City Condemns Electric System

Report is made, the council will notice of a survey and make a report by ordinance, declaring the system opened. The alley will then be by three disinterested parties will determine the amount of area which will be paid either by the city or the property owners.

High Harrison made a complaint regarding private sewer connections on the street, stating that the grade of that street has caused the sewers to become broken, and that condition at the present time is serious to the health of the citizens in that part of town. The mayor was instructed to make an investigation and have the damage repaired.

The street committee was authorized to obtain sufficient help to have main streets of the city washed over twice a month during the summer months.

The monthly reports of the marshal and the street superintendent were adopted.

E. Powell reported that he had hauled seven and one-half tons of gravel for $138.46. The bill was ordered paid.

The council ratified the Mocer contract with the city in which the paving company has posted $1,000 cash local bank to take care of the work done to the streets by the trucks. The city recorder was instructed to enter into a similar contract for $400 with A. S. Wal-

who is doing the gravel hauling. PARENTS ARE CAUSE OF POOR MORALS IS REFORMER'S CLAIM

(International News Service.) ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 8.—Lack of parental supervision is much to blame for the degrading state into which the morals of the young girls and boys of today are slipping.

Taking sides with Dr. Wilbur F. Crafts, superintendent of the International Reform Bureau, on the subject, Mrs. Theresa Baldwin, policewoman, comes forward to ask: "Where is a girl's mother all the while her daughter is attending dance halls where she must associate with immoral minds of both sexes?"

A school for delinquent parents is suggested by Mrs. Baldwin, who has made a study of the dance hall situation along with several other policewomen in this city. She has to say on this subject:

"At a public dance to which several policewomen were sent, conduct was such as to justify the most shocking statements on the subject. You'd think we'd be pretty much hardened to anything, but the behavior and conversation of those young people was so shocking that we could hardly make up our minds to stay and see it through. "Young girls—mere children—crave excitement, and the automobile supplies it in the most attractive form. Then follows the drinking of liquor and staying out all hours, and the

State Press Comments

Keep matches away from your children, is the admonition given by Fire Chief Murchison, and it is very timely. In fact, it is good advice all the time, but especially so it is good now that the midsummer dry spell has deadened grass and made grass fires so numerous. The chief says nearly all the calls are for the extinguishing of grass fires and in very many instances these fires have been started by a small child with matches. No further argument need be made.

Parents, do your duty.—La Grande Observer.

Now, of all things, comes a campaign for a "dry Germany," and "Pussyfoot" Johnson and the American anti-saloon league have nothing to do with it. The movement is purely German. There is a "committee for the introduction of prohibition in Germany" headed by a well-known statesman and including numerous academic, political and labor leaders, as well as professional men and women, from all sections of the country.

The reformers seem convinced that prohibition, with all its defects of administration has been good for America, and they believe it would be just as good for Germany. If they succeed, and the land of beer and wine yields to the drastic Volstead process, what hopes will there be left for the "liberals" now making so vigorous a protest in the United States.—Eugene Register.

Famous Film Stars' Favorite Coiffures

Four-Piece Costumes Coming in Vogue

FASHIONABLE dressmakers are making bonnets to go with their three-piece costumes—thus virtually creating four-piece costumes. These affairs are usually done in two shades of one color, touched off with a third shade of a contrasting color. For instance, a dress and cape may be of very light brown and very dark brown, trimmed with a vivid orange. That is the color scheme of the costume worn by Anna Q. Nilsson, the Paramount leading woman, in the photo above. Her cape and dress and turban are of tan and dark brown, with a narrow orange scarf twisted round the turban. The touch of orange is seen on the dress in the lining of the belt, which is of the dark brown. As brown is one of THE colors of the fall season, Miss Nilsson has fittingly chosen to have her suit made of that color, to be worn in
