Nation Wide Approval

Everywhere this new 1923 Buick Four Cylinder Sedan with its lustrous finish, beautiful interior and modest price is the center of attraction.

A lowered center of gravity has made it possible to set its beautiful, roomy Fisher body lower, and the high hood line and longer cowl give a streamline of unusual grace and beauty.

When you sit at the wheel you, too, cannot help approving the many innovations the fortunate owner never tires of telling about.

A musical program will be given by Prof. E. R. Roise and Mrs. L. B. Moore, preceding the talk by Miss Woods.

GREEN AND WINSTON NEWS

C. K. Groves left for his home at Willow Springs, Missouri, Wednesday. He has been making a visit of some length with his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Groves.

The patrons of route 1 receiving their mail at Kelley's Korner are indebted to Oliver Fisher, George Winston and Henry Lander for the arrangement of the mail boxes on a wheel, making it much more convenient for the carrier and eliminating the past danger of cars running into the posts supporting the boxes.

Rev. Mr. Quick of Roseburg conducted the services at Green on Sunday, bringing a gospel message of unusual beauty and helpfulness.

The snow is about gone and some are glad and the others, the children, surely did enjoy it. Sunday morning the view from this section was a real fairy land.

Jack and Hazel Claypool have been confined to their home this week on account of colds.

The Truth Seekers of Green Sunday school had a very fine time at their party at the home of Mrs. Claypool on Saturday night. The class was organized with Miss Beatrice Minter president. The time was spent in games and the hostess served dainty refreshments at an early hour.

The broccoli has been slightly hurt by the cold weather of last week. The outer leaves are damaged.

The weather has checked pruning for a time, but most of the growers feel the cold weather was a benefit, as the sap was beginning to work up.

L. C. Davis is not improving as rapidly as expected from his recent illness.

A number attended sessions of the county Sunday school convention at Roseburg on Tuesday and Wednesday. The attendance was very much reduced by the large number of people having colds, especially from this section.

Mrs. S. M. Kelley has somewhat recovered from her recent illness.

SHELL OIL PLANT TO BE IN EDENBOWER

Application for Permission To Construct Spur Track Across County Road Filed With Service Commission

The Shell Oil Company has applied to the Public Service Commission for authority to construct and operate a spur track across the county road in Edenbower about a mile north of Roseburg. The company anticipates locating its distribution station about 600 feet northeast of the intersection of the county road and the railroad in Edenbower. It is understood that an option has been secured on a large piece of land there and that if the desired permission to extend the spur track can be secured construction will start in the near future.

The Company some time ago applied to the city for permission to build within the city limits but owing to the ruling of the State Fire Marshall an objection was made to the site selected in North Roseburg. Another site was offered in North Roseburg but because of the cost of extending the track and because of remonstrances filed by patrons of the Benson school this site was abandoned. The company has had several other suitable locations in mind and has been investigating the cost of different sites but has finally decided to build in Edenbower.

The plans call for a station modern in every particular and fully equipped with the latest devices to prevent fire. The station when completed will be a valuable asset to the community.

The county court has been notified of the application of the oil company for permission to cross the road with its spur track but will offer no objection.

LIQUOR RAID IN NATIONAL CAPITAL

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The police here today conducted the greatest liquor raid in the national capital since the advent of prohibition.

It covered the entire city, and by early afternoon more than fifty arrests had been made and contraband liquor was being carted into the police stations by wagon loads.

Aided by prohibition agents, the police began raids in practically every section of the city shortly after noon. No estimate could be obtained as to the amount of liquor confiscated.

Disguises Are Used.

Police authorities said the raids were the culmination of careful planning. For several weeks, they said, detectives and prohibition officers had been collecting evidence.

Various disguises were used, some of the officers serving as garbage collectors in order to gain access to basements where they thought liquor was apt to be stored.

Among those taken into custody were alleged bootleggers who, police said, have been supplying liquor to persons prominent in capital society.

Raids Kept Secret

The raids have been kept a secret and they were over before those usually posted as to police operations were aware that arrests were to be made on a large scale.

