STREET IMPROVEMENT AND PAVING.

Next to the intimate question of good schools for the children, there is no question that comes home so closely to the voters and business men of any community as that of well built and well kept streets. The surface of the streets is to a community, what the parlor or the living room is to the home. It is the place where a town receives its guests and where it performs the daily functions of its existence. Poorly repaired streets particularly in the center of a town, produce precisely the effect on strangers as if your rooms where you receive friends were full of broken furniture and carpets full of holes. They spread abroad the idea that a place is decadent, unsuccessful. Not merely do they affect the mind of the visitor in this way, but the man who runs into mud puddles, holes in paving, or depressions that toss him into the air in his swiftly moving motorcar, finds riding through the place an experience to be dodged if possible. Highway improvement is a progressive science that changes from year to year as traffic changes. The kind of road building that was favored 10 years ago seems outlawed now, with the tremendous strain being placed on the roads by motor-cars and trucks. Macadam streets which when laid seemed likely to be permanent as the old Roman roads, are fraying out under tests which the makers never foresaw. The sentiment among street construction people today, is to find something permanent even if the temporary cost is higher. Where a macadam street seemed amply sufficient only a short time ago, the time has come now when the centers of most towns of any size will need some more permanent form of paving.

Two years ago many persons of bolshevist sympathies in this country were apologizing for the soviet movement in Russia and arguing that it had been terribly misrepresented and lied about, that it was really a sincere effort to benefit humanity. But the real truth about this movement is coming out. The official figures of the number of Russians executed by the soviet authorities, now show that 1,76,118 were put to death by these bloody butchers. Russia has the richest natural resources of any country in the world. It suffered severely under the war, but if it had had a decent government, its natural wealth is so great that it would be prosperous today. The soviets took it, reduced it to starvation, and killed nearly 2,000,000 people by brutal murder in order to terrorize opposition. American apologists for this record of horror should go over there to live and see how they like it.

Many girls give the excuse for using some form of facial decoration, that their natural faces are so pale and sallow as to spoil their appearance. It is too bad that these girls do not realize how greatly they could improve their looks by active exercise. If they have some serious physical trouble, no amount of paint will make them look well. If they haven't and if they will go in for tennis and basket ball and other games, their faces will brighten up and their whole aspect will change. Color gained in that way has a charm that no artificial tinting can ever rival. A vigorous and active life is the best creator of beauty.

As per usual, the News-Review delivered the goods in the way of giving the public prompt election returns. The people of this neck of the woods always know for the very best of service their home paper has the world beat.

The mudslinging is over—the atmosphere has cleared and the barge left this morning for Salt Creek where defeated candidates will find grazing mighty fine for the next few weeks.

Put on the soft pedal, Mr. Pierce, don't cut our taxes half in two as soon as you get in the chief executive's chair. We're not prepared for any hard jolts.

Douglas county has again proven to the state that Governor Olcott's popularity here is just about as unpopular as it was at the last primary election.

Baldheaded men will now be quite popular since this state has elected a governor who has about as much wool on his head as a new born babe.

Did somebody say that our old friend, "Nap" Rice, would be defeated? Well, if they did, their guessing box was cracked.

"Bill" Cobb made a wonderful race. Nobody had anything over him as a vote getter—and Bill is a mighty good loser.

We wonder what Governor Olcott thinks about his popularity as a candidate in the arena for governor.

Where was the vote-er-straight contingent yesterday. Looks like they're all democrats.

And the town went "wet" this morning—after a very lively city and county election.

No small sum of money changed hands in the city on yesterday's election.

Shake, old boy. You are some single-handed campaigner, Walter.

And Ben Olcott ran true to color—but the colors were badly mixed.

You never bought anything "as good as new" unless it was new.

GOOD EVENING FOLKS—

This is the morning after
 The dirty day before
 And we hope the Mud slinging will
 Discontinue in spite
 Of the wet weather.

Quite a few of the candidates are grinning today and quite a few are not.

Good old Nap Rice walked away with the majority honors and as his first official act he plans to plant wild flowers in the front lawn of the city hall.

It was a hoos race between Quine and Cobb with a few jackasses making bright remarks now and then.

The aviation field was defeated. Gosh, we're sorry, but if the planes want to they can land in our back yard.

Bill Whipple made a good race as he was running against time.

The night cops lost a lot of sleep last night on account of several impromptu battles staged about the bulletin board.

