POPULATION SHOWS GROWTH OVER CENSUS

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—The population of the continental United States on January 1, 1923, was approximately 110,100,000 according to a preliminary estimate made by the National Bureau of Economic Research, of this city and given out today. This shows an estimated gain of 4,500,000 since the date of the last government census.

These figures are necessarily preliminary, says the bureau for the final census figures on births and deaths are incomplete after the end of 1920. However, enough data are available to show that since January 1, 1921, the rate of increase in population growth has been accelerated noticeably, the present rate approaching that of pre-war years.

This more rapid gain in population, according to the bureau, has been brought about partly by increase in net migration, but has been decidedly reinforced by a reduction in the death rate.

At the present rate of growth, the population at the 1930 census will reach 120,000,000.

The esimates by half years are as follows:

Year Date	Population
1920 January 1....(a)	105,710,620
1920 July 1.....(b)	106,381,000
1921 January 1....(b)	106,821,000
1921 July 1.....(c)	107,785,000
1922 January 1....(c)	108,533,000
1922 July 1.....(c)	109,184,000
1923 January 1....(c)	110,100,000

a—Census figures.
b—Final estimate by this bureau.
c—Preliminary estimate.

It is probable that the revisions to be made in all estimates, except that for January 1, 1923, will be relatively slight, but this figure may be changed materially when fuller data on births, deaths and immigration are received.

It is impossible to calculate with precision, the population of the country at any given date, the statement of the Bureau says, the reason being that in many of the states births and deaths are not reported, and even in the registration area a very considerable number of deaths, and still more births appear to escape being recorded. There are presumably, also, minor errors in the statistics of immigration. Because of the difficulties involved, the census bureau has made its estimates of the population for the intercensal years on the simple assumption that the rate of growth is the same as in the preceding decade.

This census process, which is termed a straight line extrapolation, has mainly its simplicity to commend it, for, when applied errors of considerable size gradually accumulate as changing conditions affect population growth. For example, the official method showed a population for January 1, 1920, nearly two millions greater than that given by the actual census count on that date.

The method of procedure devised by the National Bureau of Economic Research to correct this difficulty is relatively simple. The number of births and deaths have been estimated for each half year and the increase of population due to excess of births over deaths has been calculated. This amount has been corrected by adding the excess of immigration over for each half year. The population for June 30, 1910, has been estimated from a smooth curve, and figures have been built up for each half year until the census of 1920.

The estimate thus arrived at for January 1, 1920, is in error by approximately half a million, or only about one-fourth of the corresponding error resulting from the official method of estimate. The labors of the bureau, in this regard, have been under the immediate direction of Dr. Willford I. King, formerly assistant professor of political economy of the University of Wisconsin who has been engaged in this work since 1921.

The figures presented in the foregoing table are derived by following the procedure just described, the adjustment to correct inadequate reporting of births and deaths, being the same as those found necessary to offset this error in the last decade.

HEALING SERVICES ATTENDED BY MANY

A number of testimonies to the salvation of the soul and the healing of the body were given Tuesday afternoon. They are as follows: "I praise God that He healed me of neuritis of two years' standing."; "A day or so ago I was in the audience here with a white card which I had not yet filled out. I had a blind eye ever since I was a child and a deaf ear. A man near me was led to pray for me right there where I was and at once my ear was opened and I also can read fine print with my bad eye."; "I am so glad He has given me back my peace and also healed my body"; Twenty years ago the doctors gave me up as a hopeless case of tuberculosis. Last night I was filled with the Holy Spirit and healed at the same time, without being prayed for. I will go where He wants me to go and say what He wants me to say"; "The doctor said I had either cancer or a tumor, but I don't care which it was now, for the Lord has healed me"; I was down and out and unworthy to be called the child of God, but the Lord has saved my soul;" "I had consumption, but I praise God that He healed me";"I thank the lord for saving me and healing my crooked spine"; I thank Jesus that I am getting straighter and straighter every day." (A paralytic case); "He healed my body. I want to tell the world that Jesus is Saviour."

