What God Says

About—BURNED WORK

"If any man's work shall be burned he shall suffer loss"

Upon the Rock up, everything any believer builds on it—so, on Christ the Rock—will be tested by fire.

And we must build whether or not.

Every other Christian, there is something going into your building every minute, and the question is, is it fire-proof material?

God has building materials in plenty ready to your hand of faith. The Holy Spirit is the purveyor of heavenly building materials warranted to stand the fire of judgment. They are called in figurative terms gold, silver and precious stones in this third chapter of First Corinthians.

Over against the way the Devil keeps a lumber-yard and he offers wood, hay and stubble to Christians who do not think of the testing fire ahead but who, having once truly believed on Christ, as their Saviour are occupying their time with the cheapest and least enduring structures. Now man's work is going to be burned up and he is going to suffer loss—infinite loss, although he himself is saved. Dear brother Christian, let us judge our own work now and submit it before God and live according to building plans as shown in the Book; and then by His infinite grace our work shall stand. Because of the true foundation, Christ, and, second, because we have used the Spirit's materials.

CHURCHES

Methodist Episcopal Church, corner Lane and Jackson streets. L. Bowring Quick, pastor. The Sunday school meets at 9:45. An earnest effort is being made to keep up the interest during the summer. When a teacher or scholar is absent, the efficiency of the school is lowered just to that extent. This is especially true since the new system of lessons is used.

The pastor's subject at eleven o'clock will be "Peter's Repentance." This is a message of hope and cheer for the most despondent. Vivian Orcutt will sing, and he Mrs. Ruth Covert. The Epworth League will meet as usual at 7:00, but there will be no service in the evening, owing to the meeting at the Presbyterian church.

Church of Christ in South Roseburg, corner Rose and Cobb streets, Lloyd Ross, minister, worship each Lord's day as follows: Bible studies, Communion service at 11:45 a. m. Evening service at 8:15 p. m. by F. M. Rhoades. Bible studies each Wednesday evening at 7:30 p. m. The public is invited to attend these services.

First Baptist Church, corner Lane and Ross streets; H. L. Gilmore, minister. 9:45 a. m. the Bible school, O. P. Coshow, superintendent, has been held every Sunday for four weeks has been a very successful term. This is a matter of pride to the children, for the best pieces of work done during the year. 11:00 a. m. Morning worship. Message by the pastor. Subject: "The Head that during the absence of the church is the visible head to the morning service. This is the sole service to which all of the members are invited. We shall count on you. A cordial invitation is extended to all to worship with us. 7:00 young people's meeting. Leader, Louise Jennings. A good place for young people on Sunday evenings. You are invited. 8:00 p. m. First Church, South, Main and Lane, Northern pastor. The Sunday school will meet as usual at 9:45 a. m. W. L. Cobb, superintendent. At the present time we are making the great outstanding events of the Bible. Next Sunday we have a study of "Mary and Martha of Jesus." The pastor will preach at 11 a. m.; subject: "Opposition to Jesus." Special music. The union service will be in the Presbyterian church at 8 o'clock. The Epworth League meets in the social rooms of the church at 7 p. m. All the young people are invited and you will find it a helpful service.

Caldwell, pastor of the Baptist church will preach. Everyone is invited.

These young ladies are students of Eugene Bible University, and preparing for Christian work. They are making rapid strides. The members and friends of the church will be glad to hear them next Sunday, each taking one half of the theme used. Bible school at 9:45, and Y. P. S. C. E. at 7 o'clock. The evening union service in the Presbyterian church.

International Bible Students' Association will meet at 1025 North Jackson street, Sunday at 10:30 a. m. The subject for study will be "The Kingdom of God." Many erroneously suppose that when Christ's millenial kingdom is inaugurated everyone will be pleased with its rules. But not so. Its regulations will be far more exacting than those of any previous government, and the liberties of the people will be restricted to a degree that will be galling indeed to many now clamoring for an increase in liberty. Liberty to deceive, to misrepresent, to overreach and defraud others, will be entirely cut off. The only liberty that will be will be liberty to do good to themselves and to others. Nothing will be allowed to injure or destroy in all that Holy Kingdom. Isa. 11:9; Rom. 8:21.

MUST HAVE IRONING BOARD

Really Indispensable Article for Those Unfortunates Who Are Known as "Roomers."

