Your Suit Is On the Job Fifteen Hours a Day

Fifteen hours a day is the service that the average man expects from his clothes. Not many machines are called upon to do such constant duty.

That is why you must be sure to get real quality when you buy a suit. You can't get fifteen hours a day any other way.

BABE, LOST IN NEAR EAST, IS FOUND FOR MOTHER WHO BRANDED HIM WITH KNIFE

(International News Service.)

NEW YORK, April 19.—A premonition of impending disaster which impelled a mother, now in California, to brand her baby son with a knife at the outbreak of the World War, in Turkey, has led to finding the son among children rescued by Near East relief workers, according to Laird Archer, of Wichita, Kan., who has just returned from the Near East.

The brand was no simple mark but a terrific series of perpendicular slashes parallel in two rows across the full width of the boy's shoulders Archer states.

"The mother unquestionably believed that the baby, if lost in the separations of families which she feared would come, must present a conspicuous, shocking reason for attracting attention and make him forever remembered by any who saw him," he said. "One cannot estimate the mental suffering she must have undergone to do it. But she was right. Even with the scars, his being found is a miracle in the turmoil of disasters since the war."

Brand Is Salvation

Thanks to the brand therefore, the mother—Mrs. B. Torosian, of Dinuba, California—is preparing for what to her is an actual resurrection—reunion with the blue-eyed golden-haired son who has been lost for eight years.

Searched for Two Years

The baby was stolen from her when two years old by a Turkish officer, near Mardin, during deportations of Armenians from Ezeroum to the Arabian desert, in June, 1915, according to records filed by the mother with American authorities at Beirut. The father died from privations, but the mother escaped to this country. After a vivid dream that the boy still lived she determined to try a search.

"It was begun two years ago," said Archer. "The mother enlisted the aid of Miss Adelaide S. Dwight, a Smith College woman, who broadcasted drawings of the remarkable scars over the entire Near East through the machinery of the Near East Relief. Miss Dwight was born in Turkey and states that she believed the search was useless in the changing tides of homeless humanity sweeping over that huge area. But she persisted. Finally one of the drawings came into the hands of a Kansas school teacher, Miss Carolyne McAfee, of Kansas City, now in Syria. The thought of the mother's hopeless quest led her to make a personal inspection of every rescued child among ten thousand as they were brought out of Turkey to safety. But she heard of the curious brand before she saw it. The boy was famous for it among refugees and orphan children.

Was Sold For Fifty Cents

"The boy's side of the story is that he was bought for the sum of fifty cents by the Armenian family named Avian, in Mardin, from the Turkish officer who stole him. The brand again had done it. The officer's superstition could not endure the sight of it, the Avian family told the boy. This saved him from being reared as a Turkish soldier. The Avian family was killed. The boy wandered, known always by the Turkish word for 'sear boy', although the Avian family gave him the name of "George." He did not know his real name of Loris. One may speculate on the boy's wonder at the intentions of a mother who would so disfigure her own son, or his wonder at how he came by so terrific a mark.

"But Miss McAfee explained to me that the brand not only had probably saved his life, but had been accepted as proper identification by immigration officials for entrance to America to join his mother. 'My great sorrow is that my other children have neither brands or mothers,' she told me, 'and must depend upon the philanthropy of Uncle Sam'es.'"

MOVIES

"WHAT'S WRONG WITH THE WOMEN?" TO BE SHOWN

The eternal battle of the sexes, raging from the very dawn of the human race, is the theme of Daniel Carson Goodman's powerfully dramatic and prophetic photoplay, "What's Wrong With The Women?" which opens its engagement of two days at the Liberty Saturday.

Woman, according to the view of Mr. Goodman, long noted as a writer and producer of plays for the stage and screen, has realized that if she is to hold her own in this, one of life's greatest battlesthe battle of her own sex—she must borrow from the weapons of experience.

That is way, sir. Goodman shows in bold and powerful strokes, she does not distain the rouge pot, the powder puff, the pencil, the art of the manicurist and the subtlety of the dress-makers.

Mr. Goodman employs real characters of flesh and blood to tell his amazing story on the screen but he goes far beyond mere individuals. He treats the theme as a massive human canvas—as a world problem for the answer to which great men have been vainly groping for centuries.

"What's Wrong With the Women?" is not unkind to womanhood. It is in no sense a sermon or propaganda in behalf of mere men. But it reveals the modern woman in all her strength and weaknesses and shows by means of a tremendously dramatic human story how woman, in the present high-powered era of jazz and bootleggers, can best serve society. In the cast are such noted players as Wilton Lackaye, Rod La Rocque, Barbara Castleton, Montagu Love, Huntley Gordon, Julia Swayne Gordon, Constance Bennett, Hedda Hopper and Mrs. Oscar Hammerstein. R. William Neil was the director and the picture was made for Equity.