The text of the afternoon sermon is found in Ezekiel 34:2-12 "Thus saith the Lord God unto the shepherds; Woe be to the sheperds of Israel that do feed themselves. Should not the sheperds feed the flock? Etc. How many times we read in the scripture "The word of the Lord came unto me saying." It came to the old prophets, and I don't believe there is any greater message in the world than the 'Word of the Lord.'" said the Dr. And again "I want to tell you that the duty of the minister is to give the Word of God to his people." Churches from far and wide are calling Dr. Price to come and teach them. From England and even from far away India the call comes: "We are going to open up the way for you to hold meetings. Come, we are so hungry." This from an aristocratic church in Sheffield, Eng. (from India): "We are hungry for the truth of Jesus Christ." The word of the Lord says "Woe to the preachers that feed themselves and don't feed my people." Any minister who is after fame has no business in the pulpit. It is his duty to get his people through to the Saviour. Then he must feed them. "The diseased have ye not strengthened, neither have ye healed that which was sick, etc." v 4. Well that doesn't concern me," they say. "These men talk to me about the operating table because I do what God's word tells me to do. Now do not misunderstand me. I am not denouncing the doctors. But I do say that I believe what I see in the word of the living God." "And they were scattered—and they became meat to all beasts of the field, etc." v 5. "This last decade has indeed been scattering. And do you mean to tell me that it is not because of higher criticism? The very fact that people have left the church and gone into all the isms and false doctorines, is because they are hungry. It is because the four square Gospel is not preached unto them. And what happened? "My sheep wandered—and none did search unto them. Lord send the day when we shall come to the unity of the Spirit and the unity of faith when we shall stand together. Let us back to the fundamentals. I tell you that the day is coming when we shall turn from German rationalism to higher criticism introduced into this country by German professors." For thus saith the Lord as a sheperd seeketh out his flock—so will I seek out my sheep,etc." v 11, 12. The sheep are found out all over the country. You have not fed them, and they have been feeding on thistles, etc. But He will bring them to the "land flowing with milk and honey." The sermon of the evening was based on the text taken from Matt. 22:42, "What think ye of Christ." It was preached to a crowded house, the center of which was occupied by the students of the high school. Many who had secured cards for healing in the morning were prayed for.

There has been a "Preparatory Healing" service this a. m. and there will be a "Healing Service" this evening at 7:30. Wednesday there will be a service at 2:30 and 7.30.

ESPEE STARTS WORK OF REPAIRING TRACK

PORTLAND, Feb. 21.—With the approach of spring plans for ballasting, resurfacing and otherwise furbishing up railroad properties are elaborated by operating officials and already lines centering at Portland have under consideration the usual seasonal work and in some instances more than the ordinary betterments will be done.

The Southern Pacific company is surfacing and ballasting the main line from Oakland, Ore., south, crushed rock being taken from a quarry at Rogue River. Scattered spots between Albany and Marion, too, on the main line are being put in spic-and-span condition with rock from a quarry at Marion, and the same treatment is being given between Albany and Cottage Grove.

The line from Portland south has already been ballasted with new rock, the track having been raised from four to eight inches on a rock ballast, making operation faster, safer and more economical, as well as improving the appearance of the right-of-way.

This work is a part of a consistent policy of resurfacing throughout the whole Southern Pacific main-line track from Portland to New Orleans, it is said. Cost is about $3500 a mile.

NO PRIZES FOR MOTORCYCLE RUN

The entrance fees paid by local motorcycle riders who participated in the endurance run held on New Years day, have been returned and the announcement has been made that no prizes will be awarded. The race was run from Eugene to Portland, Portland to Roseburg and Roseburg to Eugene. On the way back to Eugene from Roseburg, the riders with one exception took the highway, refusing to go over the Loraine road between Cottage Grove and Eugene, as was originally called for. One rider made this trip, but it is alleged that he failed to follow the road and used several cross cuts. The disagreement resulting from this action prevented the award of prizes and as no decision could be reached satisfactory to the judges no prizes will be given and all entrance fees are being refunded.

A hill climb is to take place at Cottage Grove on May 20 and a large number of the local riders are planing on participating.

