PORTLAND, April 18.—Charles Hall, who lost the Republican gubernatorial nomination to Ben W. Powell, Fred L. Clifford, and other unknown members of the Ku Klux Klan.

Garland fixed his damage at $52,500, alleging malice on the part of those who caused his name to be published. Garland said he was accused of having cast a Democratic ballot with Ben W. Olcott's name written in, which ballot was not thrown out but credited in the Republican column to Olcott's total.

Hall admits the erroneous publication, but avers that no malice entered into the case. The suit probably will be tried Wednesday.

By MAURICE NEWLAND
CORVALLIS, April 18.—Polos advent into the Oregon Agricultural college activities is being hailed with enthusiasm. A big start has already been made in establishing it permanently as a sport by scheduling several games for the coming season.

Captain Glenn S. Finley, coach, has completed arrangements with the state fair board representative for a match at the opening of the fair this fall.

O. A. C. will compete again for the northwest championship cup, said Captain Finley. "We expect to have strong teams as a great deal of experience was gained at the last northwest championship tournament in which we won one game from the present champions and lost two to them."

The faculty team is made up of Captain H. C. Paulin, M. J. Bunyon, Lieutenant W. C. Scott, and Captain Glen S. Finley. Benjamin Modest, Wilbur Pentzer, and Alden Burrell hold positions on the student team, but, as yet, number one man has not been picked from the large number of aspirants for the position.

The outlook is bright for an eventful season as several games have already been scheduled. May 12 and 26 have been set aside for games besides the tournament which will be attended by Stanford, Portland Hunt Club, Vancouver burroughs, and Agate teams. Invitations have been received from Palo Alto for a tournament with Stanford June 1, and from Boise for May 30.

The two girls left Seaside this morning about five hours ahead of a party of approximately 200 Seaside residents who had taken a holiday from their duties in order to visit Tillamook head and put the trail in condition for the summer tourist season.

The main party returned at 6 o'clock tonight and about 8 o'clock when it was reported the girls had not returned, inquiry developed that none of the party had seen them during the day.

Astoria View where Hutchison last saw the two girls, in a sheer precipice rising 1500 feet above the surf. Desmond's cave lies on one side of the bluff and the Death Trap lies on the other. Both have been the scenes of a number of fatal accidents when persons making their way along the beach have been trapped by the incoming tide.

Fear was expressed here tonight that the girls might have fallen from one of the bluffs along the trail, which is rocky and in its entire length, or have made their way to the beach and have been caught by the tide. The tide was high at 8:05 o'clock tonight and it would have been impossible for anyone to make his way above the beach from Cannon Beach to Seaside.

Miss Godfrey is the daughter of Mrs. C. M. Godfrey, formerly a resident of this city. She has visited here very frequently and is well known to many Roseburg people and her friends here are very anxious to hear further particulars. Her grandfather was formerly associated with a local bank.
