CLOSING OUT SALE!

PACKED! JAMMED! SUCH CROWDS!!

IT'S 6 O'CLOCK in the evening as we write this ad—and, thank goodness—the crowds are gone! On checking up the day's receipts, our records show the GREATEST BUSINESS FOR ONE DAY in the history of the Store! It is our opinion that we would have had more business if we had fewer buyers and more clerks. As it was—we were literally overwhelmed by the crowds—in spite of the fact that the doors were locked repeatedly and scores kept waiting on the sidewalks.

NEWS FROM GREEN AND VICINITY

Many of the residents of this vicinity went to Eugene Thursday to attend the Price evangelistic meetings, as it was "Roseburg" day. They report a splendid reception from Eugene folks, and a very good attendance at the meetings.

Mrs. S. M. Kelley of the "Korner" is being extensively entertained in Portland, and northern part of the state. She is the state vice president of the Rebekah lodge of Oregon.

Rev. Needham brought us the Gospel message at Green church service last Sunday. The text was found in Peter 2:3-18, and was helpfully explained to the large number present. We have church services every Sunday, the different denominations being represented. XXX.

ROSEBURG CROWD ATTENDS MEETING

About 85 people from Roseburg and vicinity attended the Price revival meetings at the armory in Eugene Thursday. The special seats reserved for us were very comfortable, and we were made to feel perfectly at home by the Eugene people; a song of welcome was sung by the Eugene people present, just before the beginning of the afternoon service and under the able leadership of Rev. Quick. Roseburg responded graciously.

It seemed good to see the members of the evangelistic party again. This is the first week of the campaign there, but everything is moving smoothly. Two powerful sermons were given by Rev. Price, the afternoon text from Ephesians 6th chapter, and the evening from 1st chapter of Acts.

Miss Carvell sang "Ye Must Be Born Again" at the evening service in a most impressive manner. The choir is a very good one and rendered the songs in a pleasing way.

The altar was filled with seeking souls at both the afternoon and evening meetings. Thirteen Roseburg people gave their testimony as to the healing of their bodies by God thru the prayer of faith, while Rev. Price was in Roseburg. This was the first healing night at Eugene, and some wonderful healings were experienced, several Roseburg people being in line and were wonderfully blessed.

Rev. Price called the Roseburg delegation on the platform at the close of the afternoon meeting, and both he and Mrs. Price expressed their appreciation of our coming. The delegation met at the Salvation Army hall at 7 o'clock in the evening and had prayer, then headed by the splendid Salvation Army band of 14 pieces, marched in a body to the armory for the evening meeting.

Just before the opening of the evening meeting a sudden crash followed by screams shocked the audience. One of the bleachers used for the basketball games had collapsed, throwing the 130 people to the floor. One woman had a scratch on her ankle and another was carried to the air, faint from the shock but uninjured. The wonderful presence of mind of Rev. Price and the others prevented a panic, shouting was begun at once, and continued until all were seated, that had fallen, and the extent of the collapse was determined. It was marvelous that no one was injured as some fell several feet. It was stated that most of the people struck the floor on their feet.

Of course we sang "Hold the Fort." The happy expression on the faces of our delegation was said to indicate that Roseburg was happy in the full Gospel and glad to see Eugene having a chance for happiness also.

About 2500 people attended the evening meeting, and many more were not able to get into the armory. X. X.

PROTECTION WILL BE GIVEN DEER

PORTLAND, March 10.—Remnant of a herd that once roamed the Oregon hills and woods in enormous numbers, the last surviving white-tailed deer of this state, hereafter will receive the protection of the law, State Game Warden Burghoff announced yesterday.

A special refuge will be established in Douglas county, and the season for shooting these beautiful and unique animals will be closed indefinitely. It is the hope of the state game commissioners that by careful segregation and protection in this manner the species will be saved from an impending extinction.

In their hunting Captain Burghoff recalled: "These deer, slightly smaller and more graceful than the average Oregon species and decked with a distinctive cream and white hazy tail, were accustomed to roam in herds of thousands over the state, penetrating as far south as Los Angeles and filling the Wahamette valley. During the last decade game lovers have observed with regret that the white-tailed are gradually disappearing and following the carbon and the atmosphere to virtual extinction. When it was known that the last deer of them, residing in the north-western Douglas county, had been located from notes that 1000 to the present numbers, the state game commissioners were flooded with letters entailing them to take steps to save them. Last month the commissioners met in special session and decided unanimously for a refuge and a closed season. Wild arrangements for the protection of deer were completed yesterday.

The same deer, mentioned in the above, is located on the North

Umpqua river from Winchester upstream to above the Sunshine ranch, and extending back several miles. There are but a very few of the deer left in that vicinity and for several years the residents have been trying to save them by closing their premises to hunters. Poachers, however, have continued to slay them and steps were recently taken to obtain state protection. As the white-tailed deer remain in the same locality, and do not move about as do other species, it is believed that by protection they can be increased in number.

FARM SUPPLIES OF GRAIN SHOW LOSS

Crop is Slightly Low When Compared With Showing of Two Years Ago, But Is Up to the Average

(By Associated Press.)

