LLOYD GEORGE ADDRESSES THREE THOUSAND PEOPLE DEFENDING COALITION GOVT.

I Stand For the People" Declares Former Premier—Says He Can Accomplish as Much Good In Peace as the Government Did In Times of War.

(By Associated Press.)
LEEDS, England, Oct. 21.—David Lloyd George, retiring prime minister, speaking at great length at a meeting of the coalition liberals today declared that "the banner of party strife" had been hoisted at a recent meeting of the conservatives at the Carlton Club, which voted against continuing the coalition.

"It is for the people to decide whether the party comes first or the nation first," he exclaimed. "I stand for the people."

Lloyd George asserted that the coalition which had achieved victory in the late war had been brought to an end, not because it had ceased to serve the nation, but because a party was not getting enough out of it. He then launched into a vigorous defense of his administration.

Three Thousand Hear Talk.

LEEDS, England, Oct. 21.—(United Press.)—Three thousand people heard Lloyd George open his fight for the restoration of his premiership in a speech today.

"The people must decide whether the party or the nation comes first," he said. "I stand for the people, I am going to fight."

"I am progressive and democratic," he declared. "My opponents dislike this. The revolt against my ministry began in Mayfair and Belgravia (aristocratic residential sections of London).

The former premier declared that Bonar Law has placed himself in the position of a horseman, not holding the reins, but the tail.

"We have the world's strongest nations' friendship, instead of fist. We have America's handshake. We are marching side by side down the path of peace and international good will."

Gets Much Applause.

LEEDS, England, Oct. 21.—(A. P.)—Lloyd George was loudly applauded when he said, "I have sought honestly, sincerely and within my dominant purposes to serve my native land to the best of my ability. In the war the government did everything it could. I am told now, 'You have been a very good war minister, but you are no good in peace.' War is not a bad test and I have done a few things in peace."

He made no suggestion of a new party.

TWO EYE-WITNESSES TO HALL-MILLS MURDER FOUND

(By United Press.)
NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. Oct. 21.—Two eye witnesses of the Hall-Mills murder have been discovered and have made statements to the prosecutors, it was reported today as County Attorney Strickler summoned five persons to the courthouse for questioning.

The grand jury adjourned until Monday, as they will return no indictments before next week.

Two of those to be questioned today were Ralph Gorsline, clergyman at Hall's church, and the other is Barbara Tough, an upstairs maid in the Hall home.

Find Eye Witnesses.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct 20.—On the heels of the unconfirmed reports that the grand jury of Somerset county had returned an indictment today in the Hall-Mills murder mystery, the investigation was given a sensational twist tonight when it was officially learned that an eye-witness to the double shooting, a woman of reputable character in New Brunswick, had been discovered.

The interjection of this new phase in the already greatly complicated case, was said to have been responsible for the sudden turn today in the activity of Prosecutor Azariah Beekman, who appeared before the grand jury at Somerville.

The only handicap now retarding the prosecutor in bringing the situation to a climax was said to be the problem of positive identification by the newly found witness, as more than one person is said to have taken part in the murders.

Neither Mr. Beekman nor any other court official could be induced to give the slightest enlightenment on the puzzling attitude of all concerned in the inquiry.

Responsibility for the next move, which is expected to be of a sensational character, was said now to be squarely up to Prosecutor Beekman, who is moving cautiously in his apparent desire to be sure of his ground.

The home of Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, widow of the slain rector, is vigilantly guarded by state troopers and all attempts to communicate with the house by telephone have been unsuccessful.

The American Civil Liberties Union wired from New York today to Mayor Baker protesting against the arrested.

Troops May Be Sent.

PORTLAND, Oct. 21.—(By United Press.)—Governor Olcott wired Mayor Baker today from The Dalles that troops would be sent into Portland to maintain order in case of an influx of I. W. W. if the situation demanded it. Soon as Adjutant General White returns to Salem he will be sent here to watch the situation, the governor messaged.

Nearly 100 men were arrested on vagrancy charges. A few were tried and found guilty of riding freight trains and loitering against the city ordinance. They were given jail sentences.

Gun Club May Be Formed Here Soon

The formation of a gun club will be undertaken here next week. Several sportsmen and trapshooters in this city are anxious to reorganize the gun club which existed in this city several years ago, and several newer arrivals in Roseburg have expressed a desire to enter such an organization. Mr. Badgley, of Badgley & Zigler Co., is taking charge of the organization work and reports that there is a great deal of interest being shown. Captain Avery L. Roser, commanding officer of the local national guard company recently obtained an appropriation for improving the rifle range in north Roseburg and has offered the gun club permission to install their trap there if desired.

