What God Says about—TEMPLES

"Ye are the temple of the Living God."*

"Temple," mind you—not a mere ordinary shack; no, nor even simply a tent, but a temple, a dignified place of worship. You are something better indeed than a meeting house—for that is all man can rear for God, though he built as grandly as a St. Peter's at Rome or a St. Paul's in London.

Man cannot make a temple. He did make one once at Jerusalem under the explicit direction of God, but he has never made another.

All the things that men call cathedrals are merely meeting houses. God only can make a temple and He makes one every time a human soul humbly believes on Jesus Christ as his Saviour. "Ye," says Paul, "are the temple of the Living God," believer, and believer only.

Say, brother in Christ, do men recognize in you a place to worship the Living God? This is the way for us Christians to live, so that "Men may see your good works and glorify"—that's the idea, "glorify" or worship, or adore—"your Father which is in heaven. "How can you do it?" Why, by letting the Holy Spirit occupy, cleanse and fill your temple, your being, with Christ love. Let God live and love in His own temple and all will be well.
