ANSWERS DR. BANKS

Roseburg, Sept. 6, 1922. Editor News-Review: After reading the statement of Dr. Louis A. Banks in your evening paper, I am moved as an American citizen and one of the working class to ask space in your columns to answer the article.

I attend church nearly every Sunday, and did attend church in Roseburg Sunday night, and will say that I was somewhat disappointed at not hearing a labor sermon on Labor Sunday. However, preachers have a right to select their own text as long as the members of their church make no complaint. I believe in the teachings of the Bible, and if these teachings are properly lived up to, they form the foundation of true democracy, and I realize that when Christ, "who by profession was a carpenter," was on this earth he utilized his time in helping the poor and needy, and all his apostles were selected from the ranks of the people, and did not come from the "money-changers." The Bible tells you what he did to the money-changers when he found them gambling in the temple.

And if my memory serves me right, "not being a Presbyterian preacher, the Bible says that there is a certain Levite who had fallen by the way and was poor and hungry, and the rich passed him by, but when Jesus found him, did He pass him by because the rich had done so? Oh, no. He picked him up and gave him a helping hand and sent him on his way rejoicing. Oh, what a difference between Christ and some of those who are hiding behind their pulpits, and only pretending to be followers of our Savior!

Yes, Brother Banks, Christ did find a Judas in 12 men in his day, and that condition has not altogether changed, even in this 20th century, and we find some of them in the pulpits as well as other places in this country.

You appear to take a delight in making accusations against the 400,000 shopmen on the railroads who are on strike at this time to resist a reduction of wages, and the taking away from them the working conditions that they have enjoyed for 20 years. And also against the miners, who have recently been on strike for several months, and won their battle for an American standard of living, and almost an American standard of wages. You did not mention anything about the textile workers in the New England states where there have been 60,000 women and girls forced to strike and suffer hunger since March 27, and who are returning to work today victorious after several months of battle. They had their wages reduced 22 percent, and because they accepted that reduction without going on strike the owners of the textile mills told these women that they would have to accept another similar reduction amounting to about 44 percent, and that they would have to work a 9-hour day, where they had formerly worked the 8-hour day. They have no state legislation that protects the women with an 8-hour day, as we have in these western states. In this battle of capital against labor, words cannot describe the suffering that these women went through. Some were not strong enough to withstand the strain, yes, and I understand some even committed suicide. But that only strengthened the morale of the others, and made them more determined than ever to resist onslaughts of the masters to reduce our American women to a lower standard of living. I thank God that it was Gumpers and not the Rev. Mr. Banks that was leading this great struggle, as I am fearful that you would have told the women that they were un-American and should have returned to work, as slaves in this industry, to satisfy the greed of the mill owners.

Yes, it would pay you to make a thorough investigation of the things you charge against the 400,000 railroad shopmen as to the sabotage you claim has been used. Let me say right now that the statements are false when you charge our men with these crimes and cases of using violence. This has been the most peaceful strike ever conducted in this country, and the American people are not going to be misled by statements of the railroad officials and yourself in making such charges against us. Do you know that on some railroads there are ties that are so rotten that rail spikes will not stay in the ties and vibrate naturally, the spikes work out from vibration? However, when an accident happens on a railroad caused from sharp flanges on the ties, or from some broken wheels, or from any defects which cause these accidents, the rails are always torn up and generally twisted and bent in the case you speak of, and that is the time the railroads charge every accident against the men who are on strike. Let me say this—that our men would not stoop to such an inhumane act, and all the violence that has been created during this strike has been created by the strikebreakers, gunmen and thugs that have been hired by the railroads during this strike. Recently—or to be exact—there appeared on August 7, 1922, the following editorial by the St. Louis Star, and the St. Louis Post Dispatch, relative to an accident that happened on the Missouri Pacific railway which was also blamed on the shopmen who were on strike: "One of the most reliable engineers on the Missouri Pacific looked at his orders just as his train approached a block signal, and failed to see that it was set against him. The result is 37 dead and scores injured, one of the most horrible catastrophes in the history of American railroading.

"This wreck probably has no connection with the strike, unless through the lateness of the trains, but we wish to call attention to a statement in a letter headed 'Wrecks,' and signed 'Locomotive Engineer' in last Saturday's Star. He said: 'It is very easy to run a block while trying to get water in the boiler with a non-working injector. You have to get it in there or get blown up. We have seen many trains in the fire with locomotives in their present condition. Somebody is going to overlook an iron every day or so. That means wrecks and lives lost.'

"If an engineer can 'run a block' merely by taking the wrong time to look at his orders, there is surely grave force to the complaint of 'Locomotive Engineer.' That engineers have too many things to think about on account of the condition of their engines. Failure to settle the railroad shopmen's strike invites just such tragedies as this at Sulphur Springs, and the continued use of antiquated wooden coaches insures huge death lists."

