HAMMERSTEIN

SOLE OF ACTRESS FOR NEW PHOTOPLAY

Advance assurance that the Hammerstein opens a new chapter in the history of the motion picture industry. The attraction of the picture will give the admirer the greatest satisfaction her career has ever created on the screen. "Evidence" is the title of Miss Hammerstein's new photoplay, and Niles Welch is again leading man in Miss Hammerstein's support.

"Evidence" tells a story of stage life in its early incidents, and then takes the leading actress into the home of an aristocratic family who resent an "actress" being foisted upon them as a relative. How Miss Hammerstein, by her artistry, makes the actress impress her personality favorably upon the snobs who oppose her is declared to be the best piece of acting this favorite star has ever exemplified.

Wallace Reid has driven almost every kind of vehicle in his Paramount screen offerings. In his recent picture, "The Love Special," he added a locomotive to the list and in the automobile race picture immediately following, he drove a fast racing car around the track at a speed of a hundred and ten miles an hour.

In "The Hell Divers," his late picture written by Byron Morgan, which will be shown at the Majestic theatre tonight the star operates one of the most unusual machines in the world—the giant dredger which is used to pan the precious metal from the earth in Northern California. On this occasion, however, he was unable to make more than a half a mile a day.

This lack of pep in the speed of the big machine, however, is more than compensated for by a thrilling fight when the dredger is converted into a floating fortress and which it is up to the faction headed by Mr. Reid to storm and capture, and by many other unusual scenes and situations.

STANFORD-PITT GRID BATTLE TO BE GOOD ONE

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 16. (United Press).—The Stanford-Pitt game on December 20 is expected to be one of the highest class grid battles seen on the coast for some time, and as far as Northern California goes, will undoubtedly replace the East-West game in general interest. This will be particularly true this year inasmuch as California's wonder team will not play at Pasadena this year.

Stanford and Pitt will both be playing under the "Warner system." Pitt will be playing under the direction of the "old master" himself, and reports indicate that Pitt has a lot of trick stuff. Stanford will be playing under the direction of Warner's two right-hand assistants, "Andy" Kerr, and "Tiny" Thornhill, who are initiating the Cardinal gridsters into the Warner system pending the arrival of Warner himself to take the reins in 1924.

Stanford students and alumni are particularly interested in the game, inasmuch as it will give them a chance to see the performance of a team that knows the "Warner system" from the ground up. Hence they may envisage the playing method of Stanford a year or two hence.

Pitt, although it is reported to have had a new men on the team this year, is much more skilled than Stanford. All of the players—even the "subs"—have been taught the Warner system from the freshmen days up. Stanford, on the other hand, had to learn the elements of the system this season. This was all that Kerr and Thornhill hopes to accomplish this year. The "Big Game" was not marked by any fancy trick plays on Stanford's part. Stanford, however, showed its latent power when it fought the Golden Bear to a standstill in the "Big Game," and put up an almost unbreakable line of defense. The Cardinals were very weak in defense against an aerial attack, and it was by this method that California's touchdowns were made possible.

Stanford, however, is expected to show decided improvement on the December 30 game. Coach Kerr is putting the team through easy practice, and it is understood, is drilling them in some of the Warner "trick stuff" in preparation for the game. If Stanford can get away with it, they will have a great feather in their caps, for they will have "out-warnered Warner."

On the face of things, "seeing the old year out and the new year in" is bound to see some high class football, both at Pasadena and Stanford.

Prune Market Shows Little Activity

SALEM, Dec. 16.—Authorities on the prune situation are divided as to whether 25 per cent of the 1922 crop remains unsold or whether there is really a larger percentage now held by growers, independent packing interests and cooperative associations.

New York practically regulates the market for this country and the Journal of Commerce, published in New York City, recognized as authority on the dried fruit theatre tonight in his latest Universal starring vehicle, "Caught Bluffing," directed by Lambert Hillyer.

The story is of a gambler in the North country who never played any way but squarely in his life until an occasion arose where he had to resort to crookedness when the life of the girl he loved was at stake. Mayo is said to exceed anything he has done yet in this latest vehicle, "Caught Bluffing." The popular Universal star is commonly connected with death defying stunts and hazardous risks, but in this story of the Klondike, he sells them all by a breath-taking dive from a cliff top to the icy waters of a tiny lake three hundred feet below.

The leading feminine role is played by Edna Murphy, who has enjoyed a rapid rise to conspicuous standing in motion pictures.

Ruth Royce is cast in the role of gambling house follower and roulette addict. Others in the supporting cast are Wallace MacDonald, Jack Curtis, Jack Walters, Andrew Arbuckle, "Bull" Durham, Scott Turner, Martin Best and Tois Dewour.

situation, is also rather uncertain as to whether the car shortage and slowdown in deliveries has had any detrimental effect on the market. Under date of November 29, the Journal of Commerce says: "There is very little buying of dried fruit at source, but enough backed by optimism of packers, to maintain prices. There is congestion in deliveries, leading to no large surplus in any of the leading markets."

A few days later, the dried fruit situation in New York called for the following from the Journal of Commerce, under date of December 1:

"The prune market is quiet. In California independents are doing some offering. Independents say their prices are based on costs and there is nothing to warrant radical changes in either direction. There is no talk of a boom in the market of prunes but neither is there any break in the market."

The prune situation remained about the same for a few days in New York, as the same financial paper, under date of December 4, carries the following comments on the dried fruit situation:

"The prune market is not a weak one, so much as it is a dull one. The New York tendency to lower prices being offset by firmness on the Pacific coast. Prunes are easier today due to boat arrivals, the stock being offered on the dock to save carriage and insurance. Some chain stores are featuring prunes in the east, playing up medium sizes. California and Oregon packers have both about the same idea as to prices."

With the uncertainty of amounts of stock on hand on the Pacific coast, eastern buyers appear to be up in the air as to whether the market is due for any changes.

Under date of December 5, the Journal of Commerce says: "Wires and letters show no change in the dried fruit situation. Packers admit there is no heavy buying, but there is no weakness shown in California by independent operators, who look forward to a steady movement during the balance of the season to clear stocks. With the arrival today of steamers tending to create a surplus stock, there is a disposition to shade prices."

"While some interest has been shown in December and January trading, there has been a lull in this form of business."

Has Fine Raspberries

J. F. Cole, who resides in West Roseburg brought a fine "bouquet" of raspberry vines covered with large red raspberries to the News-Review office today. They are the Cuthbert variety, and this is the second crop this year. They have an abundance of them every year at Christmas time Mr. Cole stated, and he also stated that he thought Douglas County was the only place where this was possible.