PRUNE MEETING IS HELD TODAY

Growers From All Sections Gathered in City Today for General Discussion.

DATE PRUNE IS TOPIC

County Fruit Inspector Makes Report On His Recent Investigation Conducted in California Where Prunes Originated.

Prune men from all parts of the county gathered in the city today for the all all day meeting held at the city hall. The meeting was very enthusiastic the prune men entering heartily into the discussions and giving careful attention the the various speakers. The attendance was even better than had been anticipated and the hall was completely filled.

County Agent B. W. Cooney presided and allowed no dull moments.

County Fruit Inspector Armstrong was the first speaker and gave an interesting report on the new Date prune that is being introduced in this county. Mr. Armstrong made a trip into California recently to make a complete investigation of this fruit and place himself in a position to advise the growers.

In his talk this morning he traced the origin of the prune from its first appearance as a bud sport and its development by various growers particularly Mr. Coates. He stated that he had investigated the prune from all angles and had found it very suitable for this section. In his belief it will grow any place that Italian or Petites can be grown and, in fact, is in many respects hardier than either of these varieties.

It is uniformly large in size, gives good weight in drying and bears very well. The report that the prune is a shy bearer is circulated through an error there being a confusion between this variety and another which Mr. Coates introduced.

The wood of the tree is better, the tree is less subject to damage because of severe weather, it blooms a little earlier than the French variety and ripens sooner.

Altogether, Mr. Armstrong states, the prune is very suitable for this vicinity. In discussing the matter of reversion, Mr. Armstrong stated that some instances of this have been noted but that they are not frequent in the original stock. Some nurserymen in canning original stock for the grafts while others are deliberately putting out fraudulent stock. Growers should be careful that they obtain stock which can be absolutely guaranteed, Mr. Armstrong says.

He was followed by Mr. McDonald of the Oregon Nursery Co., who is introducing the "big" prune under the name of the Date prune by which it has become commonly known. He agreed with Mr. Armstrong's report and supplemented it with samples of the prune comparing it with other varieties. He also went further into the technical details.

This afternoon Prof. Long of the O. A. C., spoke on cover crops and

HON. W. C. HAWLEY SPEAKS ON ACTIVITIES OF CONGRESS AND REPUBLICAN POLICIES

Instructive and Entertaining Political Speech Delivered to Enthusiastic Audience at Court House Last Night—Democratic War Record Assailed.

A very instrdictive and entertaining lecture was delivered last night at the court house, by Congressmen W. C. Hawley, who is touring his congressional district in his own behalf and in behalf of the republican party. The audience filled the court room comfortably and all were pleased with the matters presented by Mr. Hawley.

The lecture was preceded by a dinner at the Umpqua Hotel at which time a general discussion of the political situation was held. Those present at this meeting were A. C. Seeley, A. C. Marsters, W. C. Hawley, Binger Hermann, F. W. Haynes, W. J. Weaver, C. B. Wade, B. W. Bates, G. W. Riddle, S. Raines Dr. Langley, B. L. Eddy, F. W. Chapman, C. S. Heinline, J. H. Booth, George K. Quine, Edwin Weaver, C. A. Brand, J. M. Throne, Guy Cordon, George Neuner, Ira B. Riddle, George Bacon, Frank Norton, George E. Houck, O. C. Brown, Dr. J. G. Day, J. W. Perkins.

The meeting at the court house was opened by several selections played by the Heinline Conservatory Orchestra, directed by Mrs. A. J. Young. Two vocal numbers by Mrs. C. A. Brand were well received and were very pleasing.

Mr. Hawley in his address dealt with the activities of congress during the democratic and republican administrations. The war record of the democratic party was especially attacked and the alleged waste and extravagance of conducting the war exposed. Great laxity in placing contracts existed, the audience was told and great amounts of money were literally thrown away by inefficient departments and bureaus.