PORTLAND, Mar. 10.—United States farm supplies of all grains except wheat on March 1, 1923, were slightly less than one year ago, but not materially different from the two-year average, according to reports compiled by the crop reporting bureau, United States department of agriculture.

Percentage of the Oregon grain crop of 1922 remaining on farms March 1, 1923, is reported as follows: Corn, 75%; wheat, 10%; oats, 21%; barley, 16%. On March 1, 1922, supplies of the 1921 crop on hand were: Corn, 10%; wheat, 11%; oats, 30%; barley, 22%. It is probable that the foregoing figures include some grain not actually on farms, but still owned by the growers and stored in warehouses at shipping points.

The United States figures are as follows:

The amount of corn on farms March 1, 1923, was about 1,087,412,000 bushels, or 37.6 per cent of the 1922 crop, against 1,395,539,000 bushels, or 42.8 per cent of the 1921 crop on farms March 1, 1922, and 1,564,832,000 bushels or 48.8 per cent of the 1920 crop on farms March 1, 1921; the 10-year average, 1911 to 1920, is 39.6 per cent. About 17.3 per cent of the crop will be shipped out of the counties where grown, against 19.2 per cent of the 1921 crop and 22.9 per cent of the 1920 crop so shipped; the 10-year average is 18.1 per cent. The proportion of the 1922 crop which is merchantable is about 87.6 per cent (equivalent to 2,533,299 bushels), against 87.5 per cent (2,634,624,000 bushels) of the 1921 crop and 86.9 per cent (2,785,728,000 bushels) of the 1920 crop; the 10-year average is 89.1 per cent.

The amount of wheat on farms March 1, 1923, was about 153,134,000 bushels or 17.3 per cent of the 1922 crop, against 134,253,000 bushels or 16.5 per cent of the 1921 crop on farms March 1, 1923, and 217,937,000 bushels or 26.1 per cent of the 1920 crop on farms March 1, 1921; the 10-year average is 19.2 per cent. About 67.1 per cent of the crop will be shipped out of the counties where grown, against 61.7 per cent of the 1921 crop and 58.9 per cent of the 1920 crop so shipped; the 10-year average is 57.1 per cent.

The amount of oats on farms March 1, 1923, was about 421,311,000 bushels or 34.7 per cent of the 1922 crop, against 411,534,000 bushels or 34.2 per cent of the 1921 crop on farms March 1, 1922, and 683,759,000 bushels or 45.7 per cent of the 1920 crop on farms March 1, 1921; the 10-year average is 36.3 per cent. About 24.9 per cent of the crop will be shipped out of the counties where grown, against 23.9 per cent of the 1921 crop and 25.9 per cent of the 1920 crop so shipped; the 10-year average is 23.1 per cent.

The amount of barley on farms March 1, 1923, was about 43,592,000 bushels or 23.4 per cent of the 1922 crop, against 42,294,000 bushels or 27.3 per cent of the 1921 crop on farms March 1, 1922, and 69,229,000 bushels or 34.5 per cent of the 1920 crop on farms March 1, 1921; the 10-year average is 22.9 per cent. About 37.1 per cent of the crop will be shipped out of the counties where grown, against 36.0 per cent of the 1921 crop and 35.3 per cent of the 1920 crop so shipped; the 10-year average is 34.4 per cent.

Green P. T. A. meeting on Friday night was very well attended and a good program was given. Vocal solos were given by Miss Virginia Houz, and Mr. Sigourney. Mrs. Claypool and Miss Neva Agee gave humorous readings. Mr. Goff led the "sing" and Mr. Austin offered prayer.

Mr. Goff gave items of interest concerning the essays on the care of the teeth, the prize to be given by the state dentists' association; bulletins that would be helpful to the farmers; the track meet to be held May 18th by the county schools. He urged the parents to help the children by the necessary discipline at home, that the entire time at school may be used for studies. The business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. John Howard, and a vote taken by Mrs. Howard concerning the serving of hot lunches was unanimously in favor of continuing them next year.

A very substantial lunch was served and all voted it a very pleasant and instructive evening's entertainment.

REEDSPORT CREAMERY CLOSES ITS DOORS

REEDSPORT, March 9.—The ReedSPORT creamery officially shut its doors Tuesday, March 7, after operating in ReedSPORT for over 10 years. Lack of co-operation, he said by D. J. Hoffman, who had charge of the work, to be the cause of the business failure.

Two weeks ago, the board of directors decided to raise $5000 for improvements on the plant and to double its size. Subscriptions amounting to $2100 had been turned in up to the date of the closing. By Wednesday checks to refund the sum, had been made out. The company is composed of about 47 stockholders.

Farmers who have been most loyal in their patronage to the firm are taking their cream to Coos Bay where they are receiving top Portland prices f. o. b. station, which at present is 45 cents per pound.

The closing of the creamery robs the city of $50,000 to $100,000 a year in business transaction, and the county of $150.00 a year in taxes. The property and machinery are owned by the stockholders, and as yet no decision has been made for its disposition.

D. J. Hoffman has accepted a position with a creamery in Mount Angel said to be turning out half a million pounds of butter a year. During his stay here the creamery was awarded a $25 prize at the Yakima fair last year and Tuesday a diploma of merit arrived from Portland.