There are many things that boarders and roomers have not, observes the New York Sun. But there is one thing they have, the fair sex, at least, short or tall, thin or fat, freckled or fair, whether they pay in advance or leave their luggage as security for back rent. It stamps them as one of the tribe. And that one thing is an ironing board. The board is usually a nondescript bit of pine or oak, around which has been wound a towel or unbleached muslin. It is of a size which will fit in the ordinary wardrobe trunk, and the fact that it is strictly taboo with landladies the land over makes it doubly treasured by its devotees.

Of course, it is used for an ironing board. When the covering is removed and the board stretched across an open bureau drawer it becomes a writing desk. Later it serves as a card table, and now and again, when malady treats herself to the luxury of breakfast in bed, it groans under the weight of a pot of homebrewed coffee and an egg boiled over an electric grill. Placed over the radiator, it becomes a convenient book shelf. Placed across a cane chair bottom one may stand on the chair without the fear of suddenly plunging through the seat. In fact, timid maidenly ladies have even been known to prop the ironing board up beneath the knob of their door and breathed easier when it was sturdily in place. Veteran boarders and roomers say no house is complete without one, and no such house is.

Evolution's Slow Progress.

In explanation of evolution, it is said that it may require 1,000,000 years to effect the change from one species to another. All the doubtful have to do is to wait that long.

The bane of our age, bromidically speaking, is hurry. Dismissing the speed idea from our minds, we can restfully sit down and talk about something other than evolution as we do about Doctor Einstein's theory. Doctor Einstein says we can't understand it, and we are courteous enough to take his word for it. The evolutionists tell us that the alteration of one species to another occupies 1,000,000 years, more or less; and we can be equally courteous.

We perceive at once that the operation is not going to disturb us; and we are grateful for any earthly change that does not disturb us.—Exchange.

Ice Cream for Dessert.

My most embarrassing moment came while I was a student at college. I was working my way through by waiting table at a sorority house. Occasionally we would have ice cream for dessert, and sometimes a portion or two would be left untouched. The other waiter and I, in our youthful inexperience, whenever that delicacy was involved, were accustomed to hasten into the dining room as soon as the girls had left to look for such spoils of our trade. On one such occasion we hurried in, and found a splendid portion untouched. We began to divide it, and just then the dining room door opened and the girl who had been called away to the telephone returned.—Exchange.

JAPANESE ARE GOOD FLYERS

Head of British Air Mission Is of Opinion That They Positively Have No Nerves.

A rather curious report current two or three years ago with reference to Japanese aviation is recalled by an interview in London with the Master of Sempill, who has just returned after spending many months as head of the British air mission to Japan. The suggestion was that Japanese could not be made into good airmen because of something in their early upbringing, one point being that because they were carried pick-a-back as infants they had somehow lost their sense of equilibrium. In support of this it was pointed out that many accidents had happened in Japan, and even today it is conceded that they have produced no outstanding flyers.

The statement, however that they do not make good airmen is disproved by the Master of Sempill, who describes them as pupils having little to be desired and the standard achieved by pilots throughout the naval air force as being very high. In fact, one report of the interview credits him with the statement that it is higher than in the British naval air force. The Japanese are said to be ready to try anything and to have no trace of nerves. All this makes a very different story from that which became common property shortly after the armistice, and there seems now no doubt that hypothesis outran facts.—North China Herald.

AUTO USED TO EXERCISE DOG

At Least One Animal of High Estate Got Real Outing, Though in Novel Manner.

The other morning the man who loves dogs was walking down Fifth avenue at the hour when the servants of the rich take out on leashes for their nutritional promenade the pampered members of dogdom, the New York Sun states.

"Poor brutes," he said to a friend, "A life of ease and luxury is theirs and there's not one of 'em wouldn't change with the raggedest cur in Christendom if he could roam unrestrained through country fields. Why, none of those rich dogs ever gets decent exercise. A big chap like that fellow (pointing to a police dog) should be given a chance to run."

And then round the corner appeared a limousine the owner of which evidently was a real dog lover. He had solved the problem of giving his dog a run every day. The chauffeur had one hand on the wheel, the other held a long leash to which was attached the owner's dog, contentedly running alongside at about eight miles an hour.

The New Psychology.

So long as all kinds of wrong conduct, or even wrong belief, were held to be the expression of an evil will subject to no causes outside itself, there was no way of dealing with them except by punishment, which was usually itself a mechanical reaction and blind in its effects.

