Frocks that Bloom in the Spring; Late Blossoming Variety

This frock might be entitled The Lady or the Daffodil. An inverted daffodil, we will admit in case we are forced to by the carping mandates of art, but still a daffodil in the virginal line and the golden yellow of the MikroKrepe which makes the frock.

An evening dress like this is more than a style note from Paris. It is a prediction, if not a prophecy. It is the result of information so carefully sifted that as a style it will be in vogue for many months to come and its wearers may be assured of its freshness for a year at least.

MirroKrepe has the quality of adapting itself to simple designs. Reading from top to bottom, the neckline on the pictured lady is a straight slash across the front and back, with the merest thread of fastening at the shoulders. The arm holes are but openings in the side seams, the waistline a suggestion of draped folds, which scarcely ripple the line of the gown.

But the bottom. It is rolled up and hemmed with three flounces of the same lustrous material which start from the unfathomable interior and wind in a spiral until they finish on the right hip in a slight drape under a bouquet of formal, flattened scarlet silk apples. The back is quite sheath-like except for the flounces which touch it flatly on their upward course.

SKETCH BY MISS ELLSBURY

ADVICE TO THE LOVELORN

by MRS. ELLSBURY

(Address all communications to Mrs. Ellsbury, care of News-Review.)

Dear Mrs. Ellsbury:—I have read your column for a long time and at last have decided to ask you for advice. I am a high school girl and would like to know what kind of material and what color will be the most appropriate to wear to high school functions this fall? Also what kind of shoes and stockings. Will long waisted dresses be in style? Will large or bertha collars be worn this fall?

I have often wondered if boys flatter girls as a mere fancy or do they mean it? How should a girl conceal her embarrassment when flattered? Is it proper for a boy to put his arms about two girls when out riding? Is it proper for a boy to put his arm around a girl when he has known her for just a short time, or is it ever proper? Should the girl get "sore" over it? When a girl is about 18 should her folks restrict her going with boy friends? Should girls of that age go unchaperoned? What time should she be home? Is it proper for them to remain in the car after they arrive home? If you have gone with a boy several times, have you the right to feel sure at him if he steps out with other girls whom you know have not a very reputable name?

How to Keep Your Husband

(From the New York Globe)

By DR. FRANK CRANE

No, my dear madam, I fear I do not sympathize with you as you seem to expect.

You say you have lost, or are losing, your husband. You state that there are high signs that he does not love you any more.

Your Freddie is slipping. Whether this is due to strong drink or weak women, to concentration on business or dissipation in pleasure makes little matter, so long as he is slipping.

So I will tell you what the trouble is. It is that you have never realized that being a wife is your job. It is not your privilege. It is not your right. It is not your station. It is nothing that was handed to you, and you cannot lose.

It is your job. And if you want to succeed you will have to get up early, work unflinching hours, and study efficiency methods, or you find yourself locked out.

You are one of those women who think it worth while to exert all their intelligence and efforts to catch a husband, but having caught him, it is very much like catching a train. For when the train is caught, you don't run any more, but sit comfortably, powder your nose, tap your hair, and settle down to ride and look at the scenery.

But say, my Pauline. There are few guaranteed through tickets on the marriage express. In fact, most of the trains are locals.

If you want to remain permanently in charge of Freddie, his heart, his children, and his pocketbook, you will, if you will pardon my French, have to hump yourself.

And there are few wives who cannot keep their husbands, if they will work at it. Also there are quite a few who can really keep their men if they soldier on the job.

I know Freddie. He is not a secondhand, nor a cad. He is just a plain, ordinary man, with the usual proportion of faults and virtues.

He is easily handled, if you care to handle him. And if you don't maybe some other woman will.

Getting another woman's husband away from her, I understand, is quite exciting. And those who change in this dangerous game use all their wits and do not let the grass grow under their feet. And if you think you can beat them by doing nothing at all, and by devoting no thought and planning and energy whatever to it, you had better think again.

The average busy man—most of them are normal—have neither time nor disposition to bother with other women than their wives, provided the wife does not make it unpleasant and difficult and the other woman pleasant and easy.

All you have to do, dear madam, is to concentrate upon Freddie's behavior. Fill it. You know what he likes, or ought to know by this time. Give it to him. Interest him. Amuse him. Play with him. Be a pal to him. Be his worth it. But—what about the Man, and His Duties? That, as Kipling says, is another story.