Today's seizures were part of a renewed campaign against bootlegging in the national capital, which has recently been debated in congress in a way that has served to center the attention of the country on what it is charged has been taking place under the nose of the federal government.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—J. L. Asher, a revenue agent from the Kentucky mountains, who came to Washington three weeks ago and has put in his time since in guises ranging from an ash cart driver to a Kentucky colonel at a fashionable ball, today directed more than 60 capital revenue agents and police in liquor raids on 30 places, netting the arrests of about 90 persons, including 12 women, and the confiscation of more than 300 gallons of intoxicants.

Evidence for the raids, which were begun in five police precincts at 11 o'clock this morning and were not completed until late in the day, the most all-inclusive campaign conducted in the city since the advent of prohibition, was obtained almost entirely by Asher.

Only One Failure Recorded.

In only one instance were the raiders disappointed by failure to find the goods described by the Kentuckian.

Asher first drove into the underworld in quest of the bootleggers' rendezvous aboard an ice wagon as a helper. He then switched to an ash cart and quickly caught the trail of victims as he picked up the "empties" in all corners of the city. Then as a coal wagon driver he got into the homes again, assisting in storing away the coal and modestly accepting pint bottle rewards. He later appeared as a piano tuner and again as a lawyer. Before long Asher had won the confidence of the principal bootleggers in various sections and by aiding to store away the goods in his capacity as a wagon driver and helper, gained knowledge of numerous clever hiding places for the goods.

With this evidence in hand, the raiders went quickly to the secret caches, these including holes in the wall, baby cribs, pianos, phonographs and chicken coops. In one home more than 10 gallons of liquor was found tucked away behind the wall moldings in various rooms.

Sells Liquor in Nursing Bottles.

One woman was reported by Asher to be selling liquor in baby milk nursing bottles and police confiscated more than a dozen receptacles, well filled, from her home.

As a retired Kentucky colonel at a recent ball, Asher was introduced to several alleged bootleggers as an agent preparing to ship considerable whiskey here from Kentucky. The bootleggers were arrested today.

So complete was the agent's disguise that while returning to police headquarters one day dressed as a tramp with several quart bottles bulging from his pockets, he was arrested by his immediate superior before the officer discovered his identity.

MOVIES

TOM MIX COMING IN NEW FOX PRODUCTION

Local followers of Tom Mix will have another treat in "Do and Dare," his latest vehicle, which comes to the Antlers theater tonight.

This new screen play, which is from the pen of Marion Brooks and which was directed by Edward Sedgwick, casts the vigorous hero in three distinct roles—first, as the valorous and peril-defying scout of the western plains who rescues the beautiful daughter of the commandant of a desolate frontier fort from a hostile Indian tribe and then saves the post from the onslaughts of the savages; second, as the guileless and passive youth who neither knows of, nor seeks adventure in his provincial shell, but who is suddenly fired by the desire for romance when he hears the lurid tales of his famous forebear; and third, as the brave and resolute participant in a South American revolution, whose daring deeds win for him the woman he loves and the command of a nation's military forces.

FANTASTIC JULES VERNE NOVEL SUBJECT OF NEW EUROPEAN SPECTACLE

Recent months have seen many European productions on American screens. The newest is "The Isle of Zorda," a picturized version of Jules Verne's novel, "Mathias Sandorf," produced in France by Louis Nalpas and distributed here by Pathe.

Jules Verne was the great French master of fantastic romance. Even today there is not a public library in the country that does not supply a demand for the Verne novels, and the readers are children as well as grown-ups.

In "The Isle of Zorda," at the Liberty Sunday and Monday, Verne was at his best. He told the story of Mathias Sandorf, the patriot, who lost all for the cause of freedom; who disappeared for twenty years, and then returned as the mystery man from the mystery "Isle of Zorda." He brought vengeance and retribution with him, and the manner in which he "squared things" with his betrayers will stand for all time unique in the annals of literature.

NOTED PLAYERS IN PICTURE

One of the most remarkable casts ever assembled in a motion picture was selected to support Alice Brady in "Missing Millions," her first screen production in nearly a year, which comes to the Majestic theater tonight. David Powell, who recently appeared in "Her Gilded Cage," with Gloria Swanson, and "The Siren Call," with Dorothy Dalton, plays the leading male role, that of "Boston Blackie." Frank Losee, one of the screen's best known heavies, Riley Hatch, John B. Cook, Sidney Herbert, Beverly Travers and Alice Aay are also in the cast.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94% AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94 per cent air and 6 per cent common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor V. M. Johnson, 31 N. Fifth St., Portland, Ore., is offering to send a lamp on 10 days FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

CORBIN FUED IS PERILOUS

CORBIN, Ky., Feb. 2.—A strained situation ascribed by officers here to a gun battle early Tuesday between railroad workers and special officers, in which two men were killed and two wounded, has resulted in the ordering of 25 national guardsmen here for duty.

