(By Associated Press.)
CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 23.—The world will know within 36 hours whether the Turkish Nationalists have chosen war or peace. ### Tempora, O Mores! Collegians Murder Queen's English; "Poet Lariat" Is Title of Tennyson

(International News Service.)
COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 23.—Some striking instances of incorrect spelling, grammatical error and other signs of poor English were found by an English instructor at Ohio State University here while reading essays and compositions submitted by a number of advanced college students in English composition.

Can You Recognize Them?
"Johnny John pops" (incorrectly used for "Johnny jump-ups"), "grape arbor," "pedals of a rose," "tracks of land," "breakface," "ship-sheep" (for "shipshape"), "wis" (of a candle) and "wreckord" (for record).

One student defined sorority as a group of girls bonded together on banks and platforms carefully laid and bound by ties that bind. Another student said that inductive reasoning is "going from the perpendicular to the general."

Tennyson is "Roped In" Too.
Tennyson was a "poet lariat," according to one student. A girl student confessed that all the English she had "is almost negligent." Two rules of grammar were given as follows: "A comma is a bad blunder."
The English instructor attributed most of the blunders to carelessness and "just plain ignorance." Other university professors laid the blame at the doors of those responsible for "lack of emphasis in high schools and grammar grades on reading and spelling."

Oil Drill Again Active Says Paper

After a period of inactivity extending for four weeks or more, drilling has again been resumed on the oil well on the north side of town, says the Sutherland Sun. It is understood that the delay in drilling operations was due to the fact that a portion of the equipment which was being used in rimping out the hole became fast at a depth of several hundred feet, and that it was only dislodged and removed after considerable time and effort.

"DEATH PACT" MAY HAVE FIGURED IN VET'S SUICIDE

(By Associated Press.)
SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., Sept. 23.—Proceeding on the theory that "a death pact" figured in the death of O. H. Worley, of Bend, Oregon, an ex-service man at the Arrowhead government hospital, officials have ordered a searching investigation, seeking to learn the identity of the person who furnished Worley with a revolver. Worley was paralyzed and had the use of only one arm. The gun was in another room and officers declare it was physically impossible for him to have gone for it or even reached it from his bed. Whether some "Buddy," torn with sympathy for Worley who has been bedfast for 8 months, unable to move, or some visitor, acting on Worley's appeal, obtained the revolver for him, has not been determined. The remains will be sent to Bend for burial.

BRAKE PLANT TO LOCATE HERE

WILL MOVE FACTORY

Machinery is Now Being Torn Down Ready for Shipment and Will Arrive Here in a Few Days—Company May Build Later.

The Automatic Electric Brake company today secured a three-year lease on the South Umpqua plant of the Douglas County Light & Water company, and will start work at once moving the Portland factory to Roseburg.

The machinery at the Portland factory is now being torn down and will be ready for shipment within a few days. It is expected that the new plant will be fully installed and ready for operation by the middle of October when work will be resumed on a large scale.

At the present time the company does not expect to do any building, but later on the cement foundation built for the old cold storage plant. During the winter it is planned to do a great deal of development work and the machine shops will be kept busy putting the invention into various forms where it may be demonstrated for different purposes. At present it is being used in a great many ways and the machine shops are kept busy meeting the demand.

The demand for brakes for use on automobiles is growing daily, and within a short time it is thought that the company will be forced to provide more room. The property leased gives adequate space and a large factory can be built. During the winter the machine shops will probably supply work for at least a dozen manufacturers.

POLICE ARE SEARCHING FOR "WOMAN WITH TERRIFYING EYES" BELIEVED GUILTY

Daughter of Slain Woman Declares That Mysterious Person Is Responsible for the Death of Mrs. Mills and Rev. Hall, Whose Bodies Were Found on Farm.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Sept. 23.—The search for the "woman with terrifying eyes," accused by Charlotte Mills, daughter of Mrs. James Mills, slain with Rev. Edward Hall on an abandoned farm, as being responsible for the couple's death, occupied the police today.

"Find the Woman."

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Sept. 23.—"Find the woman." This was the order today in the investigation of the case of W. H. Hall, rector of the fashionable church of St. John the Evangelist, and his choir leader, Mrs. Elinor Mills. Investigators devoted their efforts to finding the "jealous woman" who, it is reported, gossiped with church members regarding alleged intimacy of the clergyman and Miss Mills. This woman is said to have informed Mills, sexton of the church, that he should keep a close watch on his wife.

If she can be found, police believe they will have located the woman who wrote love notes to Hall, and who might have been so maddened by jealousy that she would commit murder. Mills was summoned by detectives today to be present as the identity of the woman who told him of the gossip.

The woman under investigation, according to investigators, started the congregation abuses with "trashy" tales concerning the assassination of the millionaire minister and the wife of the sexton. The "choir loft" gossip it was said, went the rounds of the church.

Mills stated that he was greatly concerned and worried when the gossip first reached his ears.

"I decided to do what the Rev. Hall has so often told us from the pulpit—that if a person has anything against a brother in church, go to him for an understanding," he declared.