Improvement Club Meets Thursday

Mrs. Emma Niday was hostess on Thursday afternoon to the Garden Valley Improvement club, the meeting being held at the club rooms in Garden Valley. The afternoon was given over to Miss Nina Nash, a visitor from Dillon, Mont., who has recently returned from Europe, and who told of her travels in the foreign countries. Miss Nash and her mother, Mrs. Jennie Nash, were guests of the club for the day. A dainty luncheon was served. The next meeting of the club will be at the home of Mrs. Jack Parrott in Camas Valley, on August 21st. Those who enjoyed the afternoon were Mrs. R. A. Calhoun, Mrs. R. Ewens, Mrs. Ed Hulbert, Mrs. E. E. Labrie, Mrs. J. E. Pacey, Mrs. Fred Parrott, Mrs. S. P. Renick, Mrs. H. Ritchie, Mrs. Ralph Sinclair, Mrs. Pete Sinclair, Mrs. J. D. Young, Mrs. Jennie Nash, Miss Nina Nash, and Mrs. Emma Niday.

Mrs. Arthur Janz and Miss Rosetta Richardson, of Silverton, house guests of Miss Ava Jane Darby, by Miss Darby and Mrs. H. C. Darby, entertained with six tables of 500 at the H. C. Darby residence Monday evening. Flowers of many shades, wild lilacs, pomegranate, lavender, autumn leaves, Shasta daisies and sweet peas were used in profusion about the rooms. A table of iced drinks was presided over by Miss May Baldwin. Mrs. Charley McElhinny received first prize at 500 and Mrs. Tom Wharton consolation. Invited to meet Mrs. Janz and Miss Richardson were Mrs. Dave Lenox, Mrs. George Neuner, Mrs. A. T. Lawrence, Mrs. George Wharton, Mrs. G. V. Wimberly, Mrs. Carl Wimberly, Mrs. E. A. McKeag, Mrs. H. M. Pierson, Mrs. Wendell Wright, Mrs. Tom Wharton, Mrs. Irvin Brun, Mrs. Lloyd Crocker, Mrs. Jack Wharton, Mrs. Ed Thornton, Mrs. Carl Reymers, Mrs. Lloyd Whipple, Mrs. Chas. McElhinny, Miss Bess Wharton, Miss Jane Wharton, Miss Irma Martens, Miss Marie Martens, Miss Mae Baldwin, Miss Margaret Baldwin, Miss Lois Parks, Miss Mabel Henry, and Miss Redrick.

Entertain for Mr. and Mrs. Mynatt

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Eley were hosts Wednesday evening for the pleasure of their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Mynatt of Long Beach, California. The Mynatts came to Salem Saturday and yesterday left for Vancouver, Washington, where they will visit with Mrs. Mynatt's sister, Mrs. G. H. Harrison. Later they will visit with his sister at Diamond, and continue their trip to Crater lake and the Jesu-chine caves. Mr. Mynatt and Mrs. Eley are brother and sister.

Rev. and Mrs. H. L. Caldwell had, as their house guest the past week Miss Nelly Dunsmore of Berkeley, California.

Apple Thinners Have Picnic Thursday

The apple thinners who have been employed at the R. S. Hutton orchard in Garden Valley, celebrated the completion of their work Thursday with a picnic in the afternoon and evening at Hutton's grove. The afternoon was spent with outdoor diversions, and a delicious picnic dinner was served in the early evening. Mrs. L. C. Goodman, forelady, was presented with a large box of chocolates by the thinners. One of the prominent attractions was a small brown bear, the thinner mascot for the season. Guests of the apple thinners were Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Hutton, Barton Hutton, and Mrs. and Mrs. Lee Goodman. The thinners present were Esther and Edna May Enlow, Ida and Ruth Lansaw, Dora and Lucy Phillips, Esther Byers, Evelyn La Mere, Carla Jacobs, Lillie Christopherson, Carrie Gilbert, Enore Ballou, Aileen Drucker, Grace Hyatt, Mabel Kronke, and Louise and Ruth Jennings.

Just a Little Different

So she tries to be just a little different from the run of women who fill the subways and offices—women who spend a large sum for one dress and wear it until it is completely worn out before buying another. She buys clothes that are on sale because they are not exactly what women are wearing—just a trifle off the mode. Then she alters them so that they will be becoming to her particular style, always adding some little touch that is decidedly new. She is a perpetual remodeler. Her gowns undergo many changes before they are cast aside.

Lip-stick on Pearl Necklace—Latest in Paris

The poke hat continues its reign in Paris, although several millinery designers are sponsoring the new "scuttle" hat, which differs slightly from the poke. Its crown is higher than the crown of the average poke and its brim is very narrow. All hats continue to keep the short back effect. Panne and Lyonvelvet are the favorite fabrics used for early fall models and brown and green are the leading hat shades. There is a shade of deep wine that is also used a great deal.

Feathers of all sorts from barnyard fowl to ostrich will be used this coming season and it is predicted that the ostrich in all its variations will be seen on sports hats as well as on dress hats.

