BUTTING INTO NEWSPAPER WORK.

The newspaper editor is frequently asked whether he would advise young people to go into newspaper work, and if so how they would set out to enter that profession. It may be said in the first place, that a good newspaper man is born and not made. A person is not likely to make a success of it unless he feels a distinct liking for this kind of work. And if he does have that longing, he would better try it. It is not an easy life, and the money rewards do not compare with those in other callings. But people who like it find plenty of satisfactions by the way. Many ambitious young folks try to get a start by sending articles and stories to big city papers. This is a difficult way to get a start. These papers have a great deal more stuff offered them than they can plant. The easiest way for a young person of school age, is to report news from his school or neighborhood. That gives him an idea of news getting and experience will help him later. Most beginners have to start on some small city or town paper, and do very miscellaneous work. They will have to spend a great deal of time on small personal items and errand boy work. Thousands of successful newspaper men began life in the lowly position of the printer's devil. But ability is quickly recognized. So many people try newspaper work and make a failure of it, that there are always vacancies somewhere. Persistence, industry, observant habits of mind, accuracy, coupled with fair education and ability to tell a straight story, will carry a fellow a good way.

The compulsory school bill will quite likely meet defeat. The state has no right to assume an educational protectorate over the child, to the end that it may say just what school shall be patronized. The child belongs to the parents, who have rights which the state must respect if the government is to endure through the ages. Paternalism will eventually kill any government. Those eternal principles of truth laid down in the Declaration of Independence, and later embodied in the constitution of the United States, must be lived up to in letter and spirit. To attempt the suppression of those inalienable rights which are the heritage of every American, will breed trouble and disaster. We already have a compulsory school law, compelling attendance, and with the present statute requiring state supervision of private school policies, there can be nothing better.

We publish in this issue the formal program of Walter M. Pierce, which is devoted almost exclusively to the subject of taxation. In this program Mr. Pierce outlines the recommendations he will make and the action he will take if elected governor. It can be said to the credit of Mr. Pierce that he has conducted a clean and manly campaign. He has called nobody a bad name, nor has he indulged in personalities. His addresses have all been closely confined to the one subject of taxation. In his statement published today he takes a definite stand and makes definite promises. Every voter can determine by reading this statement whether he or she is in favor of Mr. Pierce's program and vote accordingly on election day.

Pupils in grade and high schools of the country who have access to the daily newspapers in their homes, when given tests along with students who are denied that privilege to a large extent, invariably prove to be better readers and spellers, keener grammarians and punctuators, grasp everyday problems with deeper appreciation, and obtain a wider knowledge of geography, and do all this in practically half the time. This is the observation of instructors, who allege that the present day daily newspaper is a most important factor in the education of American youth. These deductions will not be disputed by any one who has taken any thought of the issue or made a personal investigation of the matter.

The political pot is seething merrily, and from now on until the votes are counted there is bound to be a lot of campaigning. The big fight centers around the contest for governor, although the school bill has come in for a good share of attention. Locally there is some agitation over the county judgeship, with friends of the contestants working overtime in the interests of the candidates. Keen interest in these matters indicate that the people have pretty generally made up their minds concerning candidates and issues, and that a big vote will be polled.

A few days ago a gentleman from California arrived in Roseburg. He looked around and decided to stay in this city, which appealed to him as a good place to live. Endeavors to rent a house or secure desirable apartments were futile, so he selected a home that was for sale and paid spot cash for it in order to get a place to live. This incident merely shows that despite the many new houses built here during the summer that there is still a dearth of residences. There are no vacant houses, so it must be that Roseburg is growing even more rapidly than we think.

A farmer from the down river country sent in to the Roseburg market thirty young chickens, known in market parlance as "springers." The lot lacked only a pound or so of averaging four pounds each, and when weighed and value computed these fowls brought the owner over twenty-three dollars. It would appear from this incident that poultry raising in the Umpqua valley is a paying industry.

One thing can be truthfully said in regard to Governor Olcott's candidacy. His chances for election are two to one better today than they were two weeks ago.

One week from next Tuesday evening and the votes will be "bottled up" and the successful candidates announced.

At the best it looks like a close race between Ben and Walter.

WELCOME DOKKIES!

The camels are coming
 And the Dokkies are Riding 'em ragged
 And we'll bet the
 Steeds will be willing
 To hit the hay before
 The morning sun
 Sheds its rays
 Upon the Village.

Some of the local fellers were parading the main drag wearing fez hats which fit 'em like a perfume bottle cork fits a two gallon demijohn.

We'll bet the wimmin folks will be waiting a long time tonight before they hear their hubbies pounding at the front door.

