ROSEBURG, OREGON, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 30, 1922.

SUPPORTING YOUR HOME TOWN.

Every man and woman who lives in Roseburg and Douglas county is, of course, interested in the general prosperity of their home locality. No one will question the fact that if communities use home manufactured goods and trade with home merchants it makes for brisk conditions. In turn, it is the duty of the merchant to find a market, and the highest possible market at that, for every pound of produce the local growers have to offer. Cash should be the price paid for farm, orchard, garden or poultry and dairy products. Cash is then available for the producers and mechanics, professional and business interests to pay for what they get. The circle is an endless one and trading is lively, everybody enjoys the benefits of such a course. However, it is too often the case that some one concludes that he can buy cheaper from some far away concern, and so makes out an order and sends for the goods. Just that much money is lost to the community, and it is very much like a broken cog in a machine that has been running smoothly. Cash out is a direct loss to the local merchant. It also is a loss to the producer, because it lessens the amount that might otherwise be available for buying local products. If there is a house to build, a bill of lumber needed, doors, windows, etc., employ the neighbor who is a carpenter, or buy the manufactured articles of the factory in the home town, or that are made in your county. Make it a point to employ only resident labor on all work, public or private, and in town labor will doubtless show its appreciation by buying of the home dealer. This practice can be followed by men and women in every avocation and industry, and the habit cultivated and religiously adhered to, will make for the wealth and prosperity of entire communities and commonwealths.

There are something over four hundred members in the lower house of congress, and there are annually about eighteen deaths among the representatives from the several states of the union. During this session of congress there have up to this time been twelve deaths. Two of these congressmen were killed in automobile accidents, eight died from natural causes, and two representatives died by suicide. In the rush of every day business affairs the busy public often fails to note the passing of men engaged in national legislative work, or perhaps may sometimes think that a congressman never dies, but the grim reaper makes no distinction, and the cares and worry of life appear to weigh heavily on these men, even to driving some to suicide.

Henry Ford is quoted as saying that there is no shortage of coal, but alleges that brokers have enormous quantities at their command which they are profiteering in to the detriment of the entire country. These brokers expect to, and are already demanding, a price ranging from 200 to 300 per cent above normal selling figures. Admitting that Ford may be correct in his view of the situation, there is opened up for President Harding and congress a field for doing a vast service to the public by immediately seizing the coal and coal mines and distributing the product to the general public. Profiteering in times of stress is nothing short of highway robbery.

Going to sleep with a revolver in his hand cost a Los Angeles man a bad scalp wound when the weapon was discharged during the sleepers dreams. Life in the City of Angels must be one round of strenuousness when citizens feel the necessity of going to bed with a loaded gun in their hands.

Miss Portland and Miss Seattle, the two northern beauties passed through Roseburg today on their way to San Francisco. And they are some girls—from the standpoint of beauty.

Moonshine and speed are two necessary requisites for modern automobile wrecks—and they seem to be keeping up the record in fine shape.

Marriage sometimes is spoken of as a great leveler, but often it is also a great finisher.

Miss Portland Greets Douglas Pioneers Roseburg People Seeking Location

Miss Virginia Edwards, chosen as Portland's most beautiful girl, to engage the Atlantic City pageant contest, left the metropolis last evening and passed through Roseburg this morning.

Miss Edwards was presented with a huge bouquet by Miss Vera McKay, from the Chamber of Commerce. She was at breakfast upon her arrival, but was most anxious to extend to the people of Roseburg her appreciation for the lovely flowers, and presented her self outside the coach, where a large number awaited to see her.

She is accompanied by her mother, and also by an aunt, Mrs. Sanford Whitling, of Portland. Miss Portland is typically representative of Oregon's young womanhood, and is truly beautiful. Her eyes are blue and her skin of peach pink. She has a quantity of light golden-colored hair which she piles high upon her head, and her coiffure was finished with an old comb of black. She wore a traveling dress of black satin, finished with dainty cuffs and collar of white georgette. Miss Edwards has a most pleasing personality, and it is the hope of all Oregonians that she will carry away all honors at the Atlantic City pageant.