Colorful feathers and feather fanes splashed with metal are shown in quantities. Pompoms, wheel effects, and tassels of burnt ostrich trim many tailored shapes. Ribbon still holds its popularity as a trimming.

Metal-cloth blouses lavishly worked in beads are seen in great numbers in the Parisian shops.

Metal, by the way, is stressed as one of the leading fabrics for fall for formal gowns, blouses, hats, etc.

Choker necklaces, so popular with Parisians, are matched by earrings, bracelets and accessories of like color.

Cornealian and crystal are the most popular of the semi-precious stones used. Glass beads in such colors as ruby red, onyx blue, sapphire and jade green are quite as popular as the more costly stones.

The lip-stick pendant which hangs on a long pearl necklace is the latest accessory from Paris.

One cannot lose one's lip-stick if it is tied about one's neck and the Parisian believes in having her lip-stick ever ready. Not only does she keep her lips a crimson hue, but she never feels that she is completely groomed until she has put a bit of color on her chin and on the lobes of her ears.

Just now the Parisians are wearing little straight-lined suits with short, pin-tucked jackets.

Colored voile handkerchiefs are more popular than those of silk or linen in Paris at present. It is said that voile is less crushable than

Silverton Guests Are Honored

For Mrs. Arthur Janz and Miss Rosetta Richardson, of Silverton, house guests of Miss Ava Jane Darby, by Miss Darby and Mrs. H. C. Darby, entertained with six tables of 500 at the H. C. Luncheon Club Has Annual Picnic

Mrs. Washington Hughes invited the matrons of the One O'clock Luncheon club, and their husbands to her home for the annual picnic of the club, on Tuesday evening. The river bank in the rear of the Hughes home was an exquisite setting for the six o'clock dinner. An archway of sweet peas admitted the guests to the enchanted spot wherein the table had been set, and where tubs of red geranium and masses of sweet peas in lovely shades made a fragrant enclosure for the interesting evening. Enjoying Mrs. Hughes' hospitality were Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Belline, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. John Eager, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Wharton, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wharton, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Eubar, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Rice, Mr. and Mrs. William Bell, and as guests of the club, Bishop Summerville, and Mrs. Grace Thibodeau.

Primary Youngsters Have Picnic

The primary division of the Christian church Bible school picnicked Tuesday afternoon at the Pitzer Beckley ranch on Deer Creek. About 40 of the little folks made the trip in automobiles at one o'clock, accompanied by Chas. G. Stanton, superintendent of the primary division, Mrs. Eva Wood, Miss Neva Church, Mrs. Floyd Wilson, and Mrs. Francis Stanton. Games arranged by the teachers were played by the youngsters, and ice cream and cake was served.

Among those who motored to Eugene Friday evening to attend the musical comedy at the Hellog, "Shufflin' Along," were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. Woodley Stephenson, Miss Beulah Jewett, D. D. Mathews, Merrill Throne and A. Salzman. The cast of the musical comedy was composed entirely of negroes, and proved to be one of the best that ever played on the coast.

Annual Picnic At Soldiers Home

One of the quaint events of the week which drew a large number of the Woman's Relief Corps and the Civil War veterans, was the annual picnic of these two organizations which was held at the Soldiers Home grove Friday. A picnic dinner was served under the trees at noon for the W. R. C. and veterans, all the ladies having brought well filled baskets. The main event of the afternoon was a program participated in by the members of the two organizations. Comrade Brubecker gave several violin selections assisted by Comrade Kelley on the drums. Mr. Hamlin gave two readings and a dance. Mrs. Howell danced the Bunny Hug, and every one joined in the Virginia reel. Mrs. Chandler sang "Comin' Through the Rye," and Mrs. Kidd sang "Annie Laurie," and "Comin' Through the Rye." Mrs. Fisher gave a short talk and sang a melody of old songs, and Comrade Riddle gave a brief talk. Virginia and Clifford Cyrus, Mrs. Honck, Tina Dean, and Mrs. Fullerton all gave readings and talks. Mrs. Iriscoll and Mrs. Grout sang and M. Montgomery gave a short talk. The program ended with group singing of "Marching through Georgia."

Mrs. Jennie Nash and Miss Nina Nash of Dillon, Mont., are guests in Garden Valley of their son and brother Frank Nash. They will make an extended visit here.

Miss Gladys Elmore of Eugene is the house guest for the week end of Miss Marjorie Sailer.

Friends here are sending congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rapp upon the arrival of an eight pound girl. They are former Roseburg residents, who are now living at Timber, near Portland. The child was born July 20. Mr. Rapp is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Rapp of this city.

Mrs. J. O. Anderson and three daughters, Velma, Bernice and Helen, motored to Roseburg Wednesday from Eugene, and are the guests of Mrs. Anderson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Ryan.

