HOME STORE SERVICE

The real test of economy in purchasing supplies is not in the original price paid. Cheap goods are usually the most costly. The really thrifty purchase is the one where you pay a fair price for a good article and get something that will last a long time.

High school graduates who expect to make a success in the business world need not worry about their early income. A conservative beginning is far better than a complete failure late in life.

Things are getting real wild west like in this neck of the woods. Last week we pulled off a bank robbery and last night highwaymen were plying their vocation on the Pacific Highway south of the city.

An army of caterpillars delayed the Albany-Newport train an hour and thirty minutes yesterday. This is nothing unusual, however, to those who are accustomed to traveling on this road.

In anticipation of present weather conditions continuing over next Sunday quite a number of local automobile owners are limbering up their elbows and tuning up their machines for the speedway, formerly known as the Pacific highway.

Dispatches state that jazz music will be run out of the churches in Kansas City, Mo. Out west the thing never got into the churches—not even to the front doorstep.

When those Grangers return from their annual gathering at Newport they'll all be trying to plant a sea food garden where their broccoli use to grow.

A Portland man pawned his wife's false teeth. Probably for the reason that she "chewed the rag" too much.

Tiller will again be put on the map during the month of July with a two days' celebration.

THE VILLAGE RHYMESTER

by Carlyle Emery

Dear Folks—

The bandits rule in China and they're stealing left and right. An army of a million is prepared to serap and fight a'tho no menace is at hand to make old China fear her country is in danger or that war is drawing near.

Her trouble lies in lack of funds to pay her debts and bills, and lack of funds will always bring an avalanche of ills. Her soldiers go without their pay and so they rob and steal, and take the cash that China needs to save her from the heel of wreck and utter ruin that's appearing in the sky with threats that China's credit is about to sink and die.

It's graft and theft that's pulling her up the jagged rocks, and such a pair, the open door to commerce always blocks. Her railroads are in trouble and the future that's ahead, makes every thinking Chinaman in sorrow, bow his head. For credit is the byword of a Nation large or small, and credit is the light-house than can guide us one and all.

When bills are paid promptly then the credit's nice and sweet and puts a strong foundation underneath the payers' feet. But let your credit tumble 'cause you're guilty of neglect; like China, then your future will look clouded, dim and specked.

THE LITTLE FELLER

He's only some five an' a half years old, an' they say he's bright for his size. He never forgets a thing he's told, ner what he may glimpse with his eyes. So, I've got to be keeful what I do in front of my off-spring-guest, for I'm the chap that he keeps in view—this feller that knows me best.

I've got to look pleasant around the house an' cultivate manners new. For I can't make a move that this little mouse don't copy the thing I do. In short, I'm livin' a constant prayer, with anxious heart in my breast, an' I reckon it's nothin' more than fair—to the feller that knows me best.

MILLIONS AWAIT CHICAGO MAN'S MISSING HEIRS

SEEK SCIONS IN POLAND

One Hundred and Eighty Million Dollars Now Reported to Be Unclaimed Legacy

By JACK CEJNAR (International News Service Staff Correspondent) CHICAGO, June 7.—Where are the heirs of Abraham Horowitz, whose fortune, left unwilled thirty years ago, is now reported to have grown, through compound interest, to a staggering total larger than the foreign debt of Poland. From all over Europe come answering cries every five years or so, with a recurrence of the golden fleece yarn. Weird stories of the fabulous mountains of gold said to be held in trust in Chicago for the unknown heirs, for whom the American authorities are reported to be searching, have once more spread through central Europe, particularly in Poland, from where Horowitz is said to have emigrated. Gripping descriptions of the wealth which is "merely" awaiting the appearance of Horowitz's relatives were recently again published in Jewish newspapers in Poland. "It is already over thirty years," the Polish journal "Jedynosc" reported, "since, in Chicago, died a man called Abraham Horowitz. He came from Yawow, Poland, to America and became a millionaire. He died and left a fortune which will now reach, together with the interest the sum of $180,000,000. In Polish marks it would be not less than seven trillion and two hundred millions. The legal heirs are Jews, who live now in Zaglombie, Czstochau, Petrikov, and Ledz. Among them are very near relatives of the dead millionaire. One of the chief heirs is a rabbi, in Chortkow, Poland. In Czestochau there is one heir by the name of Sholime Horowitz, a baker, who claims to be a nephew of the dead Horowitz."

The newspaper Lodzer Tagblatt reports that all the claimants of his fortune will convene this summer, in Warsaw, and select a delegation to send to Chicago to attempt collection of the fortune.

Another publication—the Czestochauer Abreiter Zeitung—is the authority for the statement that one of the Polish lawyers who is busy with all the official formalities and who is active in collecting the $180,000,000 for the Polish heirs is the famous lawyer Stawsky, in Warsaw. The Lit declares: "It would be necessary to take into consideration that the $180,000,000 waiting for the Horowitz heirs is a greater sum than all the debts which the Polish government owes to foreign nations. The money would improve the course of Polish currency. The Polish government should, therefore, become interested and help the heirs to collect this fortune, which has already waited for them 32 years."

But where, in Chicago, rest those crates of heavy, sparking gold or the gilt-edged securities that the frugal Horowitz accumulated but could not take with him?

State Fire Marshall Pomeroy, who went to Seattle yesterday with Sheriff Stusher of Clatsop county, to interview Bert Lynch, prisoner in the stockade, suspected of incendiarism in connection with the fire at the Beehive store in Astoria on April 18, disclosed here today that evidence to connect the prisoner with the April fire was strong enough to cause the request that when Lynch is released from a thirty-day sentence, June 21, that he be turned over to Oregon authorities. White-of-Egg in Calumet a Vital Element Most Baking Powders Lack Don't use a leavener that does not contain white-of-egg. When you do you take chances—you run the risk of spoiling your bakings.

CALUMET The Economy BAKING POWDER

contains a small amount of white-of-egg. This makes it possible for representatives of the company to test it frequently for leavening strength—right on the dealer's counter. Nothing but absolutely fresh stock is permitted to remain on the dealers' shelves. It must always be up to the high Calumet standard.

Remember the white-of-egg in Calumet protects the success of your bakings. It is the economical positive baking aid and its sale is 2 1/2 times as much as that of any other brand. A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 ounces. Some baking powders come in 12 ounce cans instead of 16 ounce cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.