BUSINESS SEDAN

Dodge Brothers, with equal aptness, could have named it the Family Sedan.

In the first place, it is big and roomy—a five-passenger car that will really seat five adults in comfort. There is no space wasted on superfluous adornments. Every inch of body and chassis is put to actual use.

There are no delicate cloth furnishings to be soiled by the children. The seats are upholstered in durable and attractive blue Spanish leather.

There is no sensitive varnish to be easily scratched or finger-spotted. The body is steel-built—a new principle in Sedan design—making it possible to finish the exterior in Dodge Brothers oven-baked enamel, the most durable finish known.

The rear seat furnishings come out—instantly converting the rear section into a spacious carrying compartment—handy for carrying trunks, boxes and household luggage of all sorts.

Children can romp and play to their hearts' content in this car, and when cleaning time comes, you can turn the hose on it—inside and out.

JURY IN TILLER CASE DISAGREES

Two Civic Cases Set for Today Settled Out of Court and Jury Is Dismissed Until Friday.

Because of the settlement of the two civic cases booked for the circuit court today, no jury trials were held. Two cases had been set for today, but both were settled out of court and consequently were dismissed. As tomorrow is a court holiday, there will be no further court action until Friday morning, when the trial of Frank Scott charged with incest, will be heard. This trial is expected to take much time as a special venire will be necessary. The new jury law provides that in cases of this kind there must be six women and six men on the jury and as only four women were drawn on the regular panel, it will necessitate several being called for a special venire.

The jury in case of the State against Charles Tiller failed to reach an agreement and was dismissed. At 8:30 last night the jury was hopelessly divided, the vote standing 8 to 4 for acquittal. As the jurors had been out for several hours and were entirely unable to reach an agreement they were dismissed by Judge Hamilton.

In the case of Christ Olson against A. C. Hanson, the jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff, allowing him $783.30, the full amount asked for, together with $100 attorney fees. The decision was reached upon the first ballot.

Embraced by Monkey.

A horrible experience befell a letter carrier's wife of Babylon, N. Y., when a monkey dropped on her shoulders from a tree and embraced her. She was riding in her surrey through a lonely stretch of road, between Babylon and Lindenhurst when something dropped as if from the sky and landed on the seat beside her. When hairy arms encircled her neck she screamed and an unidentified rabbit hunter appeared on the scene and shot the monkey. The dead monkey was brought back to Babylon, where the woman will have it stuffed as a memento of her unusual experience. The monkey is believed to have escaped from a ship off the coast near Babylon.

Rifle and Shotgun Combined.

Four-barreled guns are a recent invention of an eastern gunsmith. They generally have two rifle and two shotgun barrels, although the arrangement is occasionally varied. Two shotgun barrels of the same gauge are usually placed on top, while below them are two rifle barrels, one of high caliber and the other of low caliber. In some designs the rifle barrels are placed one above and one below the two shotgun barrels. This type of gun, it is thought, will be of particular advantage for hunting in a territory where a wide variety of game abounds. The weight of the guns is about eight and a half pounds.

To Protect Plants.

Growers placed parchment cones over the hills of cantaloupes to protect the young plants against insects at the suggestion of the county extension agent in Dona Ana county, New Mexico. It was found that the temperature under the cones remained from five to ten degrees above that of the outside air, so that plants under them were not injured by a light freeze which killed unprotected plants in that district. The growers stated that the covers paid for themselves in securing better and more uniform germination aside from the protection against insects and frost.

QUEST FOR OIL FAILURE

ASTORIA, Feb. 21.—The well drilled by the Lower Columbia Oil & Gas company on the tidelands about three miles from Astoria has proved to be a "dry hole." Saturday evening the well was shot by the explosion of 120 quarts of nitroglycerin at the 3700-foot level, and while the explosion was followed by a great outrush of gas, bailings made yesterday and today failed to bring any oil.

The casing is now being pulled and will be salvaged, and the affairs of the company wound up as soon as possible. Approximately $250,000 was expended on the project and the hole was sunk to a depth of 4300 feet.
