LEOPARD INVADERS TOWN IN BURMA. (By Associated Press.) MANDALAY, Burma, May 4.—Wide-spread excitement has been created among Mandalay residents by the discovery of a full-grown leopard hiding in a house in one of the most crowded quarters. The beast ranged large for a short time, but was shot by an officer of the Irrawaddy Delta Company before doing any damage. How this leopard found its way into the city is not definitely known. Some thought it came from the neighborhood of Amarapura where there is a large area of thick jungle. Another story was that it boarded one of the Irrawaddy steamers which tie up outside the bank at night, and was carried to Mandalay. It had been more than 10 years since a leopard penetrated into Mandalay though one was killed only a few miles from the city last August. Leopards are still common in the thick jungle which abounds in every part of Burma, but usually confine their operations to the cattle of villagers. In 1901 a leopard appeared in Bassein, in Lower Burma, and killed and wounded several people before it was shot. Tigers, also, are still common in some parts of Burma. Less than a year ago a tiger was killed only 15 miles from Rangoon, a city of 340,000. It has not been many years since a tiger entered the city of Rangoon and was found about a third of the way up a pagoda. It had climbed up in the night and was unable to get down, and had to be shot from the pagoda platform. Wild elephants are protected by law and are still to be found in some sections of the country. One member of a large herd was killed recently only 20 miles from Rangoon. Domesticated elephants are used extensively in the lumber camps for moving heavy timbers. Jungle cats and deer remain abundant, and often enter the towns. Recently a large jungle cat was killed in Rangoon, where it had chased a domestic cat into the interior of a house.