During the war the government provided seven blankets for each horse, five halters for each animal and two branding irons for each the speaker stated. On account of the inefficiency of the democratic government agencies no cancellation clauses were in the contracts consequently the contracts were not subject to cancellation at the close of the war and as a result the greater bulk of the ships that were ordered and the greater portion of the ammunition were delivered after the close of the war. One billion dollars was expended for airplanes and not one bombing plane was used at the front. All of which was done before a republican congress got control and as a result, billions upon billions of indebtedness was heaped upon the government when the republican congress of 1919 obtained control of the house and took charge and stopped the waste and extravagance and proceeded to reduce the extravagant expenditures and placed the government upon a normal, pre-war basis.

In regard to the recent reduction of expenditures and the bisecting of the cost of running the United States government within two years, Mr. Hawley said: "The republican administration has reduced the cost of running the government from over six billion for the current fiscal year ending June 30, 1923.

"The way to reduce taxation is to reduce expenditure, and we reduced the expenditure of the government during the past two years of President Wilson's administration by approximately $3,000,000,000 less than the estimates demanded, and during the four years that the republican party has been in control of the house of representatives we have reduced expenditures $4,250,000,000 below the estimates. For 1922 alone we reduced the taxes $850,000,000.

"All legitimate activities of the government are adequately provided for. We go to the country upon a successful record, of which this is a part, and ask comparison of our efficient methods of the preceding democratic administration, during which time more than $15,000,000,000 was absolutely wasted, which the people will have to pay with interest thereon at 4 per cent."

Mr. Hawley gave a detailed explanation of the Fordney protective tariff act, and its purpose and the results already obtained under it. He explained that the tariff was to protect home industry and bring foreign products manufactured by cheap labor up to a price level with the home manufacured product. He explained that the Fordney act did not demand as high a tariff rate as preceding acts and that this proved the soundness of a protective policy. Former tariff acts have supported home industries to such an extent that they no longer need as high a protective rate as formerly was needed.

The important building materials are on the free list such as Portland and other cements, structural iron and steel and shingles and lumber because the industries behind them have grown to such an extent under a protective tariff as to be able to cope with the competition of the world at present.

Mr. Hawley ridiculed the pretensions and campaign promises of Walter Pierce as a tax reformer, in view of his tax-voting record in the legislature and urged the reelection of Governor Olcott.

"The state institutions are very well managed," he said, "and the election of a democrat for governor would necessarily make changes and weaken the institutions."

MRS. HAZEL M'NALLY IS FREE ON MURDER CHARGE

(By Associated Press.)
HAMMOND, Ind., Oct. 20.—Mrs. Hazel McNally, declared by her 55-year-old husband to be the mother of twins was freed of a charge of murder this afternoon when Judge Henry C. Cleveland ruled the state had failed to prove the infants are not still alive. The 26-year-old wife, who had grinned and giggled through four days of the preliminary hearing while witnesses attempted to fasten on her the charge of double murder, collapsed and fell fainting to the floor as the cheers and applause of 150 women courtroom fans rang in her ears.

By a strange paradox of the law the defense which maintained the twins "born" to Mrs. McNally last December were but inanimate creations of china and sawdust dressed in baby clothes won its victory because the state was unable to prove that the mystery babies were not at the present moment living, breathing human beings with actual flesh and blood.

The missing corpus delicti—lawyer's phraseology for the "body of the crime"—proved a stumbling block to the state and because of it the mystery of the McNally twins, whether they ever existed, whether they were only dressed up dolls or whether, as the state contended, they were first real babies and then dolls remains unsolved.

Proof of Death Lacking.

Sustaining the motion of Samuel Swartz, of South Bend, attorney for Mrs. McNally, for dismissal of the charge, Judge Cleveland ruled that all legal decisions maintained that same proof that a dead body actually existed, that it came to its death by violence, and that the person charged with the crime was in some way connected with its commission, was necessary before a charge of murder could be supported.

Thos. Hatfield motored in town this morning from his ranch on Deer Creek to spend a few hours looking after business matters.

"Come Again" Haircut Assures Speedy Return of Customers

(International News Service.)
CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—In the old days when you got a haircut the barber would smile a friendly smile and say "come again."

But today, in the bustling marts of red and white poles, this policy has been found lacking in 100 per cent returns. As a result a new invention has been made by the honorable knights of the scissors, it was brought out at the convention of the Barber Supply Dealers' association of America, which indelibly impresses the visitor who gets his hair (and pocket) trimmed. That invention, discovered by a bright barber who one day will have a statue erected to him, is called the 'come again haircut" the hair being so trimmed that the patient is bound to come back within a week or ten days.
