

the Secret of Serving DELICIOUS SALADS at Every Dinner - at Insignificant Cost

EVERYONE would like to serve salads at every dinner—but if you use the oil liberally, and drench the salad, as you should, it is used up quickly. This makes imported olive oil quite expensive.

WITH Mazola, however, the price is so reasonable that you can use it as liberally as you wish—and once you try it you will prefer Mazola to the finest imported olive oil.

MAZOLA is so sweet and pure, and blends so wonderfully with your other salad ingredients, that once you become acquainted with it, you will be delighted to serve a Mazola-dressed salad at every dinner.

YOUR grocer sells Mazola in pint, quart, half-gallon and gallon tins, packed and sealed under expert supervision. It is never sold in bottles or in bulk. If Mazola is unsatisfactory to you, your grocer refunds the cost without question.

here is the way to make PERFECT FRENCH DRESSING Just take a small bowl, put 1 tablespoonful of sugar, 1/2 teaspoon white pepper, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon ground mustard, 1/2 teaspoon paprika. Beat into the dry ingredients 1 cup of Mazola, a drop or two at a time. Add 1/2 cup of vinegar and juice of 1/2 lemon. The longer you beat French dressing, the better it is. It should then be placed on ice to become chilled before using.

RIVALRY IN LOVE VIVIDLY SHOWN IN PLAY AT LIBERTY Picture fans who accept the theory of love at first sight will have something more to think about when they see "Thorns and Orange Blossoms," the Preferred Picture now playing at the Liberty Theatre for the last time tonight.

When the hero of the piece goes to Spain to transact business for his firm he sits down to the piano in his apartment one evening to play "La Paloma." A golden voice in the distance takes up the song and the falls in love with Rosita Mendez, the prima donna of Madrid, before he has much as laid eyes on her. But let it be known that the creature in the flesh is by no means a disappointment, for Rosita is enacted by the beautiful Estelle Taylor who personifies all the fascination of the popular conception of a dashing senorita. When her lover returns to America she follows him on the pretense of fulfilling an engagement to sing in the United States. Her voice reaches his ears just as he is preparing for his wedding to an old time sweetheart and needless to say it stirs him to sudden panic. What the outcome is forms the basis of the story which thrilled our fathers and mothers a generation ago when the famous Bertha M. Clay book was published.

ROBERTS WEARS MONOCLE

Theodore Roberts has traded his famous laugh-provoking cigar for a monocle and a pair of pirate's boots! Mr. Roberts is seen at Captains Morgan Fring, a semi-piratical trader of the South Seas, in Thomas Meighan's latest Paramount picture, "The Man Who Saw Tomorrow," which will be the attraction at the Antlers Theatre tonight. Instead of the well-known cigar, Roberts is armed with a monocle and through much of the picture he wages a losing battle against a pair of boots a size too small for him.

A cast reminiscent of Cecil B. DeMille's production of "Manslaughter" was selected for the picturization of "The Man Who Saw Tomorrow." The star—Thomas Meighan—and his leading woman, Lestree Joy, headed the preceding DeMille cast. Theodore Roberts, Albert Roscoe, Alec Francis, Eva Novak, June Elvidge, John Miller—another member of the DeMille cast—Laurence Wheat, Robert Brower and Edward Patrick comprise the rest of this distinguished group.

HOLDS INTEREST TO THE LAST

There is a fight in "Scrap Iron," the latest Charles Ray feature, distributed through First National, to be shown at the Majestic Theatre tonight. It is probably the most realistic fight seen on the screen and with its dramatic finish, one would naturally imagine that the logical end of the photoplay had arrived. As a matter of fact, the end of the fight is not even anti-climatical for what follows holds the interest tenfold to the very last scene. One after another the troubles of the plucky boy pile up until relief comes at the last moment, and it is safe to say that the last scene, a close-up showing just the heads of the mother and the boy, will be long remembered by those who see the picture. It is a radical departure from the accepted end of a feature.