"QUINCY ADAMS SAWYER," COMING PHOTOPLAY HIT

A cast which numbers some of the most popular actors and actresses in motion pictures today is seen in "Quincy Adams Sawyer," the Metro St. photoplay which is scheduled for presentation tonight at the Antlers theatre. It is just one of the elements which go to make this motion picture one of the truly worthwhile screen efforts of the season. Persons who have seen this rural classic in its screen form maintain it is a delightful, and at the same time, exciting and interesting picture.

In the strong cast is seen Blanche Sweet, Lon Chaney, Barbara La Marr John Bowers, Elmo Lincoln, Hank Mann, Louise Fazenda, June Elvidge, Zazu Pitts and others.

The photoplay is a screen version of Charles Felton Pidgin's novel of the same name, of which more than a million copies were sold. Its story is considered the most representative of all dealing with rural life in New England.

Clarence Badger, directed this photoplay, for which Bernard McConville wrote the scenario. It was produced by Arthur Sawyer and Herbert Lubin, and is released by Metro.

"LIGHTS OF DESERT," WITH SHIRLEY MASON

Flashing her smiles from the screen, Shirley Mason will greet local picture fans tonight at the Majestic theatre in her latest Fox production, "Lights of the Desert." The story, by Gladys E. Johnson, is well filled with tense moments and dramatic situations of powerful appeal as well as touches in the lighter vein. In others words, it would appear to be an ideal photoplay for Miss Mason; and this, indeed is how it is decribed by many reviewers in other towns.

An excellent cast has been chosen to support the star. Her leading man is Allan Forrest, a very capable young actor.

Kidney and Bladder Troubles HAVE TO GO

Clogged up Kidney Deposits are Dissolved and the Toxins (Poisons) Completely Driven Out. Druggists Told to Guarantee It in Every Instance.

"Your very life," says Dr. Carey, "depends upon the perfect functioning and health of your kidneys so whatever you do don't neglect them."

Dr. Carey's famous Prescription No. 723 known for years as Marshroots is now recommended for everything, but we cannot too strongly urge its use if you suffer from annoying bladder troubles, frequent passing of water night and day with smarting or irritation, brick dust sediment or highly colored urine, bloating, irritability with loss of flesh, or any other testimony of kidney disease, diabetes or Gravel, for this disease in its worst form may be coming upon you.

Don't wait until to-morrow to learn the use of this wonderful prescription now obtainable in both liquid and tablet form if you have any of the above symptoms. Kidney and Bladder troubles don't wear away. They will grow upon you slowly, stealthily and with relentless certainty. If you even suspect that you are a victim of Kidney Disease, don't lose a single day for Nash-Jo Fullerton, the Rexall store, Cass Street, Roseburg, Ore., and every druggist has been authorized to return the purchase money on the first bottle to all who state they have received no benefit.

HISTORIC TREE SLIPS PLANTED

VANCOUVER, Wash., April 19.—The historic "witness tree" which marked the spot here from which early government surveys were made and Oregon and Washington township lines were numbered, fell into the Columbia river June 28, 1909, undermined by a freshet, but the tree still lives not only in memory of pioneers but through slips saved from the old cottonwood which now are on the way toward attaining the size of the parent.

The latest of these slips to be planted with ceremonies was recently placed in the courthouse lawn here. It was presented to the county by A. A. Quarnberg, who cut slips from the historic tree when it fell. One of the young trees was presented to the state school for the deaf March 16, 1871, a second was planted on Main street here on a triangular plot of ground owned by the city, while 200 feet of where the parent tree had stood.

"DON'T GAMBLE" MONTE CARLO'S CROUPIERS SAY

By HARRY R. FLORY,
(International News Service Staff Correspondent.)

MONTE CARLO, April 18.—"Don't gamble!" You have as much chance to win as the pigeons at the live pigeon shoot down on the terrace have to escape with their lives."

That's the advice of the croupiers at the roulette tables at the Monte Carlo Casino—of the men whose life business is gambling.

There is no "system" no way of beating the house in the long run, no way of predicting when or how often the little ball is going to flop into any certain number on the whirling red and black disk, a score of croupiers questioned by International News Service agreed. All were emphatic also in saying that if they were not working in the Casino they would never think of risking even five francs at such a game, in which luck is the only winning factor.

"You always lose in the end," one croupier twenty years in the service declared. "There is no system, but if you happen to be lucky enough to win at the start quit immediately. If you keep on playing you are bound to lose."

Another croupier advised that taking a walk or going to bed would be much more profitable than gambling in the Casino.

But in spite of the advice of these veterans, recognized as sound by almost every person who plays, the roulette tables are constantly crowded with persons— men and women, young and old—all eager to have the croupiers place their chips on what they believe are their lucky numbers.

The devices for picking lucky numbers are ingenious, according to the croupiers.

Many persons start by betting on the number or numbers represented by their coat checks. Others have numbers which they believe are particularly lucky for them and which they always play.

One American actress always plays three numbers, ei... twenty-eight—the five ... was born on the ... the second because she ... ried on the eighth of ... ago and the third ... twenty-eight years old ... certain that her com... make a big winning ... those three numbers.