A large number motored to Cooper's Spring on Mt. Dodson Sunday and spent the day at that beautiful spot. This has become a popular outing district for many, and the party of sixty who spent Sunday there had a most enjoyable time.

Pythian Sisters Initiate Monday

The Pythian Sisters held the regular meeting on Monday evening of this week, initiating one candidate, Mrs. Virgie Haynes, into the order. After initiation and the regular lodge meeting the members enjoyed a social hour, and dainty refreshments.

Elks Make Merry at Canyon Camp

Canyon Camp was the mecca for the Elks of Douglas county Wednesday evening, and several visitors were present from various parts of the state, who were in Roseburg for the day, and motored out to join in the festivities of the local Elks. Informally characterized the whole affair from the basket luncheon at 7:45 to the evening of dancing which ended at twelve. Orchestra music entertained the diners, and vocal solos and the Elks quartette provided amusement. This outdoor excursion will be made an annual event hereafter.

Four Weeks Courtship for Roseburg Boy

Cupid knows no speed limits. About May 1 he started on a speed dash in Eugene which culminated in the marriage of Carl Steinmetz, one of the proprietors of the Ideal bakery, to Katherine Blair, of Veneta, Minn., the couple being wedded in Minneapolis, Minn., July 19.

Bridal Shower for Miss Gladys Rapp

The regular session of the W. B. A. of the Macabees on Thursday evening, was followed by a great surprise for one of the members, Miss Gladys Rapp. The ladies of the lodge were invited to the banquet room where long tables had been arranged with a dainty luncheon, and the affair became a miscellaneous shower for Miss Rapp, who has announced her engagement. The place cards were in the form of tiny brides, and a miniature bride adorned the center of the table surrounded by Shasta daisies. Miss W. W. Bonebrake presented the many beautiful gifts to Miss Rapp. Miss Rapp recently announced her engagement to Dewey Wilson, who is practicing dentistry at Riddle. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Rapp, and a graduate of the Roseburg high school and Monmouth Normal school. For the past year she has been teaching at Benson school. The wedding is to be an event of September.

Mrs. Thomas R. Vaughan and Constance, Ernest and Alice Vaughan, and Miss Olive Brown, all of Los Angeles, are house guests at Wilbur of Mrs. Vaughan's brother, W. H. Rensel. From Wilbur they will return home, stopping at several points in California for short visits.

Country Club Is Fairy Land for Dancers

The glamour of romance and mystery was hung like a mantle over the Country club last night with the club members and their guests dining themselves merrily in the first club dance of the season. Long stellular Shasta daisies, floral umbrellas and the exquisite interior and grounds of the club house were transformed into a fairyland, with the bright twinkling eyes of Japanese lanterns, nodding over all. The gay dancers filled the dance hall and overflowed to the broad veranda, and several tables of bridge were made-up by the non-dancers. A table of punch and wafers was pre-

Minstrel are three forms of innocent amusements which are patronized by tens of thousands of people who hold aloof from other attractions.

Creating of laughter, the rendering of tuneful music, charming songs, comical stunts and curious novelties, constitute the purpose of the minstrel. For this reason, time and again in the professional papers the performers and others engaged in the legitimate amusement business have been assured by the government that amusements of this character are not considered non-essential. No wonder, in those strenuous times, the demand for the minstrel is increasing until it is impossible for the management of a first-class company like the Famous Georgia Minstrels to fill one-half of the dates offered them. People want to be entertained, to laugh, and thus their nervous systems are better tuned to the times.

With the Famous Georgia Minstrels are associated some forty people, all consisting of the very cream of the negro minstrel profession, and after all the negro is the natural musician and minstrel of the human race, and during the engagement here will spring some of their more pleasing surprises.

Mrs. Florence Cochran of Portland, who has been spending the past year in Santa Barbara, California, spent several days in Roseburg this week. Mrs. Cochran was joined here by Mrs. Gertrude Jamieson of Portland, and after a short visit with old friends they returned to Portland. Both Mrs. Cochran and Mrs. Jamieson lived in Roseburg in former years, and enjoyed renewing old acquaintances.

Carl Steinmetz formerly made his home in Roseburg, and has a number of friends here. Mrs. George Wharton of Roseburg is his sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Bromberger and son of Marshfield, were here the latter part of the week, meeting Mr. and Mrs. Ben Shutz in this city. Mrs. Shutz was formerly Miss Bromberger, and they were recently married in the northern part of the state, and they were enroute to Pomona, California, to make their field. Mr. Bromberger of Marshfield is the proprietor of the Bromberger clothing store, and is accountant at that place. Mrs. Bromberger is prominent in society and club circles. After a short visit in Roseburg, Mr. and Mrs. Shutz continued on to California and Mr. and Mrs. Bromberger returned to Marshfield.