Judging from some of the arguments we heard it was mostly BULL—tin board.

The last boat for Salt Creek leaves when the final count is received.

Radio Bellows was oscillating fine last night and entertained the gang with melodies from all parts of the universe. A few of the knockers were present for a while but their wit didn't get by with the bunch so well and they were forced to "pipe down."

Wally Pierce, who will now get his long-hoped-for chance to slash taxes, certainly made a pretty race against Benny Olcott, who never was elected governor of Oregon, and never will be.

And then it rained some more. But some of the boys were snowed under.

O gosh, we're glad another election is off our chest. It's mighty hard to keep shaking hands with all the candidates and promising all of 'em that you'll vote for 'em.

When a defeated candidate pays the bill the old saying "like paying for a dead horse," assumes its full and true meaning.

Yesterday being election day, all of the saloons were closed and the bootleggers had padlocks on their hip-sockets.

We're glad we've got a new mayor and city council because the conductor of this colyum was getting durn tired cracking jokes at the expense of Walt Hamilton and the remainder of the fellows.

And now that it is all over we want to take off our hat to Wait. He was a good mayor, a good sport, and a regular feller. You have to be all three of those to stand the grift of the alleged puns hurled at you through this medium.

Nap Rice can now expect his share of gags during the time he spends in office.

We noticed a staid business man who heretofore has never broke out with anything flashy standing in front of the bulletin board. This morning carrying his wife's pink parasol.

Tom Rafferty, the hard-boiled chief of traffic cops in the state, is in our midst and we are all hardly getting 10 miles per out of our flivvers.

The Poor old skull in our window was forgotten for a short time last night.

SEEMS SO.
 "Necessity knows no law."
 "Especially when thirsty."

A flapper is known by the car she keeps out of, also by the roads she keeps off of while in the car.

After all the porch swing is a safer place for genuine courtship than an automobile. For you never hear of a locomotive bunting a porch swing off the road.

THE MOST SERVICEABLE CROWNS.
 Some people may wear gold crowns, but they are on their teeth and not on their heads.

Of all the girls that are so sweet, There's none like pretty Sally. She has a dimple on her knee, She rouged it in our alley.

As a rule, automobiles are as safe as the drivers. Boost, and the world boosts with you; Knock and you're on the shelf; For the world gets sick of the one who kicks, And wishes he'd kick himself.

Diligence is the mother of good luck.

TWAS EVER THUS.
 The other night I met a girl, She was dressed without a speck; A clean white dress and nice white shoes— But, O, my gosh! her neck!

Judge is Peeved;
Wife's Dog Killed

PALO ALTO, Nov. 8.—(United Press.)—It's all right for a judge to be judicial, and impartial, and decide cases without prejudice or favor or personal interest, but when a man kills his wife's pet dog, well, that's another matter.

A speeding autoist recently ran over and killed the pet dog of Judge E. D. Lakin, of this city.

Now Judge Lakin declares that speeders may expect no leniency in his court.

Regarding the killing of his wife's pet Irish setter, Judge Lakin said, while denouncing speeders in general: "It is true that it is only a dog, but the speeder's victim might easily have been someone's baby."

Mrs. Wilson Nichols

If You're a Young Woman or Even in Middle Life

Here is Some Good Advice for You From a Prominent Woman.

Seattle, Wash.—"I can say that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has done me more good than any other medicine. It is the all-around medicine for women for their trials and troubles at most any age. It is a wonderful medicine for the many weaknesses peculiar to women. I am taking it at the present time; it relieves me of gas on the stomach, palpitation of the heart, cramps in the feet and limbs, heat flashes, nervousness, and other symptoms common to women in middle life. I haven't found anything that gives such relief. It gives me pep and makes me feel full of life like I used to be."—Mrs. Wilson Nichols, 1522 24 Ave., West.

Women who suffer from headache, backache, flashes of heat, dizziness, fainting spells, nervousness or exhaustion, should go at once to their neighborhood druggist and get a bottle of Favorite Prescription. In tablets or liquid. Or write Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for free medical advice.

Big Program for Home Coming Week

EUGENE, Nov. 8.—(Special.)—An outstanding feature of the University of Oregon Homecoming celebration will be a ceremony staged on the afternoon of November 11 in which alumni and former students of colleges and universities other than Oregon will be "adopted" by the state university. The ceremony will be held in the intermission between the halves of the Oregon-Washington State College game.

