GLENDALE NEWS.

The first snow storm of the season came on Thanksgiving morning, and snowed all day, followed by a change of temperature, and today the snow is disappearing. At present we can not forecast weather conditions.

Our national holiday was generally observed by home gatherings, and friends and relatives enjoyed the good cheer of each others homes. A community dance at the auditorium drew a large crowd and good order was in evidence everywhere.

Mrs. J. H. Stewart of this city, who is suffering from a broken leg, is getting along nicely and seems to bear her affliction heroically. Dr. Fawcett reduced the fracture and her daughter, Mrs. Leuthold, is with her and sympathetic friends are calling hourly to offer assistance.

We are pleased to note that Mr. Nebel of this city who is a patient at Mercy hospital is expected home this week.

Miss Susie Cornell has taken charge of the school at Eagle Point, where she will teach this year.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Greens, who were so recently bereft of their baby daughter, have the sympathy of many friends in their bereavement.

We heartily agree with the editor of the Glendale News in urging our people to spend their money with our merchants and grocers in this city. They all are carrying large and carefully selected stocks of goods in all lines and we feel sure they will please you all. At our drug store, and everywhere, they carry heavy lines of holiday goods and we join our approval in an immense Christmas tree and community Christmas at the auditorium and we are sure to hear the Angelic anthem of "Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men."

The Sunday school at Olivet church is growing in pupils and interest. Supt. Robinson is in charge and Mr. Wood, also and two of the lady teachers of our public schools have taken classes. Mr. Story of Wolf Creek has consented to teach the Bible class. Mr. McVulch, our minister, is preaching pure gospel sermons and the church choir is giving in classical music. Mrs. Mabel Brown is our pianist. Large congregations are in attendance.

Judge and Mrs. George K. Quine and Miss James Plichtorf were looking after official business in this city last week. We greatly enjoyed a social hour with Judge and Mrs. Quine, also with our popular and much appreciated juvenile officer, Miss Plichtorf.

Mrs. P. J. Kenny is in poor health this winter we regret to note.

E. J. Humphreys is placing a fine line of holiday goods at his immense sales rooms. Also at our drug store you can see many lines of holiday goods, and at our hardware store you can see so many useful and necessary articles that well we can hardly go away without purchasing them.

ECHOS FROM GREEN VALLEY.

C. K. Groves, of Willow Springs, Mo., is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Groves. Also another son, P. H. Groves, of Weatherford, Okla., and a nephew, Geo. A. Groves, of Kinman, Kansas. Mrs. C. C. Groves is able to be out again. Our florist, Mr. Austin, and son, Merle, have a beautiful display of flowers at the Fern these days.

They were pleasant callers at the home of C. C. Groves last week. Thanksgiving is very near and presume the turkeys will have to suffer. Glengary school gave a Thanksgiving program Wednesday evening which was very much enjoyed. About sixty were present. Mr. and Mrs. D. C. McGehehey and daughter, Nellie, have returned from Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Betts ate Thanksgiving dinner with Dr. C. McGeheheys. Glengary school organized a parent teachers association last Wednesday night with 19 members. They served coffee, sandwiches and doughnuts.

TURKEYS GLUT MARKET.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—For the first time in five years San Francisco ate Thanksgiving turkey at pre-war cost.

The wholesale market for dressed turkeys became demoralized Wednesday following Tuesday's sharp break in prices. The express brought more than 150 additional tons of holiday birds to San Francisco in the morning, while eight carloads of Oregon fowl put in an appearance. Then the market went to pieces. Dealers sold at any figure within reason, and reported that no fixed range of quotations existed. Fancy birds were bought by the trade as low as 35 cents a pound and mixed lots were moved at around 30 cents.

It is estimated that between 500 and 600 tons of dressed turkeys have arrived here since the beginning of the week, while San Francisco's requirements for the Thanksgiving feast amount to approximately 400 tons. Peddlers appeared in the streets Wednesday offering to the consumer at reasonable prices large quantities of birds bought at bargain prices from discouraged wholesalers, and it is reported that commission merchants themselves sent out wagonloads to be retailed in the residential districts.

Turkey raisers and wholesale distributors who bought for cash, paying as high as 43 cents a pound lost thousands of dollars in the sharpe break. Self consciousness, lack of poise, poor English, are AFFLICTIONS that can be overcome in the Business Girls classes of Bertha Elizabeth Hodge. Call or phone Heinline Conservatory regarding the new classes beginning soon.

A Thought in Season

Now is the time when the housewife is plagued with muddy clothes and wet sappy weather. It is hard enough job at best to do the washing for a farm family over a tub and board, but when you add a double lot of muddy clothes and a wet, drizzly day, why it is too much for any woman. Buy a Maytag and make washing a pleasure instead of a dread. If you haven't all the cash you can buy for as little as $12.50 a month. Come in and see it.

Now is a good time to brighten up the home and furniture. A few dollars spent for Certain-teed paint or varnish will add so much to the looks of a room that you will wonder why you have not used it sooner.

After all, though, unless you have good bread the day is utterly ruined. Buy Exchange flour and you will always have good bread, and save enough to buy those other things we have been talking about. Only $2 a sack, $7.50 per barrel. Northwest Flour $1.50 per sack, $7.50 per barrel.