One of the Dokkies dropped in our sanctum this a. m. and asked the address of some regular girl in the village and we handed him the telephone book.

THE DOKKIES' ANTHEM.
 I want a girl who is good and pretty,
 But not so good she cannot be witty,
 I want a girl who is saving and thrifty
 But not so saving she cannot dress nifty.
 I want a girl who can talk well of course,
 But who will not talk till she talks herself hoarse.
 I don't want a pipkin, a peach nor a pear,
 What I want is a regular girl.

The winner of a $10 prize in the Lawrence, Kan., Ford parade the other day won by reason of having a feisty radiator. He stopped three times for water during the progress of the parade.

SOMETHING IN THIS.
 "Yeah, let the wimmin smoke."
 "Huh?"
 "The reformers won't find it so easy to take our tobacco away from us."

I've often stopped to wonder
 At fates peculiar ways;
 For nearly all our famous men
 Were born on holidays.

Elmer Wimberly, Charley Hopkins and Cap Sutton were walking down the street today topped off with the Dokky fez and smoking Camel cigarettes. Regular Arabs, we'd say.

A PREDICTION.
 We predict we won't win that automobile at the fair tonight.

There is one distinguished mark between the stuff "Rip" drank and the stuff they are drinking now. That is, "Rip" woke up.

Mother and father and grandma who were visiting relatives were shocked to hear little Jack say grace after the following manner at dinner the other evening: "We thank Thee, Father, for food and friends, and all good things Thy mercy sends, please pass the potatoes."

Some people are absolutely punctual in being late.

Some folks make their joys mere incidents and their sorrows great events.

 A marriage license was held up for a few minutes in the probate judge's office at Topanga the other day while the groom called the bride on the telephone to find out her first name.

MORE OF A PROD.
 "Hit ain' so much what a man got gwine make him happy," said Charcoal Eph, ruminatively, "as what he wish he had dat he gwine go out 'an' git."

Drunken Fighter Fined This Morning

W. H. Lane was arrested yesterday evening by Officer Hodges, upon a charge of drunk and disorderly conduct and was fined $25 in the city court this morning. Lane is charged to have become intoxicated and started a fight with G. R. Marvin. Marvin is alleged to have nothing to do with starting the fight and only protected himself from Lane's attack. Lane when arrested by Officer Hodges endeavored several times to strike the policeman and it was not until he had been rapped over the head by the officer that he consented to walk to the jail quietly. He entered a plea of guilty upon his arraignment this morning.

Man and Wife Found Drunk

J. B. Selbert was arrested last night when he and his wife were found in a drunken and hilarious condition. Selbert was arraigned in the city jail this morning and entered a plea of guilty to drunk and disorderly conduct and was fined $25. His wife was reported to be ill this morning and the officers made a search of the home where they found a quantity of Vanilla extract, which it is alleged she was drinking for "medicine." No complaint was made against Mrs. Selbert.

had several drinks of liquor. She said she did not tell of this before as she wanted to keep the names of the men out of the case.

Waited for Victim to Appear.
 The defendant and Mrs. Caffee went directly to an auto park after arriving in Los Angeles on the day of the murder the witness testified and waited across the street until Mrs. Meadows started to drive out. The defendant approached the car and asked to be driven to her sister's home. Mrs. Caffee said, and after Mrs. Meadows had consented and Mrs. Phillips had introduced the witness they all got into the car. No address was given, but Mrs. Phillips directed which way to drive she said.

"After we got outside of town Mrs. Phillips said she wanted to speak to Mrs. Meadows," Mrs. Caffee said. "A little further along the road which was uphill, Mrs. Phillips said, 'stop here.' Mrs. Phillips got out of the car first, and asked us if we wanted a drink and produced a flask she had brought from Long Beach. Mrs. Meadows drank what remained in the bottle and threw it away. Mrs. Meadows and I then got out of the car. The motor was left running. Mrs. Meadows Denies Charge.

"Mrs. Phillips turned to Mrs. Meadows and said: 'My husband has purchased you tires and that steering wheel.' Mrs. Meadows replied, 'No, I purchased them.' Mrs. Phillips then struck her on the forehead with the hammer. Mrs. Meadows cried, 'Lady, save me.' As I turned toward Mrs. Phillips she swung around to me and said, '—you, get away, I'll kill you, get away.' I ran up the hill screaming and Mrs. Meadows ran down the hill screaming. After rounding a turn in the road I turned back after hearing voices. They were walking toward the car, arm in arm and talking. As we reached the machine Mrs. Phillips said, 'He also bought you that wrist watch.' Mrs. Meadows said she purchased it herself. 'He did,' cried Mrs. Phillips and struck her again with the hammer. I then ran down the road screaming again.