Plans for the celebration are in the hands of the Homecoming committee of which Maybell Miller of Roseburg is a member.

Many hundreds of college men whose alma maters are in the east, middle west, south and west but who make their homes in Oregon will attend the Homecoming exercises. Recently presidents of a number of institutions have suggested to their graduates that they "adopt" the university in the state in which they live. A bond between these collegians and the University of Oregon will be created by means of the adoption ceremony.

President P. L. Campbell of the University will welcome the visiting collegians in a short address. They will formally express their interest in the welfare of Oregon and indicate their willingness to be adopted sons and daughters.

The adoption ceremony is only one of several features that will be inaugurated at Homecoming this year. The exchange of "ambassadors" between the University of Oregon and the University of Washington will establish a Homecoming custom. Oregon and Washington hold their Homecoming celebrations on the same dates this year.

Richard Shore Smith of Eugene, one time all-American football and for five years a star player with the University of Oregon football team, will represent Oregon on the Washington campus. After leaving Oregon Mr. Smith played in the Columbia University backfield and in his day was one of the greatest players in the east. Judge King Dyleman of Seattle, one of the leading jurists of the state of Washington, will represent the U. of W. He was for two years president of the University of Washington Alumni association.

Homecoming at Oregon begins with a big rally on the campus on the evening of Friday, Nov. 10. The Homecoming parade in which all campus organizations will take part will be held preceding the rally. A display of fireworks will be a feature.

Saturday morning the R. O. T. C. of the university will march in the Armistice Day parade together with undergraduates who saw service. The University of Oregon alumni luncheon is scheduled for Saturday noon and the Homecoming game will be played on Hayward field in the afternoon. Alumni and undergraduates will dance in the National Guard armory Saturday evening. The freshmen, sophomore dance will be held in the Women's Building.

A number of important matters of interest to the alumni will be discussed at the alumni association meeting at Homecoming.

President Robert B. Kuykendall will preside.

HOLIDAY STATIONERY.

Place your order now for engraved Christmas announcements. This is a clever way to remember your friends. The News-Review is showing a beautiful line of engraved goods, both in Christmas announcements, calling cards and wedding stationery. Call and see our line of fine engravings.

FROM MELROSE AND ELGAROSE

A large crowd attended the social at the Melrose Grange hall Saturday night, Nov. 4. Fortune telling, games and eats were in order for the evening, while many merely sat and watched. The grange ladies realized quite a sum for their efforts.

The Lutheran League of the Elgarose Swedish church will hold its monthly meeting at the church on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 12, at 2 o'clock.

Following are some of the numbers on the program for the Elgarose box social to be held at the school house on the evening of Nov. 11.

Song contest, . . . Primary vs. Upper Grades.
 Reading, . . . "Naughty Zett"
 Noelle Pickens.
 Dialogue, . . . "The Whipping Johnnie Didn't Get."
 Basket Ball Game, . . . Pickens vs. Anderson.
 Reading, . . . "An Elevator Love Affair"—Clara Anderson.
 Song, . . . "H. P. Conn's Farm."
 Will you come and enjoy yourselves with us? You know we have gravelled roads all the way to our school house now.

TEN MILE AND VICINITY

Mrs. R. E. Klemm of Roseburg spent the week end at Olalia visiting friends.

Charlie Balld started for Bandon the 5th with a truck load of peaches and apples. Mr. and Mrs. Grafton Trier accompanied him and expect to visit friends in Bandon for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Hinkle were Olalia visitors Sunday.

Mrs. George Swift is visiting at the Hoffman home in Happy Valley. Word has been received of the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Carl DeArmand of Sevier, Oregon. Mrs. DeArmand was formerly Miss Bee Pierce of Ten Mile.

The Viewers and Surveyors have been out looking over the location for a road connecting the Olalia road with the highway. The Olalia school gave a Social Saturday evening and had a fine time. The program was good and showed careful training of the children. The proceeds were to help buy a school organ.

Your Druggist Recommends Tanlac

because it has demonstrated its true worth over a long period of years.

He has sold it to thousands of satisfied customers and has seen them regain their normal health and strength by its use.

He knows that as a stomach corrective and general tonic medicine it has no equal.

Over 30,000,000 bottles of Tanlac have been sold, which is still more conclusive evidence to him and to you of its unparalleled merit.
