GUN CLUB SHOOT HELD YESTERDAY

The regular weekly shoot of the Roseburg gun club was held yesterday with a good attendance of the members. A large number of the beginners were out but as it was a dark day the averages were not good. Next Sunday the club holds its big merchandise shoot, which is to be the big event of the season. Practically all of the merchants of the city have made donations toward this shoot and some are still coming in. Frank Hills secretary of the club will receive any further donations which business houses desire to make.

AIRPLANES TO LOCATE LAKES

Plan to Use Flying Machines in the Finding and Photographing of Alaskan Inland Waters.

Locating and photographing undiscovered lakes in the national forests of Alaska are the latest uses to which the airplane has been put, says American Forestry, quoting the United States forest service. We read:

"It has long been known that there are many lakes on the headlands and islands traversed by the inside passage between Seattle and Skagway that do not appear on any map. During the New York-Nome flight made by army aviators, lakes were frequently sighted which could not be found on the latest and most authentic maps of the territory. Tales of unknown water bodies are constantly being brought in by trappers and prospectors. Less than a year ago a lake four and one-half miles long and one-half mile wide was discovered at the head of Short bay. This lake has over 1,000 acres of surface area and is less than one and one-quarter miles from tidewater, yet because of the surrounding territory's rough topography has remained unknown and unnamed. Recognizing that many others of these 'lost lakes' may be sources of valuable water power, the forest service has laid plans to map this no man's land of the North by means of aerial photographs. A few day's flight, it is said will be sufficient to cover the area with a degree of accuracy that would require many years and great expense to accomplish by ordinary methods. The work, which has been approved by the federal power commission, will be done by seaplane, flying from Ketchikan as a base."

CHANGES IN ARCTIC OCEAN

Seals Said to Be Finding Temperature a Little Too High, and Ice Is Less Plentiful.

The Arctic ocean is warming up, icebergs are growing scarce and in some places the seals are finding the water too hot, according to a report to the Commerce department from Consul Ifft at Bergen.

Reports from fishermen, seal hunters and explorers all point to a radical change in climatic conditions and hitherto unheard of temperatures in the Arctic zone, exploration expeditions reporting that scarcely any ice has been encountered as far north as 81 degrees 29 minutes. Soundings to a depth of 3,100 meters showed the Gulf stream still warm.

Great masses of ice have been replaced by moraines of earth and stones, while at many points well-known glaciers have disappeared. Very few seals and no white fish are being found in the eastern Arctic, while vast shoals of herring and smelts, which never before have ventured so far north, are being encountered in the old seal-fishing grounds.

Ingenious, but Futile Plea.

When a robbery is not a robbery, was told a judge of General Sessions in New York, when a negro was charged with entering a house and taking a $3,500 diamond ring. "Did you?" asked the judge. "Jedge," said the prisoner, "it wasn't no burglary. It was summer time and the windows was open. The windows was open an' I went in and this yere lady woke up—terrible scairt. An' she put up huh hand to huh haid and somethin' sparkled. Oh, Jedge, if it on'y hadn't sparkled! An' I said: 'Lady, whut you got thaih on yoh hand?' An' she said: 'Take it, an' please do go ra't out immediate.' Jedge, the lady requested me to take that sparkler an' go ra't out im-mee-dee-ate. An' I took it and went. Jedge, it wasn't no burglary." It seemed that the prisoner had undergone a similar painful experience at another apartment not to speak of a record of four previous convictions. He will sparkle in Sing Sing for fourteen years.

Ancestors Worth Boasting About.

For about an hour a man from Denver had been boasting to an Irishman about the magnificence of the Rocky mountains.

"You seem mighty proud ov thim mountains," the Irishman observed.

"You bet I am," replied the man from Denver. "And I ought to be, since my ancestors built them."

The Irishman thought this over for a few moments and then asked, "Did you ever happen to hear ov the Dead sea in—in one ov the old countries?"

"Yes, indeed," replied the man from Denver. "I know all about the Dead sea."

"Well, did you happen to know that me great-grandfather killed the thing?"—London Tit-Bits.

TRIAL OF REEDSPORT MEN IS POSTPONED

The trials of L. Marquis and J. R. Dewar, which were to have started in the local justice court tomorrow, will probably be postponed due to the flooded conditions prevailing throughout the state making travel for the defendants and witnesses uncertain. Deputy Sheriff Grubbe of Reedsport telephoned this morning that there have been no trains in there since Friday night. Marquis and Dewar were arrested in Reedsport charged with the possession of intoxicating liquor.

IDEAS and PRINTING

A one dollar bill and a twenty dollar bill seem the same to a blind man—yet the difference is marked to the man who can see—and it's only a difference in printing. It is the way printing is done and the idea back of it that makes it worth more or less.