"After thinking things over, and praying, I went to my pastor.

"I found him in the study and after much hesitation told him what I had heard and asked him if it were true.

"Why, of course not," he said. My interest in Mrs. Mills is only that of one Christian to another—that of a pastor for a member of his flock."

"After he told me that I felt ashamed of myself. I asked his forgiveness for ever letting the gossips put such a notion in my head. He forgave me readily and I left his study and came home and kissed Elinor. I did not tell her I had momentarily doubted her, but I guess she could tell."

Prosecutor Stricker stated today that he planned to question every one of the church members to trace down the suspect in the crime.

Jealous Woman Responsible.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Sept. 23.—(By the Associated Press.)—"A jealous woman killed my mom and Mr. Hall."

This assertion, fitting in perfectly with the theory which authorities are investigating the murder of Mrs. Eleanor Reinhart Mills and Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall are bending every effort to prove, was made this evening by Charlotte Mills, 16-year-old daughter of the slain woman. It was the first time she had broken her silence—save before the authorities—since tragedy came into the humble Mills home and left her its mistress.

"The woman I think killed mom," the girl continued, "was—" she named the woman whom the authorities also have admitted was the center of most of their suspicions.

Eyes Inspire Fear.
"This woman isn't an ordinary woman," she went on. "She has funny eyes that make you afraid of her—sort of like a man you see that hates young people. She was three times as strong as mom. Mother weighed only 118. She didn't have a chance."

Charlotte admitted she had given her aunt, Mrs. Elsie Bardhardt of Paterson, a packet containing photographs of Mr. Hall and her mother. There also was one picture of Mrs. Hall, she added.

She said her mother gave her the packet before an operation last summer, telling her to give it to Mrs. Bardhardt in the event of her death.

Charlotte is not unaware of the stories on which the supposed jealousy of her mother is supposed to be founded. She has heard the gossip linking her mother's name with that of the slain minister. But she believes in "mom."

Mother is Defended.

"Mom did a lot of work that a pastor's wife should have done in Mr. Hall's church," she said. "Maybe some people connected with the church were jealous because of that. Mom was so romantic—but her character was beyond reproach.

"A jealous woman—helped by some man—killed her."

...The jealousy theory was strongly supported by several developments today. Assistant Prosecutor Toolan, who has been directing the Middlesex county investigation, declared there was no doubt left in the minds of the investigators that jealousy was the motive. An arrest might be expected momentarily, he said.

One of the strongest leads followed today was that of a reported attempt to poison Mrs. Mills at a tea party several weeks before she and the minister were slain.

When Mrs. James Tension, another sister of the dead woman, confirmed this report with the statement that Mrs. Mills had told of being made ill by a sip of coffee and had declared that but for the confidence she had in the friendship of the hostess she would believe she had been poisoned, additional detectives were assigned to develop this angle of the case. The hostess at that party is the woman about whom most of the suspicion centers.

Girls Fight to Save State School

SALEM, Sept. 23.—Fifty-one girls, many of them involuntarily detained as inmates of the State Industrial School for Girls, today turned out and fought as Amazons in a vain effort to save for the state of Oregon the main building of their institution when it caught fire from a fire and burned nearly to the ground.

The roof of the building was a mass of flames, but the girls, wards of the state, fought on. Little girls, their cheap aprons torn, their faces dripping perspiration, rushed in and out of the structure in which brands of fire were dropping at irregular intervals. There was no laughing, no loafing. Fear of personal injury appeared to be forgotten.

Rose Laskey, 15-year-old miss, committed to the school from Tillamook county, was severely cut about the face and head by falling debris. Undeterred by her injuries, a pillow case used to protect her lacerated head, she worked on. Another little girl, Alice Jeffries, committed from Roseburg, dropped in a faint as she strove to stop the flames on the third floor. She was carried to safety by her companions.

Two of the girls with notable records for attempted escapes rushed to Mrs. Clara Patterson, superintendent, at the outset of the fire.

"Don't worry about us or the rest," they told her. "We'll be here—and they did. To a person the girls will help all we can."

exerted every effort in an attempt to check the flames.

Damage to the building, which was erected in 1915 under the Oswald West administration at a cost of $30,000, was said by state officials to approximate $20,000. The state carries its own insurance.

Funeral Donald Hunt Sunday

The funeral of the late Donald Hunt, who was accidentally killed at Corvallis Thursday evening, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 from the Presbyterian Church. Roseburg boys attending Oregon Agricultural College will serve as pallbearers these arrangements having been completed today. Practically all of the Roseburg boys attending the college have returned home to attend the funeral services of their schoolmate.

The body was brought back to Roseburg last night, accompanied by Dr. R. E. Hunt, father of the deceased. Dr. Hunt went to Corvallis immediately following the receipt of the news of the accident.

A letter to his father posted by Donald only a few minutes before his death was full of plans for the future and showed the fighting spirit of the boy. He made the freshman football team at the first try out and was also working to make good grades in his studies. He had pledged one of the leading fraternities and expressed a determination to reach the grades set as a goal by the organization.
