Building Permits Show Increase

With more than two months yet to the year 1922 is far ahead of previous years from the amount of building on. A survey of the building records for the year, show that permits have been issued to date amounting to a total building cost of approximately $256,804. Much of this is due to the construction of the $125,000 apartment house being constructed by George Kohlhaugen, but there are also a large number of houses which make up a large part of the balance.

In the past nine and one-half months there has been only a small amount of business construction, outside of apartment houses and a few minor construction jobs. A $10,000 church under construction for the Church of Christ, scientist; a $12,000 lodge was recently completed for the Order of Pythias lodge; a $10,000 garage building was built by A. L. and several other buildings of a nature have been constructed. Another year has shown a substantial increase with two months yet to add to the total. The remainder of the year is apt to add considerably to the total as several building programs are under consideration.

Road Projects Are Advertised

Six miles of road construction in the Riddle vicinity will be advertised at once and contracts allowed on the 10th of November. The Yukum and Pruner sections of the Riddle section have been prepared for advertising, the plans being complete. The Yukum section extends from Riddle to the Pacific highway, a distance of 3.2 miles, following a water grade along Cow Creek. Construction is to be exceedingly heavy as there is a great deal of rock work to be done. This section, in fact, is one of the largest road jobs to be undertaken in the southern part of the county.

It follows along Cow Creek for the greater part of the distance and then crosses the stream and connects up with the highway at the Mulvihill place. The project has been allowed $45,000 of the last bond issue and funds will also be needed for the construction of a bridge over Cow Creek.

The Prunes section follows the route of the old highway from Riddle to the Pacific highway by means of the Pruner bridge. This is largely an improvement job, reducing grades and graveling the surface. The sum of $15,000 has been allotted from the bond funds for this project.

Bids will be received on Nov 10th, according to the advertisements which are being prepared.

Picture It In Your Home

—this Wonderful Warm-Air Furnace that Looks Like a Phonograph

This picture shows the installation of an Estate Heatrola in a modern six-room home.

Picture one in your home.

See what a wonderful improvement it is over a heating stove. Note how beautifully it blends with other home furnishings. It combines the efficiency of a furnace with the appearance of a phonograph.

Estate Heatrola is a furnace—not a stove. Placed in one of the living rooms, it heats 3 to 6 connecting rooms, in even the coldest weather.

Burns any kind of coal, and uses less coal than a stove.

Beautifully finished in grained mahogany—a vitreous enamel, practically everlasting. You can rub and dust it with a cloth, just as you do your furniture.

PRUNE MARKET SHOWS ACTIVITY

Demand Increasing in East and Market Takes on Greater Strength.

PRICE IS INCREASING

Reports From Salem Indicate That Market Is to Open Up Again After Being Closed for Several Weeks—Strengthening Is Predicted.

SALEM, Oct. 21.—With export inquiry reviving and domestic wholesale dealers in the east unable to get delivery on orders placed and seeking to extend their purchases the dried prune market in this section of the country has taken on renewed strength during the past two weeks, but real activity has been prevented by the refusal of growers to sell.

Already the market here has strengthened from $\frac{3}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ a cent and there is every indication that it will go still higher. The sudden determined activity of the buyers is one never-failing indication of an advance and there are many other factors in the situation which forecast greater strength.

Both the Oregon Grower Co-operative association and the California association are now out of the selling market and are insistent bidders for the crops of the independent growers. The Oregon association has announced that it will be necessary for it to prorate on 30s, because they are admittedly oversold on this size, and says that grading of its first 5,000,000 pounds shows only 1 3-4 per cent of 30s. Its growers also report aim at a complete absence of 70s, 80s and 90s.

The packing plants of both of the associations are swamped and no new bookings are being made until it is possible to determine even approximate dates of possible shipment.

The California association, which remained discreetly silent during the first reports of damages to the prunes in that state during the dry season, now makes the admission that the California crop will be 10 per cent short. Other sources place the shortage at as high as 25 per cent. California is also short of the small sizes and the few lots marketed lately have brought the growers an average advance of about $\frac{1}{4}$ of a cent over previous offerings.

What is probably the strongest indication of an advance is the announcement of the California association that it believes "fully 75 per cent of the 1922 prune crop has been sold into the hands of the jobbing trade." They predict a material advance in the price.

Locally the market has not reacted to any considerable extent to the advances offered by the brokers. A few small lots were reported sold early in the week at 2 1-1 cents but, so far as can be learned this bid has disappeared completely. Eight and a quarter cents is the prevailing price in and around Salem no new transactions reported.

At Dallas three or four lots of 50-55s have been sold this week at 7 cents, and 8 cents is being offered for 40-50s. Especially choice lots have brought bids of 8 1/2 to 1-2 cents. Some hill prunes, 60-65s, are moving at 5 cents in this part of the valley.

Local News

Back from Portland—
 Frank E. Alley, who has been spending the past few days in Portland attending to business matters, returned to Roseburg today.

Lawn Is Improved—
 The court house yard is being greatly improved by two prisoners who have been detailed to the work by the sheriff's office. Deputy Sheriff Sewell finally became disgusted with the cow pasture appearance of the yard, and when two boys who were given 6 months for theft asked for exercise, he agreed to let them in the yard if they would work. They agreed and have done a fine job. The grass has been cut as well as the shell crater condition of the ground will permit. The rank growth of weeds which had been permitted to grow up in the cracks of the broken cement sidewalk, have been removed and the walk cleaned, the dead leaves have been picked up, and the yard made fairly presentable. This has all been done without a cent of expense to the county and might just as well have been done several months ago and have saved the county the reputation of having the most disreputable looking courtyard in the state.

Demonstration of an entirely new kind of soap

Takes the place of bar soap for the regular family wash

Soap for the family washing different from anything you have ever used.

Soap so pure and cleansing that just soaking clothes in its big lasting suds loosens the dirt. Only a few pieces need to be rubbed—the very dirtiest. This is why Rinso is taking the place of bar soap in the family wash. Rinso suds work down into every fold and fibre, loosening the dirt without weakening a single thread. Use enough Rinso and you'll find that, at every step of the family wash, Rinso saves time and work.

As remarkable for the family wash as LUX is for fine laundering.