The Post Dispatch Says: "The Wreck Horror and Its Appeal. 'The Missouri Pacific wreck, with a list of 37 dead and many injured, some probably fatally, comes at a time when strike conditions on the railroads have made the public apprehensive of railroad travel. Reports indicate, however, that the strike had nothing to do with the wreck at Sulphur Springs. It was one of those freaks of fate which brought it to pass that the veteran engineer of perfect record should happen to miss a track signal while reading his train orders.' 'Notwithstanding the entire disconnection of the strike from the cause of the wreck, the horror of the tragedy is bound to increase public apprehensions, and the more so, therefore, argues the more emphatically for the speedy settlement of the strike: It argues the infinite importance of human life as against small points of pride and desire for gain. There is an appeal from the dead that there shall be no more unnecessary dead.' 'Yes, and you (Dr. Banks) don't say anything about the cruel murder in Sacramento last Wednesday, when the chairman of the local federation 'who has the respect of both the labor and business classes of Sacramento' was shot to death by one of the railroad scabs, in a city park. This brother who was killed was a good father and husband, a loyal citizen and taxpayer, and because he spoke to the man whom he had known for years, this dirty scoundrel shot him dead.

Yes, scabs and deputies can go around the streets armed to kill, but the man on strike must submit to their abuse or suffer the consequences! On one railroad in the west a stockman who was shipping a trainload of cattle, left the caboose and went up to the depot to get something to eat, and on his return to the caboose he had a gun stuck in his side by two different gunmen. A merchant in a city who had been in the habit of eating at the railroad company's restaurant at the depot, after finishing his dinner, was returning to his place of business, and was wiping the perspiration off his face, when an amateur gunman poked a gun at him and told him if he did that again he would kill him. No, you don't tell your congregation of the violence that is being created by these scablings, and then they try to place the blame upon your peaceful citizens, but then YOU take the side of the mighty, against the poor who are your own fellow-citizens.

Let me say that the Church Federation of many large, as well as small, cities in this country are helping the poor in this battle. The church federation of Los Angeles is contributing from $600 to $800 a week to feed these people. That is the real work of God and the teachings of Christ. And we find the preachers, rabbis, and priests speaking from the same platform addressing the meetings of strikers all over this country, while you want to sit back and curry favor from the masters. Ask yourself what YOU have done for the men on strike here in Roseburg!

This strike was brought on the workers by being forced to accept a reduction of wages already too low and taking away working conditions which during last year amounted to 24 percent of their wages. Has the cost of rents, water, lights, fuel, fire, meats, and other necessities of life been reduced 24 percent? Did the railroads reduce their rates and fares 24 percent? We have gone along with the decisions of the U. S. Railway Labor board believing that our protests would be heard, but nothing doing—the railroads have violated the decisions of the board in 213 instances, and they have on many roads even reduced the wages lower than the reductions made by the board, and when the Pennsylvania road took the decision of the labor board to court, the court ruled that the labor board could only act in an advisory capacity, and that their rulings were not mandatory, while we—the workers—believed they were—"Oh Justice, where art thou?" If our people have to suffer continued reductions in pay, they won't have any money to pay their bills; the result is that the merchants will suffer and, in turn, the merchants can't pay the farmer just prices for his produce. The farmer today is suffering from being gouged by the railroads, and instead of him being able to have a 5-hour day that he is entitled to, he has to work longer hours. But now comes a ray of hope. He is organizing and co-operating with labor, and the two will soon be able to reap a fair share of that which they produce. But that will not come through the efforts of preachers that are more interested in men who scab than they are in the citizens and farmers in

Maybe that hill is not there, after all—

VERY often the hill we seem to be climbing is made out of the common mistakes of diet which starve tissues and nerves and slow down energies.

How smooth and level the path seemed to be when we were younger.

Simple, natural food may level that hill to a smooth path again.

Why not try it?

Begin today with a dish of Grape-Nuts with cream or milk—and fresh or preserved fruit added if you like.

Keep on with this crisp, delicious, strengthening food in place of heavy, ill-assorted, starchy breakfasts and lunches—and see if the old-time zest and speed on the old-time level path doesn't come back again.

SEEKS COOL DOZE IN YARD; FIRE IN BED RUINS PLANS (International News Service). CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 6.—Seeking coolness by carrying her mattress into the yard, Mrs. Gretchen Sachs found that she had "jumped from the frying pan into the fire." She struck a match to see what time it was, and the mattress caught fire. A neighbor seeing the blaze summoned the fire department, but the mattress was a total loss. So was Mrs. Sachs' contemplated cool sleep.

ELABORATE CELEBRATION OF ARMISTICE DAY, PLAN (International News Service). CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 6.—Armistice Day celebration on a scale larger than ever attempted here before, is contemplated by the Commander's Council of the American Legion posts in Cincinnati and the vicinity. Plans are now being worked out to have large quantities of war material, such as machine guns and cannon captured by the American forces during the war, carried on boats at various points in the parade and afterwards dedicated as permanent trophies of victory at appropriate locations in the city. Every organization whose members served in the World War will be represented, and it is expected that the parade will be the largest yet held in this city.