Entire City Is Moved to New Site

LACLEDE, Idaho, Nov. 30.—Laclede has its own version of the old saying, "If the mountain will not go to Mohammed then Mohammed will go to the mountain," and the result is that this thriving little mill town is being transferred intact to Dover, Idaho, about 12 miles north of here. In the case of Laclede, the "mountain" is a big lumber plant located at Dover. Laclede plays the role of "Mohammed."

A few months ago the lumber plant that was responsible for Laclede's existence was wiped out by fire. For a while it looked as if the town would go out of existence. Just 12 miles up the river, Dover faced the same possibility, but for a different reason. Dover had a big lumber mill, but the supply of timber in the adjacent territory was exhausted and the mill had been closed. Heads of the two lumber companies involved got to thinking the situation over and decided they had better get together. The company owning Laclede purchased the mill and nearly all of the buildings in Dover. Then preparations were made to move Laclede on river barges to Dover.

In all there were more than 50 buildings to be moved. An army tank was shipped to the scene. Buildings were put on skids and hauled to the waiting barges by the tank. When the barges arrived at Dover they were met by another tank, which moved the building to its new site. The work of moving "Mohammed" is said to be progressing rapidly. Over 30 of the buildings

P. COMMITTEE KEEPS HANDS OFF

PORTLAND, Dec. 1.—No hand is taken in the organization of state senate by the republican central committee. Word to effect has been telegraphed to Dennis, senator from Union and Walla Walla counties, by Walter L. Jr., state chairman. The party organization does not intend to hamper the administration government-elect Pierce, democrat, at where party fundamentals involved. Chairman Toole also has that assurance.

In a recent editorial in his newspaper the La Grande Observer, Senator Dennis said, in effect that the republican organization is being the candidacy of B. L. Eddy Douglas county for president.

Regarding this observation, Chairman Toole asserts that the state constitution is not backing any candidate that its duty is to elect republican unless such as may help carry out its primary duty. The state organization, telegraphed the chairman, "is interested in seeing the state senate united along republican party so that needed party legislation may be accomplished. Speak for the state organization, I wish it understood that we do not wish to hamper in any way the administration of the governor, nor his legislative programme, in case these may conflict with fundamental ideals of the party. We sincerely hope that in the organization of the senate, no matter who may be elected president, republicans will work together primarily for the interests of the state, without reference to partisan lines; and, secondly, to giving us relief from the present situation which has been so destructive to the people of Oregon a return to a party responsible in the affairs of state.

In his editorial comment on the presidency situation, Senator Dennis says that the agreement referring to deal with Gus Moser by both camps was in no way secret.

In view of this agreement and Moser's entrance into the Upton camp, making the Crook county aspirant have 16 votes, enough to elect, Senator Dennis admits the situation has become complicated and says the eastern Oregon delegation should meet and pass on this in a body.

Apparently Senator Dennis is in no hurry to see the presidency disposed of, for he writes: "But the affair is not finished and there will be further chapters in the story before the opening of the session in January. There can be no particular damage done by not electing a president of the senate, at this date and whoever is selected, even if on the morning of the opening day, will preside just the same."

Senator Upton, since accepting the support of Moser, has maintained silence. He is patiently waiting to see what the eastern Oregon bloc, of which he is a member, does at the forthcoming conference.

Senator Eddy, his opponent for the presidency, is waiting just as patiently.

Tourists Deface Beauty of Caves

PORTLAND, Nov. 30.—"Outrageous vandalism" is the term applied by E. H. Daniels, forest supervisor of the Siskiyou national forest, in discussing the mutilation and destruction of parts of the Oregon caves at the hands of tourists. Last year, owing to the completion of roads leading into the caves, which are only 52 miles from Grants Pass, more than 10,000 visitors were registered at the caves. Each person is required to carry some kind of a light. Last year they were furnished with candles and this year they used small acetylene lamps and it was difficult to resist the temptation to smoke in the mottled gray marble halls of the caves. In spite of signs posted and read aloud to all persons visiting the caves warning tourists not to carry away souvenirs or mar the walls, the inclination to become immortal in the registry of the caves was too much for hundreds of unappreciative folk who visited the caves.

McDaniels suggests that the next person discovered marring the walls be made to take a pail of water and wash all the walls and be held up as a public example to other offenders. He also states that next year each acetylene lamp will be equipped with a little shade which will prevent the carrier from smoking the walls.

Only five persons out of the 10,000 visitors had to be warned or reprimanded by authorities about carelessness with campfires, according to McDaniels. The next season promises a double number of visitors, and camping facilities, tents and tables will be greatly increased. Parking space in the loop of the entrance road is sufficient to hold at least 80 cars at present and more space will be cleared. The season lasts from May until late October and many tourists include the caves on their way to Crater lake.

A contract has been let recently in that district for the Grants Pass-Crescent City highway, which will involve an expenditure of $600,000 for one section. McDaniels reports that the Savage Rapids dam land project, which is under irrigation, is rapidly being settled. The project includes about 13,000 acres under the ditch and there is still room for many more families. The land is exceptionally productive and accessible to the markets by railroad.
