SELF CONTROL ON THE BALL GROUNDS

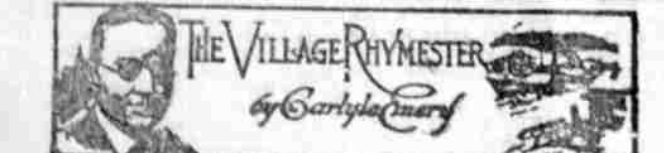

The American ball game crowd seem to contain a good deal of explosive material. As you hear the anxious partisans of the contending teams yelling "Robber," "Take him out," etc., you would think that a general fight was coming. These fans get extremely angry over the decisions of His Majesty the Umpire, or alleged cheating of opponents. If a South American crowd with their Latin and Indian blood were to show equal emotion, you might expect that daggers would soon be drawn, and there would very likely be riot and murder. It is significant of American temper, that all this hot blood manifested at ball games so rarely breaks out into violent action. While the umpire traditionally is supposed to risk taking a licking, it is very rare that he gets anything worse than hard names. No matter how the contending players may yell and threaten, something seems to hold them back. After a few moments of arguing, the conservative element in any American crowd begins to get disgusted. "Play ball" is heard from all over the grand stand. Our people realize that good sportsmanship calls for the worsted team to take its ill fortune good naturedly. If it is getting a raw deal, it is better to submit and get a better referee the next time. These indications of prevailing temper are full of hope for the future of our country. The people who are thus disposed to submit to the rule of authority in their games, will in the long run do the same thing in the bigger game of business and industry. If the young men learned nothing more out of baseball than the lesson of taking defeat with good grace and submitting to properly constituted authority, the time devoted to it would be well spent.

Did you consume 945 pounds of whole milk in some form or other last year? According to the United States Department of Agriculture nearly 103 billion pounds of whole milk was used in 1922 in the production of butter, cheese, ice cream, milk chocolate and various other milk products, including 47 billion pounds consumed as milk. The quantity of whole milk used in 1921 was approximately 99 billion pounds, which includes 45 billion pounds consumed as milk. Consumption of milk for household purposes increased from 49 gallons per capita in 1921 to 50 gallons in 1922 according to the Department's figures. Consumption by city folks increased 2 gallons per capita but lack of any increased consumption in rural communities pulled down the average increase for the country as a whole to 1 gallon. A big increase in consumption of milk chocolate is shown, 100 million pounds of whole milk being used for this purpose in 1922 as compared with 40 million pounds in 1921. The number of milk cows on farms January 1, 1923 is placed at 24,429,000 as compared with 24,082,000 cows on farms January 1, 1922. To the average of these two figures is added 1,250,000 cows in towns, making a total of 25,505,000 milk cows producing approximately 103 billion pounds of whole milk or an average production per cow in 1922 was 3,945 pounds.

A law has been enacted in Pennsylvania requiring schools to teach the United States constitution. Probably other states have similar laws. It may be said that the schools are so crowded with work that they do not have time to take up such matters. But if pupils go out without knowing anything about our form of government, they are not likely to make good citizens. The government of this country would be better if all citizens took an interest in politics. The way to get them interested is to have them begin the study of these questions at an early age. They should be shown that under this system of government, a higher degree of happiness has been created than anywhere else in the world.

It isn't much of an excuse to say you "never had a chance." The thing to do is to go out and knock chance in the head and drag it home by the ears.

A soft answer may turn away wrath, but sometimes it merely makes wrath worse.

Dear Folks:— When you want to teach your kiddies something they should really learn, do you talk to them in language they will listen to, then turn to a matter more amusing, one that fits their childish brain? If you do here's an example that will show you how to gain their attention on a subject they will learn and not forget. Try it out and watch the interest every word you say will get. Benny Penny's made of copper, just as brown as he can be, he's so small he is the baby of the dollar familiee. When you get four more like Benny making five of them in all, you will then meet Johnny Nickel, who a five cent piece we call. Johnny Nickel's made of Nickel and that's where he gets his name, if you meet him or five Bennys, you will find them worth the same. He is next in worth to Benny and he will be all the time the he has a smaller sister by the name of Jenny Dime. Jenny Dime is made of silver, just as small as she can be, but because she's made of silver she is worth much more you see. Just ten Bennys or two Johnnies is the worth of Jenny Dime, but two Jennies and one Johnny made Don Quarterly time. You will find these simple verses like a sugar coated pill.

BOYS' BAND MAKES RAPID PROGRESS

The Roseburg Boys' Band under the direction of John C. Shields and Harry Crocker, which was started recently with the view of developing a five-piece juvenile band for this city, is making rapid progress according to the directors who state that the boys are showing exceptional talent and seem to be picking up music quickly. All sections of the band are practically filled and all that is now to be done is to train the boys. All the fellows have purchased their instruments and are being given regular instruction. Besides the regular weekly rehearsal section rehearsals and individual lessons are being given. The directors report that they are genuinely pleased with the way which the

VACATION SCHOOL COMMENCES TODAY

The Church Vacation Bible school started at the Baptist church this morning at 9:00 o'clock. This school has been keenly anticipated by the children who attended the school last June. The combination of work and directed recreation makes a strong appeal to the children, benefits them a great deal, and relieves the mothers from the care of them during the morning hours. The school will be conducted every school day during the morning from 9:00 to 11:30 and will be superintended by Miss Beas Lewis. It is planned to run through July 6th. Those who attended the closing exhibition of the school last year were amazed at the amount of scripture that had been memorized and at the quality of the handwork done. A limited attendance will likely be determined shortly after the school begins. There is no registration fee. The expense is expected to be about one dollar per child, and this will be met by free-will offerings. No child need to stay away if the parents cannot afford this amount. Children of any church or of no church are welcome. The following people will conduct the school, Misses Beas Lewis, Margaretha and Edith Pentney, Mildred Starrett, Bertha Kohlhaagen, Gertrude Wickham, Evelyn Hawn, Lucia Giles, Alice Boyd, Margaret Cook, Louise Anderson, Hazel Cocklecrease, Gladys Neal; Mesdames Clayte Osborn, Miriam Cole, Percy Croft, Cora Baker, and Compton. Boys workers will be Messers Elmer McKean, Ed. Cocklecrease, Leo Rapp, and Dr. H. C. Church. Other workers may be added according to the need.

GEORGE A. LOVEJOY HERE ON BUSINESS

George A. Lovejoy, accompanied by Mrs. Lovejoy and Ben H. Hazen his partner in handling the affairs of the Guarantee Fund Life Association in this state, with headquarters at Portland, arrived in Roseburg last evening by automobile and will remain here for several days looking after business matters. Mr. Lovejoy is quite heavily interested in lands in that vicinity and has hopes to make arrangements while here to place a part of the property on the market. Much of the holdings are ideally located for summer homes and it is quite likely in the near future will
