The following colloquy occurred: "You are a property holder?" "Yes, your honor."

"Married or single?" "I have been married for five years, your honor."

"Have you formed or expressed any opinion?" "Not for five years, your honor."

God gave man two ears, two eyes and one mouth—to listen and see twice as much as he speaks.

When you get to the end of the rope, don't forget to tie a knot and hang on.

Two microbes sat on a pantry shelf And watched with expression pained The milkman's stunts and both said at once: "Our relations are getting strained."

Cleveland has a woman judge in the criminal court. And she is making good.

If these new silver dollars won't stack up, keep them rolling.

Lady (in smoking car by mistake)— "Pipe smoking makes me sick." Traveling Man—"Why don't you cut it out?"

LAPE PERKINS SEZ: "Balheaded men get a good kick out of modern hair tonics."

TRESSPASS NOTICE.

All parties found hunting or otherwise trespassing on my place or any of my pasture including the mill site pasture East of Sutherland and pasture west of Sutherland will be prosecuted to full extent of the law. B. O. GOFF.

Evans to Quit Oregon Growers

Announcement has been made that M. O. Evans, field manager of the Oregon Growers' Cooperative association has blessed his resignation to take effect August 1st. The reason being, it was stated, that the board of directors have authorized the elimination of this as a separate unit, to be combined with other departments in an effort to reduce expenses.

STATE PRESS COMMENT

NEWS AND THE MAN.

A New York man named McCullough who was wrongfully accused of taking part in a crime has asked the New York Times to help him recover his good name through its columns. This the Times is doing gladly, devoting prominent space to his story. It is a sort of service which every reputable paper is more than ready to give, but for which the papers too often receive little credit.

McCullough is a taxicab driver. He drove some bank robbers to the scene of their crime. Although entirely innocent of any knowledge of their plans he was accused and held for a short time, then cleared and discharged. Unfortunately less prominence was given by the papers to his cooperation than to his arrest. Finding his neighbors persistently prone to "gossip and scorn," the victim of publicity turned to publicity for help, so that his growing son "may have no reflections cast upon him when he grows up." Thanks to the Times, he now has visible proof to silence slander.

Of course his troubles arose because when he ceased to figure as a willful participant in crime he ceased to be news. It was a little hard on him, and the name unfairly taken away should be restored. Yet it is a comforting indication of the state of the nation in general when good citizenship is so usual as to call for no comment from periodicals whose service is to print the unusual.—Albany Democrat.

INCOME TAX.

The Income Tax Amendment initiated by the State Taxpayers' League of Oregon is designed for the sole purpose of relieving the present onerous tax on real estate.

It would accomplish this and equalize the burden of taxation without increasing taxes a single cent. Our general property taxes have risen to such a point that many owners of property are obliged to dispose of their holdings. This measure will relieve the property owner and to just the extent it furnishes such relief the tax will be levied against incomes and taken off real estate.

A man's income is an exact measure of his ability to pay. Many citizens who now have substantial incomes do not pay taxes. The property owner pays all.

With this measure in effect as supplemental to and not superseding the general property tax, every citizen will be taxed in accordance with his financial worth.—Oregon Voter.

POLITICAL DOPE.

Former State Senator I. N. Day, popularly supposed to be the head of the paying combine in Oregon, and Governor Olcott's political manager in Multnomah county, refuses to continue the tax commission meetings.

The reason assigned is that Walter M. Pierce, candidate for governor, is a member of the commission, and therefore should not be allowed to appear in public in any official capacity for fear it might influence votes his way. Mr. Day may be sincere in his position, but we notice that he filed no protest against Ben Olcott, candidate for governor to succeed himself as the legate of Governor Withycombe, deceased, when he traveled over the state with the highway commission and took a prominent place in public receptions and other functions.—Eugene Guard.

THEIR CORVALLIS MEETING

The increasing importance of the Oregon State Press association is one of the notable things in Oregon.

The Corvallis meeting is universally described by the members as the most notable in the history of the state. The attendance was the largest, the purpose for the further development of journalism was the most marked. The facilities and entertainment provided by the Corvallis and Newport people have never been equaled. The impressions carried away and the determination by those in attendance to more and more strive for the advancement and development of the state were never so pronounced.—Oregon Journal.

OLCOTT COUNTERS SUIT.

Olcott is evidently admitting that the charges made by Hall of irregularities in the recent republican primary are correct for he is coming back in answer to the charge with an exact duplicate of those made by Hall, simply changing the word Hall to Olcott.

We don't give a hang about the settlement of this republican sub-sewer deposit. The more they stir it, the worse it stinks and both men, men who believe they are big enough to be governor of Oregon, are out with their paddles striving to beat the band. They have covered the entire republican party with a stench that is driving old line republicans away from the party like rats leaving a burning ship. Either way the argument is decided the result will be the same for Walter M. Pierce will be the next governor of Oregon as sure as the Lord made little apples.

The circuit court of Marion county has made the decision we predicted the supreme court will make. Of course it is barely possible that the supreme court will mark time until there will be no opportunity for it to make a decision. It will side-step if possible. We predicted the court would hold that a voter has a right to change his politics on election day. And that is just what the Marion county court did.

Now the court knew that it was not giving out the intent of the law—knew when it rendered the decision—but it was able to make two ten strikes at once. It was able to protect and defend its friend, the governor, and it was able to poke a bunch of knuckles into the eye of the direct primary.

If it is true that a voter may change his politics on election day in a primary election, there can be no party government nor party choice. The democrats could control the republican nominations and the republicans could return the compliment on the democrats and the two poorest men could and, if the scheme was worked, would, be nominated for office.—Benton County Courier.

Will Study Land Values in Valley

In his final interview with the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce here just before his departure yesterday, Mr. Farmer, of the Brotherhood of Yeomen advised that their board will become very familiar with realty values in the several localities, and that it will be useless for any community to submit any presentation unless the prices at which the property is offered are within the bounds of reason, because their organization will not pay any fictitious values as the cause for which this investment is to be made, is too sacred to permit any such thing.