"Suddenly I became weak and must have fainted. Afterwards I looked up the road and saw her leaning over the body. The next I remember Mrs. Phillips drove the car up to me and told me to get in.

"As we were driving toward town she said, 'you remember Alberta Meadows admitted receiving those things from my husband.' I made no answer as I knew she did not. I asked her how she could go home and wasn't her conscience guilty. She replied, 'I would kill any woman who would take my husband.' As we got near town she mentioned that my face looked pale and said, 'Remember don't you tell your husband or I'll kill him.'"

AT THE CHURCHES.

First Church of Christ Scientist, 337 S. Jackson street. Services are held Sunday morning at 11 o'clock and Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. This meeting includes testimonies of healing. Sunday school convenes each Sunday morning at 9:45; all up to the age of 20 years are invited to attend. The reading room in the rear of the church building is open daily, except holidays and the subject of Sunday's sermon will be "Everlasting Punishment."

The Church of Christ in South Roseburg is progressing fairly well in all its services. Lord's Day services 10 to 12, and 7:00 p. m. Wednesday night, Bible class, at 7:30. The church of Christ is not handicapped by anything in name, origin, organization, doctrine or worship. In organization it has first elders, bishops, shepherds, overseers, which are one and the same class of officials. For proof see Acts 20:17 where Paul called the Elders and in verse 28 he calls them Overseers. Then, an Elder is an Overseer. In Titus 1:5 Paul says Elders and in verse 7 he says Bishops referring to the same class. Then an Elder is a Bishop and an Overseer. In 1 Peter 5:1-6 we learn that an Elder is a Shepherd. Second Deacons. The moral qualifications of the Deacons, should be the same as that of the Elders. The duty of the Deacons, being to serve the church in his Christ work, and look after its business and financial interests. See Acts 6:1-6. 1 Tim. 3:8-11 while the Elders are to take the oversight of the flock, looking after all spiritual needs. See 1 Tim. 3:7. Ac. 20:28. Heb. 13:7-17. Hence having a perfect guide, we can proceed with full assurance of being divinely guided.

Progeny of Woman 97 Years Old Is 184

(International News Service.)

HOMEDALE, Idaho, Oct. 28.—Celebrating her 97th birthday anniversary here, Mrs. Elizabeth Freeburn received congratulations from her 184 children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren. Mrs. Freeburn has 19 sons and daughters, 53 grandchildren, 109 great-grandchildren and 12 great-great-grandchildren. The oldest of the great-great-grandchildren is 26 months old. Having seen the fourth generation of her family, Mrs. Freeburn is anxious to live long enough to see the fifth. And she has a good chance of having this wish materialize. For despite her active life and the many hardships which she endured as a pioneer, she is unusually well and hardy for her years. She takes a keen interest in newspapers, especially in political news.

Born in Indiana in 1825, Mrs. Freeburn had married and migrated to Illinois by 1852, this being the first journey of a series of moves westward. In 1862 she and her husband found life too tame in the rapidly-developing state of Illinois and moved on to Hardin county, Iowa, where she was one of a band of pioneers who planned the first corn in that state. When Iowa settled up she emigrated to the state of Washington, and came to Homedale after the death of her husband, 20 years ago.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

TAX REDUCTION.

To the Editor News-Review:
 Walter M. Pierce's program of tax reduction is outstandingly the main issue in this campaign. It is the one issue that affects the economic life of the producer; therefore a great many of Oregon producers of wealth have given their support and endorsement to this program. Much that has been written and spoken upon this subject, are only opinions, derived from personal interests as from a desire to remain at the Public Pie Counter.

Mr. Pierce's program is not as it has been mislabeled and misquoted, to cut the tax levy from $40,000,000 to $20,000,000 in Oregon and to stop all development, and improvement, not to put the inmates of the state institutions on a diet of bread and water.

Mr. Pierce's program is to change the source of taxation, from an excessive property tax, to a just and equitable income tax and a production tax on both real and personal property that has an excessive or abnormal income.

Today the taxes on real property such as farm land and equipment are one half of the rental value and the producer cannot make a go of it.

On the other hand many foreign corporations and non resident individuals are exploiting the natural resources of Oregon; appropriating much of the mineral and timber wealth without taxation.

With fairness to all and malice to none.

Very truly yours,
 —LOUIS H. BERGOLD.

VITALITY

The Cave Man had no looks, no education, few efforts and knew nothing of hygiene. But in spite of his limitations he had one thing which some of his civilized descendants lack and that is sound teeth.

The reason for that was because he had a properly balanced diet.

It is today a recognized fact that a great percentage of human ills are traceable directly or indirectly to poor teeth.