Miss Portland and Miss Seattle met for the first time on the train this morning. Miss Seattle is a most charming young lady and in contrast to Miss Portland, is a distinct type of brunette.

OREGON GROWERS WIN CASE

The case of the Oregon Growers' Co-Operative association vs. Burchett was decided in favor of the association in the circuit court at Albany yesterday.

This is a case where the grower coalition has marketing agreement with the association in not delivering his 1921 crop of prunes to the association, the association being said to recover liquidated damages and specific performance. The court granted the association specific performance, attorney's fees and damages for past violations.

GOOD EVENING FOLKS—

Miss Portland
 Passed thru this a. m.
 And quite a few
 Of the local damsels
 Gathered 'round
 And muttered:
 "Aw, she ain't purty."

Sheriff Sam Switchkey Starmer yesterday poured out 12 perfectly good quarts of hooch on the court house lawn which should at least give the landscape a pleasant odor for a few days.

George "325 and costs" Jones was almost given a boost by a local filver yesterday while standing too close to the curb and bending over.

Ye ed. went into a local butcher shop yesterday and asked for ten cents worth of meat and the butcher grabbed us by the coat collar and took us behind the counter and let us smell of the meat hook.

HERE'S DAD AGAIN.
 A Home without a Mother
 We know is awful bad,
 But what would living here be worth
 In a home without a Dad?

Dad gets up at early dawn,
 He lights the fire, lets in the cat,
 Hees the garden, mows the lawn,
 And who says thanks to dad for that?

Dad works six days in every week,
 For Mother, Johnny, Bess and Tad;
 That motto should be made to read:
 "God Bless Our Mother and Our Dad."

MUST COLLECT IT YOURSELF.
 "The world owes every man a living."

"Yes, but you don't need to think the world is going to do any running around trying to pay it."

Senator Swanson complains that the newspapers give many times as much space to sports as they do to congress. It might be different if congress would make more hits and not do so much fanning out at bat.

Suspenders, like female modesty, have been outlawed for several years, but there are indications that both are coming back.

The following recently appeared in a Chicago newspaper's advertising columns:
 "If Wilbur Blank, who deserted his wife and babe twenty years ago, will return, said babe will knock his block off."

What has become of the old-fashioned woman who was raising a husband and a dozen children?

Fellers, keep your grin. You may plant a smile in the furrow which business has cut in the forehead of the other fellow.

The saddest words to tongue or pen are those that cause the judge to fine you for contempt.

Some highbrow statistician has figured out that the average man spends two years of his allotted three score and ten in dressing and undressing. As to the time spent by woman in these two occupations, he is discreetly silent.

Man's timid heart is bursting
 With the things he dare not say,
 For the woman that God gave him
 Isn't his to give away.

SAFE, IF NOT SANE.
 He's wandering in his mind,
 "That's all right, he won't go far."

HIS PENALTY.
 The man who "doesn't care" at the soda fountain usually gets vanilla.

Father—"Tommy, you are very naughty. I heard you tell your sister to go to the deuce."
 Tommy—"You needn't worry, father. She never does a thing I tell her."

No Blame Fixed in Motor Wreck

EUGENE, Aug. 30.—A verdict delivered last night shortly before 10 o'clock, a coroner's jury which met in the district attorney's office at the courthouse found no one to blame for the motor accident which claimed the lives of Mrs. Townsend and Mrs. Smith on the River road last Friday evening. No responsibility was fixed on the cause of the accident could not be determined, said the verdict. The following composed the jury: E. B. Brundage, W. R. Wallace, R. A. Babb, A. A. Branstetter, G. V. Simon and Edward A. Elkins.

The verdict was delivered about 10 minutes after almost a score of witnesses had been examined. One witness, a woman living near the scene of the tragedy, testified she rushed from her house and poured half a cup of brandy down the throat of Lloyd G. Jordan as first aid as soon as she had seen what happened. This, said members of the jury, would account for the liquor smell on Jordan's breath and would seemingly prove his assertion that he was not drunk at the time. It is not known what further action, if any, will be taken by officials.

In Ye Olden Days

(From the Roseburg Review, April 7, 1899.)

Attorney Dexter Rice, who was in Glendale Thursday reports business very lively in that mining center.