In an appeal to Governor Morrow for troops, Mayor John Gilliam and Sheriff Young of Whitley county were said to have declared the situation was getting beyond the control of local officials.

The cause of Tuesday's gun battle has not been established definitely. J. C. Barker, 44, engine dispatcher for the Louisville and Nashville railroad, and Gordon Yaden, of London, Ky., a special policeman, were killed, Jess Barker, switchman and Fred Day, special officer, were wounded. The officers were members of a detail of special police appointed following the dynamiting recently of a rooming house here when two men were injured seriously and the lives of 15 railway workers imperiled.

ROSEBURG TRIMS ASHLAND 28 TO 7

ball most of the time the score did not mount as rapidly as it had during the first part of the game.

After the second frame was half gone Coach Larsen made another shift putting back the three men who started for the purpose of making a whirlwind finish. The whirlwind failed to develop, however, although the game was speeded up considerably. Roseburg missed enough shots to have made the score 75 to 7, but the ball rolled aimlessly around the hoop or else bounded back from the board into the mad scramble. The Roseburg boys appeared to be trying hard but their basket shooting ability had deserted them and in spite of the many attempts they added only 19 points to their score during the half.

During the full time, however, Roseburg's smooth defensive system kept the ball away from the goal it was defending and Ashland obtained only one more field goal, another long shot and one more converted foul.

The game was exceptionally clean on both sides considering the fact that both teams were playing hard. The teams were about even'y matched in weight, with Ashland perhaps a little heavier than Roseburg. The visitors put up a clean hard fight and displayed the value of good coaching. The Ashland school is up against a hard proposition this year as all of its veteran players graduated last year and this season the coach has had to build a team of all new material. Except for a lack of experience the team showed up quite well.

The crowd which witnessed the game completely filled the gymnasium and all places outside from which the game was visible were crowded and a number were turned away because of lack of room. This kind of support on the part of the residents of the city is greatly encouraging to the team and will do much to stimulate the boys to greater efforts while the financial support will keep athletics at their highest standard.

The main game was preceded by an interesting preliminary between the Wilbur high school and the second team the local high school. Roseburg won this game by a score of 34 to 7.

The main game was refered by F. H. Edbloom of the University of Oregon who kept the contest moving rapidly and yet prevented rough playing. He was very fair in his decisions and the crowd and players were well pleased with his work.

SNOOPING MATE REBUKED

SPOKANE, Wash., Feb. 2.—Wives have no right to show peace officers where their husband's liquor stocks are hidden unless said husbands specifically authorize them to do so, Superior Judge Oswald held here this afternoon in ruling out as evidence samples of alleged intoxicating liquor seized in a raid on the home of Al Champagne.

It had been shown that Mrs. Champagne had telephoned the police station and invited officers to go and get the liquor. The court upheld the defense's contention that Champagne's constitutional rights had been violated, as Mrs. Champagne had not been acting as authorized agent of her husband when she called the officers.

Break French Blockade.

BERLIN, Feb. 3. (U. P.)—Risking their lives several locomotive engineers today ran the French blockade of the Ruhr valley and hauled trainloads of coal through the lines into the unoccupied territory. The coal commissioner admitted that the quantity smuggled through the barrier was small. The details of the blockade running were carefully guarded but the train dispatchers were reported assisting by discovering a way out over the sidelines which the French overlooked in drawing a cordon around the valley.

Lloyd George Talks.

PLYMOUTH, England, Feb. 3. (U. P.)—The French Ruhr action "is laying up a store of trouble for the whole world which I hardly care to contemplate," former Premier Lloyd George said upon his arrival here from Spain today where he has been spending a vacation.

He expressed disappointment at the "hard terms" of the British-American debt settlement, which he asserted would not benefit America as much as expected because the terms would necessarily diminish the United States world markets.

Lloyd George said the funding of the debts of the other allies to Britain would be practicable "if our allies had faced the responsibilities as we have."
