PIERCE'S APPEAL TO FARMERS FOR SUPPORT IS QUESTIONED

Roseburg, Oregon, Oct. 30th, 1922.

Editor News-Review:

An appeal to farmers to vote for Mr. Pierce for governor is an appeal to ingratitude. Though he claims now that he is not a party man, he received the democratic nomination at the primary. Everybody ought to remember how the farmer suffered from the fall in prices after the close of the war. The democratic party was in power at Washington more than two years after the war closed, but did nothing to relieve the farmer, and the farmer represents nearly half the population of the country. As soon as the republicans came into power, important laws were passed to help the farmer. The emergency tariff stopped importation of foreign wheat and other farm products. There was an addition of $25,000,000 to the funds to be loaned to the farmers through the federal land banks. The war finance corporation was revived and $500,000,000 was made available to buy American farm products for shipment abroad. The laws regulating the great meat-packing houses and cambium in futures were passed. All these laws are now bearing fruit in the return of prosperity to the farmer. President James R. Howard, of the American farm bureau federation, said the other day, as reported in the Oregon Journal, that the American farmers are about to enter a general era of prosperity which will be the greatest in the country's history.

Therefore, for a farmer to vote for a democrat for governor, who may have the appointment of a United States senator to war against the party that has done these things for him, is ingratitude. Because the low prices of farm products made taxes heavy to bear, Pierce would capitalize the feeling of discontent, for the purpose of landing in the governor's chair. Though he has been thirty years in office he has never had any serious care for the taxpayer, but has done as much as any man in Oregon to make taxes high. As a legislator he has voted for nearly every tax-increasing measure, also salary raises, and has introduced many such measures, himself. He even introduced a constitutional amendment to keep money, notes, accounts and credits off the tax rolls. Fine help that would have been for the farmer and land owner!

There are four things to be done about taxes, and the republican party has already undertaken them: 1. Maintain national policies restoring prosperity; and these have already been adopted. 2. Keep down expenditures; and the republican legislature has kept well within the six per cent limitation of our constitution. The great tax burden has been voted by the people at large, or by towns, parts, school districts, etc., over which the governor has no control. The state tax for 1922 will be one and one half millions less than last year, due to economy of the legislature of 1921, of which Mr. Pierce was not a member. 3. Place on the tax rolls a large volume of money, notes, accounts, bonds, and the like, which now pay no taxes. Governor Olcott's tax commission, appointed long before Pierce started his campaign, will report this winter, and the republican legislature is pledged to sane and conservative reform. 4. Keep Walter Pierce out of the governor's chair, because he is the greatest tax spender in the state of Oregon. His cry for lower taxes now is simply put forth to catch votes.

We all want lower taxes. Pierce has suggested no practical way to get them. He says now, in the last days of the campaign, that he would put a five per cent on the gross earnings of public service corporations, and not tax their tangible property. This money he would put into the state treasury, and thus the cities, towns, school districts and road districts would lose the taxes they now collect from the property of such corporations as the Southern Pacific and the Bell Telephone company. Furthermore, it has been shown that the five per cent he proposes would bring less money into the public treasury than we now get by taxing the tangible property of these corporations.

But even if we were to put on a

Applications Out for Auto License

SALEM, Oct. 30.—Letters 125-003, of them—containing application blanks and other documents necessary to the formal and peaceful separation of the Oregon motorist from his contribution to the automobile registration fund for 1923, were put into the mails here by Secretary of State Koser Friday. Assignment of the 1923 license plates will begin November 4, Koser explains, and those who prefer the small numbers are warned to return their applications at once.

Based upon the registration of more than 131,500 automobiles and trucks this year Koser estimates the 1923 registration at not less than 145,000 cars. Fees of the automobile department for this year will aggregate more than $3,300,000.

The tags for 1923 will consist of white figures and letters on a dark blue background in marked contrast to the yellow and black of the 1922 tags.

Masquerade Dance Tomorrow Night

A mass meeting of the spooks, hobgoblins and witches will be held tomorrow, Halloween night at the Maccabee hall, starting promptly at 8:30 o'clock when the big masquerade dance will take place. The Umpqua Five, with a full repertoire of spooky blues, will be attired in true Halloween costumes and judging from the number of masks being sold today by the local dealers, many of those who attend are planning to enter into the spirit of the occasion. The dance will be full of pep and zip, the committee announces, and some unique stunts are planned.

gross earnings tax that would bring more revenue, does anybody doubt that the public would have it to pay when using these public utilities? The burden would simply be shifted from one shoulder to the other, and it would fall largely upon those least able to pay, namely, the non-property owning class, who yet must needs patronize the public service corporations. Careful legislation for the public good, with justice to all, is one thing. Hysterical "yelling and hollering" to scare up votes is another.