Wallie Mahoney, who has been visiting at Oakland, returned to his post of duty in the S. P. office at Medford, a few days ago.

Drain News: Miss Ella Gordon, who has been a guest of her brother, W. S. Gordon, and family, in this city for the last few weeks, left Sunday for Elkton, to take charge of the spring term of school at that place.

Conductor D. S. Houston received yesterday a pair of fine game fowls, sent him from New York by Homer Davenport, the cartoonist. The conductor and cartoonist are friends of long standing.

Harry Slocum has written a letter to his father, H. C. Slocum, of this city, from which is taken a number of extracts of real general interest, as follows:

Manila, March 9, 1899.
 Dear Father: I will drop you a few lines to let you know how I am getting along. I am still well and getting along finely. Almost everything is about the same here as when I last wrote you.

There is not much fighting going on at present—generally a little every night but not much damage is done. I think the campaign will commence when the other troops arrive. Perhaps they will be here the latter part of this week.

We are still in the city acting as provost guard and don't know when we shall get to the front. It is rumored around that we will go into the field soon, but we hear so many lies that we can hardly believe anything, now. I know one thing that the uncertainty is something awful, not knowing one minute what you are going to do the next. One day we are going home and the next we are going to serve our time out. I suspect we would have been on our way home now if it had not been for these insurgents.

Rex is with the regiment now; was changed a few days ago. He is well and getting along finely.

This is a hard place for anyone to try to save money. There is always something that one wants. Some of the boys are generally broke the day after pay-day.

Fred Haynes is getting along well now but had a hard siege of it.

Lieut. Hamlin is getting along nicely. He sends his best regards to you as does Dave Shanbrook also. Dave wants to get out of here and get home as soon as possible and I am with him. He says he did not enlist to fight "niggers." I tell you this country will always be in trouble. It is quite warm here now. I suppose it is quite chilly at home this time of the year. I hope that the picture I sent got home all O. K.

Well, there is no news of any importance that I can tell you and I presume you know more about the situation here than we do, as we never hear anything.

Hoping to hear from you all soon. Love to all the folks.
 Your loving son,
 HARRY.

County Court Going to Reedsport

The county court leaves Thursday morning for Reedsport, Loom Lake, Gardiner, and other points in the western part of the county where they will spend a few days attending to road matters. The court will be accompanied by District Attorney George Neuner and Roadmaster Fear. The main purpose of the trip is to receive the completed grade of the Brandy Bar-Reedsport highway, also to look after matters connected with the Scottsburg-Mill Creek section, on which the contract was recently let. An inspection will also be made of the Loom Lake road and plans made regarding that project. Other road matters will be considered and various problems discussed with the people of that section. The district attorney states that he also has several official investigations to make, and will consider those matters while on the trip.

The court will return to Oakland for the Farm Bureau picnic on Saturday, and will be in Roseburg for the celebration to be held on Monday.

L. C. Newlands, of the Oswego Cement company, of Portland, is spending several days here visiting W. J. Weaver, Mr. Newlands and Mr. Weaver have been spending considerable time on the golf links during his stay here, as Mr. Newlands is a great golf enthusiast.

Gassed Veteran Walks Across United States; Would Drive Automobile Back

(International News Service.)
 BOSTON, Aug. 30.—Sergeant-Major Charles M. Martines, who was gassed in the battle of Meuse-Argonne October 16, 1918, and sent back to the United States for treatment, arrived in this city after walking more than 3,000 miles from Riverside, Cal., since December 27, 1921.

Unable to work, doctors recommended an out-door life as the only possible cure for his ailment. Martines then undertook a coast-to-coast hike and has recovered his health almost completely.

Martines is a chauffeur and will seek employment with some family that is going to California by automobile.

He has paid the expenses of his trip from the $100 a month compensation received from the U. S. Government. He used but one pair of shoes during the hike, a pair of field service hobnailed shoes.

His condition was so greatly improved by the time he reached St. Louis that he engaged in a boxing bout with Kid Bandy at the South Broadway Athletic Club. The fight was a draw. Again at the American Legion Carnival at Terre Haute, Ind., he knocked out Bub Porell, a well-known middleweight of the west, in the second round.
