STATE SPENDS SEVENTY MILLION

Report of State Treasurer Shows That Oregon Disposes of Huge Sum.

RECEIPTS INCREASED

Disbursements Increase From Five Million In 1908 To More Than Seventy Million In 1921 and 1922—Highways Costly

SALEM, Dec. 1.—Disbursements from the various funds of the state for the biennial period ending September 30 last, aggregated $70,524,781.28, as compared to disbursements of only $5,527,124.25 for the biennium ending September 30, 1908, according to the report of State Treasurer Hoff.

Receipts credited to the various funds during the biennium just ended aggregated $7,966,449.10, representing an increase of nearly 100 per cent over the previous biennium when the receipts aggregated $39,406.18.

Big Increase Noted.

Indicating the rapid growth in the income handled by the treasury department during the past 16 years, Hoff's report shows that it has increased from $5,770,102.51 in 1908 to $7,966,449.10 this year.

The state highway department with disbursements of $31,914,252.49 heads the list of state expenditures for the past biennium. The general fund, from which most of the state departments and activities are financed, shows disbursements of $24,339,113.91. A total of $7,875,150.64 was disbursed from the soldiers' bonus fund during the biennium, $5,811,097.62 was disbursed from the industrial accident fund, with an additional $2,054,971.82 disbursed from the segregated accident fund. Disbursements from the last two items include investments in bonds and cannot properly be classed as expenditures.

Bonds Total $50,000,000.

The report shows a total outstanding bonded indebtedness against the state aggregating $50,138,722.58, of which indebtedness $34,175,000 is charged to the state highway department and $15,000,000 to the state bonus collection.

The collection of inheritance taxes for the biennium amounted to $651,504.78, as against $594,014.34 for the preceding biennium and $158,607.79 for the biennium ending September 30, 1918. By far the greater portion of the taxes collected by this department comes from Multnomah county, which contributed $433,076.40 of the amount collected during the past biennium.

The report contains a recommendation for an amendment to the act providing for the registration of bonds which would increase the charge for the registration of bonds from the 50 cents now in effect to a minimum charge of $2 to cover the costs attached to this service.

Old Soldiers Have Fine Meal

The old soldiers residing at the Soldiers Home enjoyed a delicious repast yesterday. Turkey with all the fixins was served and a very enjoyable day was spent by the veterans. The menu consisted of assorted pickles, celery, fruit salad, turkey and dressing, cranberry sauce, candied sweet potatoes creamed mashed potatoes, stewed corn, Oregon cream cheese, assorted fruits, fruit cake, mince pie, candy, apple elder, tea, coffee and milk.

FEMALE TREND RESPONDS TO MALE IDEA

By DAVID M. CHURCH (International News Service Staff Correspondent) LONDON, Nov. 30.—Aha! Man is getting woman—nearly, independent, modern woman—under his thumb.

The gay young lass who has flaunted the manners of her dear old "granma" is calling a halt to her onward march for freedom, and all because there are too few men to go around. Just because there are too few men, women are striving to model themselves, after the fashion that men admire, and men don't admire.

"too independent" women—at least they don't admire them sufficiently to warrant a venture on the matrimonial seas with them.

Francis Gribble, noted British writer, is the Christopher Columbus of femininity who has tracked down these facts.

"Women tend to become (or, at any rate, to appear) what they find men like them to be," Gribble says. "Few women are really satisfied with putting themselves on the back and blowing their own trumpets; nor are many of them fully contented with being told how amastrosly clever they are."

"Most of them aspire to be loved as well as admired, to be married as well as loved and to hold their husband's affections after marriage, and to that end they are disposed to give quite as much consideration to men's ideals of womanhood as to their own. They may be expected, moreover, to give even more attention to those ideals in the future than they have given in the past, for the reason that men nowadays are relatively few and women relatively numerous."

"Since women, therefore, just at present are looking for husbands rather more eagerly than men are looking for wives the play of competition makes it fairly certain that the model woman will develop on the lines which men prefer."

"And man, there is no denying, is disposed to revolt against some of the characteristics of Georgian womanhood."

"He may—he doubtless does—admire the woman who makes him look foolish on the tennis court, argues him down at the debating society and tries to edge him out of his position in the office."

"But he is showing an increasing disinclination to marry her, preferring women who are a shade more efficient in the domestic sphere and a little readier to lean on him for help in his."

"Accordingly there has been a revolution in the outlook of women and signs of a 'throw-back' to the earlier ideal of perfect womanhood."

M'BRIDE DENIES INTENT TO RESIGN

SALEM, Nov. 30.—Rumors current to the effect that Justice Thomas A. McBride contemplates resigning his seat on the supreme bench are denied by the jurist.

"I have no intention whatever of resigning," Justice McBride declared in response to an inquiry as to the rumor. "I intend to stick around here at least four more years."

Justice McBride has been a member of the supreme court since May 1, 1909, when he was appointed to succeed Justice Robert S. Bean. During his more than 13 years of service on the supreme bench he has served as chief justice for six years and will succeed to that position again on January 1, next.

VETERAN "SOURDOUGHS" SKEPTICAL OF PULLMANS

SEWARD, Alaska, Dec. 1.—That "times do change," would be the mental comments of many early gold prospectors who faced hardship and death almost daily in their early trips into the interior of Alaska, were they to make the trip again today.

Over the trails which formerly carried "mushers" and "sour doughs" in their race to the new gold fields, now run two ribbons of steel and over them government operated Pullman trains, contrasting strangely with the almost virgin wilderness surrounding the larger portion of the right of way.

"Oldtimers" are acousticing themselves to the new order of things, some gladly, some grudgingly. All admit the new railroad running between Seward and Anchorage on the coast to Fairbanks and Nenana in the interior is an improvement over the old order.

Many make but half a concession to this new step in progress. At a roadside in the old days a "musher" would hang his wet socks on the stove over night and place his boots underneath. Now, for the accommodation of his guests, the porter hangs wires over the heaters in the day coaches from which, are suspended the feet of the passengers.

An occasional Indian gives the white man's "wagon" a trial and surrenders.
