

Willard Has Both

The battery which originally established Willard reputation with millions of motorists is a better battery today than ever before

The Still Better Willard Battery, used as original equipment by over 134 car builders and in great demand among car owners for replacement

As good a wood-insulated battery as can be made

Willard Wood-Insulated Batteries have the highest quality of construction in their plates, jars, connections, acid-proofing, sealing—every detail as good as Willard can make it. Wood-insulated Willards have been proved good by the satisfaction of millions of motorists ever since the beginning of electric starting and lighting. They sell at prices within reach of any car-owner and are made in sizes and capacities for all makes of cars. There is no better "buy" in a wood-insulated battery.

—and the only battery with Threaded Rubber Insulation

Willard Threaded Rubber Batteries are being purchased by constantly increasing thousands of car-owners for replacement. They buy this better battery not only for greater assurance against repairs, but also because Threaded Rubber lessens the danger from overheating in summer and of freezing or exhaustion in winter. Its uniform porosity also assures a definite increase in vim and punch to start a stiff motor. Winter days now seem far off but don't forget that they'll come again!
