WHAT THE "FLAPPER" NEEDS

Everywhere and everlastingly, it seems, someone is discouraging to us on woman's sphere, the crying need to "live one's own life," the beauty of self-expression! Yet we observe that, with the whole world before them, the vast majority of women still choose to marry, establish a home, and raise a family. What the rising generation of flappers need more than anything else is to get back to the good old-fashioned virtues that made for happy families. The young women of today have countless advantages their grandmothers never dreamed of, but there would be far more happy homes if they, too, excelled in the arts of cookery, fine needlework, and the thrifty managing of a limited income. Think what it would mean in comfort, health, and happiness, not only to the young woman herself who expects to start out in a new home of her own, but her husband and to her family, if she could cook well balanced, tempting meals, at least make her own simple dresses, and in general run her little domain economically and efficiently on a business-like basis! But take hope! The world's not going to the bad. We're moving in the right direction. Domestic science is one of the prescribed courses in most public schools today. Right now there is a nation-wide revival of interest in the fascinating art of home dressmaking. Countless women budget their household expenses and balance accounts as carefully as any office manager. We're just old-fashioned enough to think that if a woman doesn't have any intention of running the home end of a marriage partnership efficiently, she has no business to join the firm. That's why we say that the rising generation needs to get back to the old-fashioned virtues. On the average salary of today, with our ever-increasing list of "necessities," it's what you might call some job to make anything that resembles a home without 'em!

THE VILLAGE RHYMESTER
by Carlyle Emery

Dear Folks:

I made a million dollars in some stock the other day. At last, thought I, Good Fortune has been steered around my way. I'll pay my bills up quickly, then I'll buy some things I need. I can't spend a million, regardless of the speed in which I waste my dollars, so I guess the world is mine. I'm sitting nice and pretty, to be wealthy's mighty fine.

Then the news began to travel of the sudden wealth I had, and folks began a begging with some stories that were sad. Then salesmen by the thousands kept a knocking at my door and the I ordered freely, they would all come back for more.

I gave to schools and churches, not a Charity was missed. I found my name was written at the top of every list of people who were patrons to most any kind of art. They said I was a millionaire who had an open heart. I kept my check book ready and a pen within my hand, the friends who came to see me drew a house and plot of land. My million quickly dwindled 'til I found that I was broke, when every cent had vanished, it was then I awoke.

My dream of wealth and power had been broken by the Sun. I'd like to dream it over for I had a lot of fun.

PUBLIC AUCTION!
Notice is hereby given that ye ed. of Prune Pickin's will hold a public auction on his premises on Saturday the 7th day of April for the purpose of disposing of all ancient and be-whiskered gags which have been mailed to this sanctum for publication in this column, said gags being guaranteed to be of the 1849 vintage and rust-proof. Bids will be accepted with a check for half the amount of the sale price enclosed and no credit will be extended to those wishing to make an exchange of jokes.

Ye ed. attended a movie last eve which starred some Hollywood dame named Betty Compson and the theme of the flicker was something about "having and holding"—which the folks who have babies are familiar with. After six reels of sword fighting and the final fadeout of a big smack we've decided that movie life isn't what it's painted. We knew all the time the hero would con off the leading lady but we can't for the life of us see why the director made the old boy fight likeli for the final kiss.

CAMAS VALLEY SCHOOL NOTES

The grade boys and girls are now busy preparing for the track meet. The local meet will be held about May the first, and two weeks before the county meet. The sectional meet will be held at Ten Mile. Here's hoping the grades carry off many honors in both the sectional and the county meets. The high school expects to enter some contestants this year.

The eighth English class is working on a history of the pioneer days of Camas Valley. Almost all of the material comes from the old settlers. A valuable fund of information is being collected. Within a month we expect to have the work completed. Maple Wiley is absent from school on account of a severe attack of tonsillitis. Helen Parrott was absent a few days last week on account of illness.

Last Saturday evening the freshmen and sophomore classes entertained the juniors, the seniors, the eighth graders, and the alumni with an outdoor party and wienner roast. All gathered at the grove near the upper school about eight o'clock. The first part of the evening was spent in playing Blackman. Flying

ADVICE TO THE LOVELORNby
MRS. ELLSBURY

(Address all communications to Mrs. Ellsbury, care of News-Review.)

Dear Mrs. Ellsbury: I have been going with a certain young man about my own age for about a year. When he calls on me it is proper for me to accompany him out on the porch when he leaves. Would it be proper for me to allow him to kiss me good night? Do you think he has a right to limit my privilege as to going out with other boy friends? We are not engaged. Thank you for what ever advice you will give me.

Ans: There is nothing especially improper about accompanying the young man to the porch, although it is not necessary if he has been calling on you during the evening. No, you should not allow him to kiss you good night. Privileges, such as that, lightly given, are lightly taken, and you lower your own value in their eyes, even though it may not seem so at the time. He may think he has a right to ask you not to go out with anyone else, but do not let him take this right. Any girl is very foolish to allow a man to whom she is not engaged restrict her friendships. Even if he is angry about it, remember that a little honest jealousy will not hurt him, and that by showing him that others beside himself enjoy your company, he will value it more highly.

Dear Mrs. Ellsbury: I would like some information concerning the extension work at the University of Oregon. It is possible to get credits for this work that could be used in work at the college later. How many could I get?

Ans: Write the "Extension Department," University of Oregon, Eugene, Oregon, and they will mail you a booklet giving all the desired information and an outline of the courses that may be taken from the extension department.

When do you really "wake up" in the morning?

Do the golden morning hours find you wide-awake and fit, or do they find you sleepy and tired?

Coffee is a common cause of sleepless nights, which bring drowsy days with their usual train of neglected opportunities.

Why not get a new, firm grip on yourself, by leaving off coffee for awhile and drinking Postum, a wholesome, delicious, mealtime beverage, with a fine, full-bodied flavor you will like.

You can enjoy Postum any time, day or night, without interference with nerves or digestion.

Made by Postum Cereal Company, Inc., Battle Creek, Michigan

Your grocer sells Postum in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) prepared instantly in the morning by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages) for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared; made by boiling fully 20 minutes.

Dutchman, Hide-and-seek, and other outdoor games. About eleven o'clock all gathered around a large bonfire and feasted on roasted wieners and buns. After lunch all departed for home load in their praises of the sophomores and freshmen as entertainers.

The boys basketball team of Camas Valley high school expects to meet the Looking Glass boys in a match game next Saturday, April 7, on our court. If the day is stormy, the game will be played in the Martindale hall.

Monday evening three sets of slides from the university were shown at the schoolhouse. The subjects of the slides were as follows: "Home sanitation and Care of the Sick," "Health and Common Sense," "Work of the County Red Cross Nurse."

The lectures on these were given by Miss Alice Seranton, Mrs. Bonebrake, and Mrs. Brown, all of whom have taken courses in nursing under Miss Smith, former County Red Cross nurse. About fifty-five people were present, and everyone apparently gained much valuable information from the lectures and slides.

TEN MILE AND VICINITY NEWS

The late rains were welcomed by the farmers in this locality. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wilson were Olalla visitors Sunday. Mrs. Lucretia Ollivant of Looking Glass is reported to be in poor health.

The coast highway is in good condition in this locality but Camas mountain is reported very rough. Rev. Shrode and wife, of Looking Glass visited Ten Mile friends Tuesday.

Word has been received by friends that Mr. Hodges and Mr. and Mrs. Luther Hodges have been quite sick with flu. The old gentleman is still quite feeble.

The goat raisers in this vicinity are busy getting their goats sheared. They expect a fair price for their mohair.

Mr. and Mrs. Barker and Mr. and Mrs. Ulysses Bushnell left for Coos county Sunday.

Little Mabel Ollivant who has been a patient in Mercy hospital, is so improved that she was able to be brought home Tuesday. Mable has been very sick and her many friends are glad to hear she is recovering.

Rev. H. W. Rummel preached an interesting Easter sermon at the Ten Mile church Sunday. The Sunday school gave a short program, and a basket dinner.

T. J. Williams and family expect to move to Roseburg in a few days. We are very sorry to lose them. Mr. Williams is in poor health and his friends hope the change will benefit him.

NOTICE!

The person who took the bicycle in front of 313 E. Douglas St. on Sunday afternoon, please return the same and avoid trouble.

Studebaker

We believe a Studebaker Sedan is good for five to ten years of useful, satisfactory life. We are not positive as to the real life because none has yet worn out.

If, when you trade in your car, you learn that you can get only three or four hundred dollars for it because there is no second-hand market for that make of car, then you must add this extra depreciation to arrive at the real cost of the car.

The trade-in price of Studebaker cars shows a very small depreciation, in many sections the smallest of all makes of motor cars. And there is always a ready market for used cars of Studebaker manufacture.
