DECORATING CITY FOR CELEBRATION MARSHFIELD, June 25.—Marshfield will soon commence to take on her gala attire for the coming celebration, for the man with the knowledge of how to beautify a city for such an event is here and busily at work arranging his stock and getting it ready for decorating. O. H. Ede, of the Ede Decorating company of Portland, has stacks and stacks of flags and bunting in the rear of the chamber of commerce room and is arranging it so that when he starts to decorate the work can be done very speedily. The chamber of commerce Fourth of July committee has engaged Mr. Ede to do a general line of decorating for about fifteen city blocks, but the private places will make their own arrangements with him. He is authorized by the committee to do whatever private work the city business men want. During the latter part of next week the city will be gaily decorated and ready for the visitors and celebrators. Mr. Ede has spent many years in his line of work and is therefore an expert in the business. He has the freshest stock of material that was ever brought to Coos Bay, for there is not a faded piece of bunting or a faded flag in the entire supply.
