ADIAN RANCHES MYSTIFIED BY BUTTON HUNTERS

(By Associated Press.)

NAIMO, B. C., Dec. 13.—A mystery is causing much spec- in the district near Cassidy's , six miles south of here. Wil- and Edward Cassidy, brothers together on the farm, a few s ago discovered that all the but- had been cut off of their best . Despite careful watch, this ring 14 times.

ce when Edward planned to at- a dance in the neighborhood, he fully tied up his best suit and it behind the stove. The next ing the buttons were gone, and dance-date was cancelled.

en a brother-in-law, Mr. Main- ng, visited the boys with the in- tention of attending a dance at Granby Mine, nearby. His dress suit was mysteriously stripped of its buttons, and another social engagement ahd to be abandoned.

This was the last straw. The provincial police were called in. Constable Bradner prepared to spend several days at the ranch, systematically running down clues.

He did not find anything to indicate the operations of a criminal, but on awakening bright and early one morning he found every button on his suit had been cut off.

The police are still working on the case. Meantime, special locks on all doors have put at least a temporary stop to the button thefts.

Bill Hayward Gets Service Stripes

EUGENE, Ore., Dec. 13.—Twenty "service stripes" were on a sweater which was awarded recently to Bill Hayward, veteran trainer and track coach of the University of Oregon here.

The award was made by the University to Hayward in recognition of his long service at the big Eugene school, where he has handled athletes since 1904, turning out ten Northwest championship track teams during that time.

Before Hayward came to the University he was with Albany College of Albany, Oregon, and when his team inflicted a decisive defeat on the Eugene team, the University engaged him as an athletic coach and trainer.

Three times Hayward has gone overseas as trainer and coach with the American delegation to the Olympic Games and, in 1919, served as trainer of the Great Mare Island Marine football team which won the intersectional service championship from the Great Lakes naval team.

When Hayward first came to Oregon there was no outdoor track but only a long shed for athletes to practice in. Now the Oregon meets and football games are held on splendid grounds, named Hayward Field, in honor of the coach.

For years Hayward was coach of the baseball team here but in recent years has devoted his time to coaching the track teams and training the football men. For some time he was been planning to drop the football work but has not yet broken away.

In addition to his work on the field, Hayward has written several books on track subjects and has done much toward developing high school athelties in Oregon.

GLENDALE NEWS

Christmas only 15 days away and the air is laden with the real Christmas sentiments so dear to our memories of the long ago. Aged people rejoice with their children and grandchildren as we note everywhere the preparations and plans and the immense stock of holiday goods and stores all over-flowing with choice and elegant devices to celebrate this wonderful reminder of the little child who was" cradled in the manger and His softest bed was hay." Yet after 22 centuries the old story is new again. May God impress upon the minds and hearts of a waiting world the deep and soul searching import of this day. We will spend it in sacred memorials of Him whom to know is life enternal. May we all share our portion with any who may need help, not forgetting the kind words we can speak "In His name, for He said, "Suffer Little Children to Come Unto Me." His star already is illuming the eastern sky.

Mrs. Isabelle Fancher of Medford is now owner and manager of the Club cafe. We welcome the new owner while we regret the going of Mr. and Mrs. James who were deservedly popular in their business here.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas are still in charge of the Bakery, and we hope they will decide to remain in our city.

Mr. and Mrs. James Tiller are residents of this city. Mr. Tiller is serving the U. S. carrying our mail to and from the depot.

Very interesting services are in progress at Olivet church, and a splendid choir is at every service.

The Rev. Mr. McVeigh is adding several new names to our church.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Bickel are still at the Royal Hotel and dispensing elegant meals.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

REGARDING DR. PRICE

The News-Review:

There was a mistatement in your article relating to Dr. Price and his healing work in Albany. I did not get to speak to Dr. Price. It was Mrs. Price, and not her husband, who informed me that I would have to give up my religion before they would do anything for me. She did not think I had the right kind of religion, and said they would have to pray me out of it before I could be healed. This would have been malpractice, and I would not accept the proposition.

I was certain I would be healed. I did not see Dr. Price heal anyone till after I was turned down. Then I observed more closely and it dawned on me that the healings were brought about by the law of reversed effort, and were not of divine origin.

We have two minds. The conscious mind and the sub-conscious mind. The conscious mind thinks and reasons. The sub-conscious mind governs the action of the heart and all the organs of the body. This mind, which is ten times more powerful than the conscious mind, believes whatever the conscious conveys to it, and manifests the same on the body.

There were several thousand people in the building when I saw this healing work performed. The sub-conscious minds of the cripples in the wheeled chairs believed the thought that God heals the sick, which was conveyed with intense religious fervor by Dr. Price and thousands of others, and it was realized with tremendous force on the body, and the sick were healed. There was nothing divine about it. Any forceful speaker could do the same thing.

CUBA INTERESTED IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF MINES

(By Associated Press.)

HAVANA, Cuba, Dec. 12.—Immense and rich deposits of iron and copper exist in Cuba, declared President Alfredo Zayas in his message at the opening session of the current congress, and the government proposes to aid their development in every way possible.

From the copper mines at Matahambre, Pinar del Rio, he points out, there were mined in the first six months of this fiscal year, 14,252 tons of 22 per cent copper, and the field has only been scratched. Prospecting for oil and mineral is going on constantly in that province.

Big Log Jam in Coos River

MARSHFIELD, Dec. 13.—There was a big log jam in Coos river today which obstructed traffic until nearly noon. About 2,000 logs came out from the Aasen & Kelly camp ten miles above Allegany. The high water brought them down the river and the boom of the Coos Bay Lumber company at the turn of Coos river on the opposite side of the bay was opened to catch the logs.

At the Dr. Dix place just above the forks on the north fork, the logs formed a big jam during the night. Boats could not get through. This morning the jam was broken sufficiently for the Millicoma to make its way through the logs and it reached the city an hour and a half late.

MOORE SLATED FOR JOB

PORTLAND, Dec. 12.—It has become known to a virtual certainty that Will Moore, former collector of customs under the Wilson administration, will be appointed by Governor elect Walter M. Pierce as state insurance commissioner. To make way for Moore it is understood that A. C. Barber, the incumbent of that office, will be invited to withdraw not long after Mr. Pierce takes up the duties of his office at Salem.

Moore formerly lived at Pendleton, coming to Portland from that place when he received the post of collector of customs. He continued to live in Portland after leaving the office. In Pendleton he was engaged in the insurance and banking business, and he has been a life long Democrat.

The office of insurance commissioner combines with it the offices of state fire marshal and state superintendent of real estate brokers.
