According to the latter today, Mr. Jennison recently drove nine head of beef cattle to market, and says: 'got, or will get, 3-4 of cent per pound for them on foot.' Eggs are bringing the farmer the magnificent price of 7 1-4 cents per dozen, and a five pound Plymouth Rock springer is worth only 20 cents. Mr. Jennison states that cents. Mr. Jennison states that his hay crops were short, and that with 25 head of cattle to feed he will have hard work to get through the winter with them on what has in the stack or barn.

TURKEYS MAY BE VERY SCARCE

Reports From All Over Country Show That Turkeys Are Not Ready.

Possibility Mentioned That Great Many Birds Held For Holidays Will Result In Low Prices At That Time.

Reports from various parts of the . early this afternoon, country indicate that turkey growers all over the land are noiding up their turkeys for the Christmas trade and that as a result there is apt to be a shortage for Thanksgiving, while there is a possibility also that because of the great many held for the hollday market the price at that time will not be good. At the present time the indications are that the local market of the state of the the indications are that the local market will go around 40 cents, and possibly a slightly higher figure. It is expected to open at 38 or 40 cents and unethical practice in contant will probably remain very near that price. Local buyers are endeavoring to eliminate the "raise" foncase was appeaded from the circure in turkey buying and expect this year to pay a flat price for turkeys.
