

Save Repairs Paint Now

It Costs More to Rot a Building Than to Paint It

A GOOD way to determine how much it costs to rot a building is to find out how much lumber, needed to repair or rebuild, would cost.

You'll find that it costs several times as much as the paint which saves repairs. Paint your buildings when they need it. Rotting property is wasteful and extravagant.

The most economical paint, in the long run, is the best paint. It's easy to apply—saves labor cost. It covers more area per gallon than "cheap" paint.

The best paint serves five or more years longer than "cheap" paint.

The best paint is economical because it is scientific in formula and preparation. It is right.

We've made best paints for 73 years—to meet the weather conditions in the West. They contain the finest materials—PIONEER WHITE LEAD, pure linseed oil, pure zinc, and pure colors—combined in scientifically exact proportions with long-time skill.

Free Advice on Painting

Ask our agent for advice, color cards, etc. Ask the Fuller Specification Department about the most desirable color schemes, color harmony and any other details.

Makers of Rubber Cement, Floor Paint, All-Purpose Emulsion, Silken-White Enamel, Fifteen-for-One Varnish, Washable Wall Finish, Auto Enamel, Barn and Roof Paint, Porch and Step Paint, and PIONEER WHITE LEAD.

Fuller's SPECIFICATION House Paints

Phoenix Pure Paint Pure Prepared Paint

Manufactured by W. P. Fuller & Co., Dept. 27, San Francisco

Branches in 19 Cities in the West

SAVE THE MEMO BELOW—CUT IT OUT AND PASTE IT IN YOUR NOTE BOOK

My house needs painting. Fuller's Specification House Paints are sold by the following Agents:

Marsters Drug Co.

ROSEBURG, OREGON

Geo. A. Brown

YONCALLA, OREGON

Lustrous, Sheer Silk Stockings

Every woman will love these lustrous silk stockings... anyone can now afford the luxury of silken clad feet.

Iron-Clad No. 903 are pure thread silk hose with 3 inch elastic hem top—a stop ravel seam that prevents runs—four ply heel and toe, high spliced silk heel, back seam and fashion marks. See these beautiful stockings which have all the appearance of full fashioned hose and unexcelled comfort in the foot.

Their handsome appearance and low cost justify the purchase of several pairs. All popular colors may be had—all sizes.

I. ABRAHAM
ROSEBURG, OREGON

General Building Material

CEMENT SHINGLES BRICK
LATH PLASTER LIME
SEWER PIPE LUMBER ROOFING
REINFORCING STEEL

L. W. METZGER

Contractor and Builder.

MOORE MUSIC STORE

"MORE MUSIC"

PIANOS—PLAYERS—DUO-ARTS—EVERYTHING MUSICAL

324 N. Jackson St.

Phone 562

DEVELOPMENT

DEVELOPMENT MEANS IMPROVEMENT. WE ARE IMPROVING OUR FACILITIES EVERY DAY FOR THE BETTERMENT OF SERVICE.

We cannot grow faster than the surrounding country, though we have to keep far in advance of our present needs. Thus maintaining a larger investment than ordinarily required.

WE ARE PREPARED TO SERVE YOUR EVERY NEED AT A MOMENT'S NOTICE WITH ECONOMY TO YOU.

Douglas County Light & Water Co

R. M. JENNINGS, Manager.

OFFICIAL FILINGS DOUGLAS COUNTY

DAILY RECORD OF INSTRUMENTS FILED WITH COUNTY CLERK AND PLACED UPON RECORD.

(Compiled by Douglas Abstract Co., Roseburg.)

The following instruments were presented to the county clerk today for filing and are being placed upon the county records:

51072. Sat. Mtg. Pac. Sav. & Loan Assn. $200. 35 M. Page 32.

51073. Sat. Mtg. Pac. Sav. & Loan Assn. 35 M. Page 466. $809.

51074. Mtg. I. O. O. F. Lodge 248, to T. W. Augus, $3000. N. part lot 3 blk. 49 town; Reg. at NE cor. lot then S. 110 ft., then at right angles in W. direction 50 ft. then at right angles N. 110 ft., then at right angles 50 ft. to beg. R. R. Add. Reedsport.

51075. Sat. Mtg. Mrs. L. F. Meagher to A. W. Hartley, 34 M. page 506. Beg. at pt. 23.34 ch. S. 35.35 ch. W. from NW cor. R. W. Cowles Don. Cl. 41 ft. 60.5, then S. 1 degree 30 minutes E. 11.56 ch. then W. to S. Imp. then N. following meanderings to pt. W. of beg. then E. to beg., being part Cowles Cl. 41, to 30.5, and R. W. Cowles Cl. 37, to 30.5.

51076. W. D. John Hanks, to L. L. Perdue, $300. Pool Hall.

51077. Sat. Mtg. A. Andrews to H. W. Andrews, $2000. 34 M. page 614.

51078. Par. Rel. Mtg. R. Farnsworth to E. F. Simpson, $1000. 38 M. page 533. Beg. at pt. in road from which NW cor. Cl. 37, sec. 19 26.8 bears N. 63 minutes E. 206.4 ft. S. 82 degrees 13 minutes W. 78 ft. to pipe in road, S. 63 degrees 40 minutes W. 267.85 ft. to bar in road then S. 65 degrees 32 minutes W. 164.6 ft. to pipe in road then N. 28 degrees W. 619.8 ft. to pipe then N. 89 degrees 31 minutes E. 481.8 ft. to pipe then S. 27 minutes E. 381.9 ft. to beg. con 5.11 acres.

51079. W. D. E. D. Simpson to W. J. Vague, $1200. Same doc. at 51078.

51080. Assumed Business Name. J. A. Denn Powder Co.

51081. Sat. Mtg. Blanche Clough to C. E. Hager, 38 M. page 534.

51082. Q. C. Deed. E. H. Lenox to Emma J. Lenox, $1. Beg. at pt. from which SE exterior L. corner A. Rose Cl. pt. 27.5, bears N. 2 degrees W. 407.2 ft. then N. 67 degrees E. 106.4 ft. S. 44 degrees 25 minutes E. 237.4 ft. then W. 256.6 ft. N. 120.1 ft. to beg. also beg. at pt. which bears S. 47 degrees 37 minutes E. 59.63 ft. from NE cor. lot 3 blk. E. Flints Add. to Roseburg, then S. 45 degrees E. 134 ft. then S. 67 degrees W. 91 ft. N. 5 1/2 degrees W. 122.5 ft. to beg. Circuit Court.

Glendale State Bank vs. Leo. L. Yokum. Suit to foreclose chattel Mtg. City of Roseburg vs. Southern Ore. Gas Co. Lots 6, 7, 8, 2nd R. R. Addition Roseburg

SPECIAL FOR 2 DAYS ONLY.

Fancy and extra fancy Grimes Golden apples, standard pack, $1 per box delivered in town. C. O. D. Leave orders at Umpqua hotel. Henry Oelkers, Garden Valley.

EIGHTH BORN CHILD BEST PHYSICALLY, SAYS LONDON M. D.

(International News Service.)

LONDON, Nov. 1.—"The first child has the worst record for disease and the eighth child and upward the best." This is the result of an exhaustive inquiry made by Dr. R. H. Vercoe among the school children of Essex.

"Eighth children," he says, "are inferior to none and superior to the oldest children in small families."

In intelligence, weight, height, and other qualities the differences are slight, but the following are noted.

Intelligence rises slightly from first child to third, then drops to the 6th and rises again to the eighth.

The eldest child, as a rule, has the lightest colored eyes, while the 8th has the darkest. In defects of vision the first and second children are the worst, while the third child comes out best. In general defects the first child is slightly the worst and the 8th by far the best.

Painless extraction of teeth at room 9, Masonic Temple. Dr. Norbas.

MOURNERS DIG GRAVE

(International News Service.)

BELFAST, Nov. 1.—Grave diggers at the Milltown cemetery went on strike, but when a funeral arrived the mourners left their backs and dug the grave.

Chiffon velvet has the preference for the formal gown and is favored in shades of rose, jade, sapphire blue and amber. When tightly draped about the figure, the velvet gown is usually unadorned, except for the crystal or rhinestone buckle which holds the sides drawn in place.

In the straight-line models, which fall from the shoulder and only slightly emphasize the figure, these velvets are as a rule heavily beaded in crystal or steel beads or trimmed in ermine.

The bouffant types, with the distended hip line, often have flowers of metallic cloth applied in wreath design just above the wide scalloped hem. In nearly every instance the evening gown for this year is left entirely sleeveless, though the shoulder is cut a trifle wider than formerly.

As a trimming for the velvet gown, ermine undoubtedly holds the lead. It is prettily used on a gown of bottle-green as a narrow border for the circular hem, as a neck and arm finish and in the twisted girdle. Again it is seen on a long-beaded gown of black velvet outlining the side panels. Black is usually ornamented in some way this season; either in beading, in silver lace or with touches of fur.

Jenny is responsible for a lovely flame colored gown which has long, silver-lined panels falling from the waist and a silver beaded belt. Many of the Jenny models show a sharply defined contrast between the bodice and skirt. A pretty frock utilizing this idea has a white velvet-beaded bodice and black velvet skirt joined at the low waist line with a rolled puff of black velvet. Brocade materials used as bodices and combined with plain skirts also follow the above plan and for the home dressmaker this is perhaps the easiest of the elaborate models which permits copying.

Entire gowns of brocade metallic cloth are noticed among the imports. One attractive gown of this type is of gold and orange brocade trimmed about the hem with a border of black monkey fur.

For the dancing frock, chiffon is considered the smartest as well as the most serviceable material. It is especially nice on the young girl whose proportions do not permit the wearing of the more sumptuous velvets.

A gown, designed especially for the mademoiselle, has a long, slender bodice of blue, taffeta with a skirt of many tiers of chiffon of the same shade of blue, gathered into ruffles. Lavender velvet roses finish the low waist line and the off-the-shoulder neckline. The young miss of this season prefers quaint, quaint types of frocks with the slightly vared hips to the form fitting silhouettes. Where one has square, ungainly shoulders, the bertha effects may be used in preference to the wide shoulder line, that it would make you happier to be parted from her. You are and were all-in-all to Sheila.

"And to think this silly idea of self-sacrifice is the reason you have been making such a show of yourself." I went on angrily. "Well, just let me tell you what you have done, Phillip Spencer. You have sold your wedded birthright for a mess of porridge."

"Oh, I am not excusing myself, Phil," I went on. "I am partly in blame for the entire affair. I counseled Sheila to marry you without telling you the trouble she had got into through the father of that fiendish Susanne. You see she is still practicing her father's methods to get what she desires."

"But if these same circumstances were reversed, Phil, no man would have told the girl he was to marry anything. He would have said to himself: 'I'll just shut this book and paste those pages together.'"

"That is just what I tried to do with Sheila," interrupted Phil, "when she came to me and tried to tell me the story of her arrest. That is just why I insisted upon her marrying me then and there. I intended that the book should be kept closed and the pages pasted together."

"Wait a minute, Phil. The telephone is ringing."

I took down the receiver to hear Tony Soper's voice.

"Ray, is Sheila with you? Isn't she still at the hotel?"

"Oh G—, where can she be?" I heard him exclaim. And then as though he had turned to the phone again, "I went downstairs to telephone for a nurse to stay with Sheila when you were not with her. When I got back she was gone."

Tomorrow—An Impending Conflict.

HOLIDAY STATIONERY.

Place your order now for engraved Christmas announcements. This is a clever way to remember your friends.

The News-Review is showing a beautiful line of engraved goods, both in Christmas announcements, calling cards and wedding stationery. Call and see our line of fine engravings.

Plate Glass in Door is Broken

A plate glass in the door at the Service garage, was broken late yesterday evening by a small rock, which passed clear through the heavy plate into Glenn Taylor's office. The rock, about the size of a goose egg, probably fell from the load of some gravel truck, and laid in the street until an auto came along and was struck in just the right way to throw it violently to one side. The glass broken was more than two feet wide and over five feet long, and very heavy, but the rock went through like a bullet, and was found inside.

CHAMBERLAIN'S TABLETS

FOR CONSTIPATION BILIOUSNESS Headache INDIGESTION Stomach Trouble

SOLD EVERYWHERE.

Velvet, Chrystal and Silver

For Formal Evening Gowns

By HEDDA HOYT

(Written for the United Press.)

NEW YORK, October 31.—(United Press.)—It is a fallacy this fall to attempt to describe any certain type of silhouette or material for the formal evening gown. It simply cannot be done. Materials have never been so varied nor have they been used in such elaborate combinations. The silhouette has but one universal idea—length.

One may be straight-lined, semi-draped, or tightly swathed as a mummy, or as bouffant as an early Victorian, and still be in style if one has length of hemline.

Chiffon velvet has the preference for the formal gown and is favored in shades of rose, jade, sapphire blue and amber. When tightly draped about the figure, the velvet gown is usually unadorned, except for the crystal or rhinestone buckle which holds the sides drawn in place.

In the straight-line models, which fall from the shoulder and only slightly emphasize the figure, these velvets are as a rule heavily beaded in crystal or steel beads or trimmed in ermine.

The bouffant types, with the distended hip line, often have flowers of metallic cloth applied in wreath design just above the wide scalloped hem. In nearly every instance the evening gown for this year is left entirely sleeveless, though the shoulder is cut a trifle wider than formerly.

As a trimming for the velvet gown, ermine undoubtedly holds the lead. It is prettily used on a gown of bottle-green as a narrow border for the circular hem, as a neck and arm finish and in the twisted girdle. Again it is seen on a long-beaded gown of black velvet outlining the side panels. Black is usually ornamented in some way this season; either in beading, in silver lace or with touches of fur.

Jenny is responsible for a lovely flame colored gown which has long, silver-lined panels falling from the waist and a silver beaded belt. Many of the Jenny models show a sharply defined contrast between the bodice and skirt. A pretty frock utilizing this idea has a white velvet-beaded bodice and black velvet skirt joined at the low waist line with a rolled puff of black velvet. Brocade materials used as bodices and combined with plain skirts also follow the above plan and for the home dressmaker this is perhaps the easiest of the elaborate models which permits copying.

Entire gowns of brocade metallic cloth are noticed among the imports. One attractive gown of this type is of gold and orange brocade trimmed about the hem with a border of black monkey fur.

For the dancing frock, chiffon is considered the smartest as well as the most serviceable material. It is especially nice on the young girl whose proportions do not permit the wearing of the more sumptuous velvets.

A gown, designed especially for the mademoiselle, has a long, slender bodice of blue, taffeta with a skirt of many tiers of chiffon of the same shade of blue, gathered into ruffles. Lavender velvet roses finish the low waist line and the off-the-shoulder neckline. The young miss of this season prefers quaint, quaint types of frocks with the slightly vared hips to the form fitting silhouettes. Where one has square, ungainly shoulders, the bertha effects may be used in preference to the wide shoulder line, that it would make you happier to be parted from her. You are and were all-in-all to Sheila.

"And to think this silly idea of self-sacrifice is the reason you have been making such a show of yourself." I went on angrily. "Well, just let me tell you what you have done, Phillip Spencer. You have sold your wedded birthright for a mess of porridge."

"Oh, I am not excusing myself, Phil," I went on. "I am partly in blame for the entire affair. I counseled Sheila to marry you without telling you the trouble she had got into through the father of that fiendish Susanne. You see she is still practicing her father's methods to get what she desires."

"But if these same circumstances were reversed, Phil, no man would have told the girl he was to marry anything. He would have said to himself: 'I'll just shut this book and paste those pages together.'"

"That is just what I tried to do with Sheila," interrupted Phil, "when she came to me and tried to tell me the story of her arrest. That is just why I insisted upon her marrying me then and there. I intended that the book should be kept closed and the pages pasted together."

"Wait a minute, Phil. The telephone is ringing."

I took down the receiver to hear Tony Soper's voice.

"Ray, is Sheila with you? Isn't she still at the hotel?"

"Oh G—, where can she be?" I heard him exclaim. And then as though he had turned to the phone again, "I went downstairs to telephone for a nurse to stay with Sheila when you were not with her. When I got back she was gone."

Tomorrow—An Impending Conflict.

HOLIDAY STATIONERY.

Place your order now for engraved Christmas announcements. This is a clever way to remember your friends.

The News-Review is showing a beautiful line of engraved goods, both in Christmas announcements, calling cards and wedding stationery. Call and see our line of fine engravings.

What Happened When Sheila Elliston Refused Love

By Idah McGlone Gibson

Sacrificed for Love.

I left Phil to his bitter reflections for some moments. He wore the air of a man who had made an unalterable decision. But he was calmer now—more self-contained.

"I am glad, Phil, that you have at last got a glimmering that it was you and not your happiness that Susanne Jones wanted," I ventured. Then added:

"Some of my sex, Phil, get such occasional. Their love affairs have been the black pages of history all down through the annals of time."

This was a new idea to Phil and I think he saw the truth of it for he wanted to continue the story of his affair with Sue so I might understand and advise him what course to pursue. Phil learned about women from me.

I began to get very restive. I wanted to find out how Sheila was. It had been a long while since I had promised Tony Soper that I would hurry to the hotel where she was ill, but I did not dare to go to the phone again until I was sure just what position Phil would take in regard to Tony, and how much he would believe of what I would tell him.

Phil would not be hurried. He was so engrossed in his own affairs that manlike, he never noticed my impatience.

Besides, as he told me afterward, he thought Sheila was safe at home.

Again in the car," he continued going back to his story, "I turned about and faced Sue. Again she drew near me."

"Phil," she whispered, 'you know I love you—love you as no other woman will ever love you. I love you so much that I have been willing to give up that which most women value more than life.'

"My reputation has meant nothing to me, Phil, if keeping it means losing you."

"For once the lady told the truth," I commented, fully realizing that while Phil was telling me of this devotion to Sheila he was still somewhat flattered at the sacrifice that Sue had made for him.

"Yes," he said simply. "I can never doubt Susanne Jones' love for me. She has given me proof of that in a way that most women would shrink from. She reminded me of this in the car. She said to me that she would never live if I left her."

"I thought, Phil," continued Sue, "that all we had to do was to make ourselves conspicuous and Sheila's pride would be so outraged that she would seize the opportunity to gain her freedom with alimony so she might marry—to suit her inclination."

"Idiot!" I again muttered with a groan.

This time Phil heard it. "Perhaps," Phil acquiesced quietly, "but other men have done the same thing you know, Ray."

"Only a few years ago the newspapers were full of a celebrated case where the wife claimed the husband had been seen abroad with a very celebrated descendant of Phryne."

"She obtained her divorce and a large settlement married the man she had been in love with, and presumably lived happily ever afterward."

"The friends of both parties knew that the husband had sacrificed himself to let his wife, whom he loved devotedly, gain a divorce and marry his best friend whom she had confessed to him she loved."

"But Sheila, Phil," he had not confessed to you that she loves anyone else. On the contrary, I happen to know that if she had used your dereliction to obtain a divorce, it would have been because she thought you had found out that you had made a mistake and that it would make you happier to be parted from her. You are and were all-in-all to Sheila.

"And to think this silly idea of self-sacrifice is the reason you have been making such a show of yourself." I went on angrily. "Well, just let me tell you what you have done, Phillip Spencer. You have sold your wedded birthright for a mess of porridge."

"Oh, I am not excusing myself, Phil," I went on. "I am partly in blame for the entire affair. I counseled Sheila to marry you without telling you the trouble she had got into through the father of that fiendish Susanne. You see she is still practicing her father's methods to get what she desires."

"But if these same circumstances were reversed, Phil, no man would have told the girl he was to marry anything. He would have said to himself: 'I'll just shut this book and paste those pages together.'"

"That is just what I tried to do with Sheila," interrupted Phil, "when she came to me and tried to tell me the story of her arrest. That is just why I insisted upon her marrying me then and there. I intended that the book should be kept closed and the pages pasted together."

"Wait a minute, Phil. The telephone is ringing."

I took down the receiver to hear Tony Soper's voice.

"Ray, is Sheila with you? Isn't she still at the hotel?"

"Oh G—, where can she be?" I heard him exclaim. And then as though he had turned to the phone again, "I went downstairs to telephone for a nurse to stay with Sheila when you were not with her. When I got back she was gone."

Tomorrow—An Impending Conflict.

HOLIDAY STATIONERY.

Place your order now for engraved Christmas announcements. This is a clever way to remember your friends.

The News-Review is showing a beautiful line of engraved goods, both in Christmas announcements, calling cards and wedding stationery. Call and see our line of fine engravings.

Plate Glass in Door is Broken

A plate glass in the door at the Service garage, was broken late yesterday evening by a small rock, which passed clear through the heavy plate into Glenn Taylor's office. The rock, about the size of a goose egg, probably fell from the load of some gravel truck, and laid in the street until an auto came along and was struck in just the right way to throw it violently to one side. The glass broken was more than two feet wide and over five feet long, and very heavy, but the rock went through like a bullet, and was found inside.

CHAMBERLAIN'S TABLETS

FOR CONSTIPATION BILIOUSNESS Headache INDIGESTION Stomach Trouble

SOLD EVERYWHERE.

Velvet, Chrystal and Silver

For Formal Evening Gowns

By HEDDA HOYT

(Written for the United Press.)

NEW YORK, October 31.—(United Press.)—It is a fallacy this fall to attempt to describe any certain type of silhouette or material for the formal evening gown. It simply cannot be done. Materials have never been so varied nor have they been used in such elaborate combinations. The silhouette has but one universal idea—length.

One may be straight-lined, semi-draped, or tightly swathed as a mummy, or as bouffant as an early Victorian, and still be in style if one has length of hemline.

Chiffon velvet has the preference for the formal gown and is favored in shades of rose, jade, sapphire blue and amber. When tightly draped about the figure, the velvet gown is usually unadorned, except for the crystal or rhinestone buckle which holds the sides drawn in place.