But, as soon as wrong conduct and wrong belief were seen to have causes that could be discovered, their causes were sought, and sometimes found, with the best results.

The new psychology is based on the assumption, constantly confirmed by experience, that there are causes for all error and evil in the mind; and its great discovery is that the mind, when aware of these causes, will, with the whole of itself, resist and often overcome them.—Arthur Cutten-Brock in the Atlantic Monthly.

Militarism in Miniature.

It would be incident to charge the grand duchess of Luxemburg with militaristic designs against the peace of the world. Yet it is a fact that she has enormously increased the size of her army by no less than 700 per cent—from 250 to 250 men.

However, before this enlargement, hers was not the smallest in European armies as to size. The prince of Liechtenstein in 1807 placed his entire army at the command of his ally, the emperor of Austria. It consisted of seven men and a drummer. Nevertheless, the prince was a great warrior. He organized in his capital a war museum, the principal piece a pair of gloves which had belonged to Napoleon, all black from the smoke of battle. Unfortunately the princess had them cleaned!

Baseball Follows the Flag.

Baseball follows the flag. Wherever the United States marines have been stationed abroad the cure of the American national game has spread like wildfire.

In Cuba, the Philippines, the West Indies, and elsewhere native teams have been organized. Some of them play remarkably. The Filipinos are experts. The Chinese and Japanese play the game well up to professional standards, and the natives of Nicaragua throw their national pastime of cockfighting into the discard after they saw the game played by United States marines who had landed in that country in 1912 to suppress a revolution.

April Superstitions.

April's first is the diagnosis, which is the antidote of success, and if seen when going to some important engagement it will bring you luck. The lucky flower for April is the primrose, and whether natural or artificial, brings luck to those born in this month. April is a lucky month for marriages for those no longer young should choose another month, for April brings luck to young people's weddings only.

Educational "Movies."

When used in combination with other methods of presenting ideas, such as newspaper publicity, the spoken word, exhibits, slides, and printed bulletins, the United States Department of Agriculture has found that motion pictures constitute a valuable adding to these extension agencies. The department maintains its own motion-picture laboratory, where films are prepared to picturize improved agricultural practices, to warn about dangerous conditions or undesirable methods, or otherwise to acquaint those at a distance from the national capital with the work of the department or its application to farm life.

Magellanic Clouds.

Magellanic clouds are two cloudy masses of light, oval in shape and unequal in size, seen at night in the heavens, in the vicinity of the South pole. They are supposed to be nebulae, or dense aggregations of stars, so far distant as to give to the unaided eye the impression of cloud-like masses. They cover areas of about 42 and 10 square degrees respectively, and are so named in honor of Ferdinand Magellan, the great Portuguese navigator, who first observed them in 1520, during his voyage around the world.

Serbia Has Pretty Custom.

Oliver Semple Burton, who has been traveling in Europe studying national customs, has gathered some very interesting material. In Serbia he found girls walking along the streets with the names of their fiances embroidered on the fronts of their aprons. The engagement then becomes a public affair, and the news is proudly published by the young lady by the display of the name, which is written so that all may see, says Mr. Burton in The Mentor.

Postmaster C. S. Hoinline returned from Portland this morning, where he had been attending the Postmasters' convention, and Fourth celebration. At a meeting in the auditorium of postal employees and their families President Harding was introduced and gave a very interesting and beautiful address.

Do You Save Enough?

BANKERS say that saving money is largely a matter of habit—of systematically putting away something every pay day—of consistently thinking in terms of thrift.

The bankers are right. But remember that thrift embraces buying as well as saving. It is "penny wise and pound foolish" to save by scrimping and yet spend money needlessly in making your every-day purchases.

Has it ever occurred to you that every day you can save something simply by reading the advertisements in this paper? Do you realize that the advertisements tell you just where and when to buy to advantage—that they tell you how to avoid regrettable expenditures?

Thrifty folks realize that advertising has reduced the selling costs of thousands of factories and stores. Many of the things that today count as necessities or simple luxuries could not be sold at anything like their present prices had not advertising created a broad market for them. It has made millions of sales at small profit where otherwise there would be thousands of sales at large profit per sale.

So, you owe a great deal to advertising. And you owe it to yourself to read advertising.

Advertising helps you save money
