REEDSPORT MAY START RECALL

Four Officials Are Asked to Tender Resignations Immediately

MASS MEETING IS HELD

City Marshal, Constable, Justice of the Peace and Councilman Asked to Resign From Present Positions

The resignations of four city and precinct officials, the city marshal, constable, justice of the peace, and one councilman, are demanded in notification served upon these officials by a special committee representing a number of citizens of Reedsport, who in their notification advise the officers that recall proceedings will be started unless they immediately tender their resignations. Those who are named for recall are A. G. Renn, city marshal; F. C. Schulte, constable; Fred Earl, justice of the peace; and J. H. Austin, councilman.

Copies of the notice to these officials have been received by local authorities and are as follows:

"At a meeting of law abiding citizens of this city held at the Moore Hall on last Tuesday, July 17, 1923, it was voted unanimously that a recall be inaugurated against you for the office of (city marshal, etc.) of the City of Reedsport, unless you resign immediately, and the duty delegated to this committee is to notify you of the action of this body of citizens.

You will please take notice and govern yourselves according to your own desires in the matter.

(Signed) NOTIFICATION COM.,
Karl R. Stone, chairman,
J. C. Price, secretary,
J. Craig,
E. L. Fitzgerald,
J. Hawkins, Napier."

These demands for resignations, under threat of recall, are believed to be the outgrowth of the recent sensational developments in Reedsport, in which the men named were cited in frame-up stories told by men held under arrest here charged with serious crimes. Reedsport conditions are now under investigation by the grand jury and it is expected that some action will be taken in the near future to clear up the trouble which has been existing there. District Attorney George Neuner left this morning for Reedsport to make a personal probe of affairs there.

NORTHWEST WYOMING HIT BY CLOUDBURSTS

Million Dollars Damage Done by Flood Which Destroys Railroads and Highways in State of Wyoming.

(By Associated Press.)
CASPER, Wyo., July 25.—Three cloudbursts during the last 36 hours have caused floods throughout all northwestern Wyoming. The latest reports said that the water was rising at Thermopolis, two hundred miles north of here. Waters from the Blaine river are nearly covering the tracks at the depot, the highest point in the city. The entire town of Booneville is under two to five feet of water. Early estimates placed the damage at a million and a half dollars. The Burlington railroad suffered $750,000 loss to tracks over a distance of 80 miles. A number of bridges are out on the Northwestern railroad between Casper and Lander. Railroad traffic is demoralized.

One Man Killed

(By United Press.)
CASPER, Wyo., July 25.—Northwestern Wyoming is entirely isolated with both roads leading into the district, and telephone and telegraph lines out of commission as a result of floods. Torrents of water from heavy cloudbursts, washed out seven railroad bridges. Highways were torn out for miles. Property damage may reach a million dollars. One man was struck by lightning. It will be perhaps a week before trains are running again.

HARDING ELIMINATED FROM TOURNAMENT

(By United Press.)
WITH HARDING ENROUTE TO VANCOUVER, July 25.—President Harding was put out of the shuffleboard tournament today when he and C. E. Rolf, Seattle photographer, were defeated by Secretary Work and Jay Rayden Detroit newspaperman. Secretary Work is the only cabinet member left in the contest, Wallace losing in the first round and Hoover in the second. Dr. Sawyer is still in the running.

WOULD APPLY LASH TO ARMED ROBBERS

(By Associated Press.)
VANCOUVER, B. C., July 25.—Maudlin sentiment was condemned at the Northwest Association of Sheriff and Police convention as the cause of laxity in the punishment of criminals. It was said that this sentiment was undoing the work of the police. Officers cited many cases where criminals have been released on parole after serving only a fraction of their sentences. Many instances where paroled criminals returned to crime were also recounted. The resolutions committee is preparing a resolution recommending that the lash be administered to robbers carrying guns or using violence.

'CHATTED' WITH DEAD EDITOR

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle Asserts That Spirit of Publisher Talked in His Old Form.

People who go to hear Sir Arthur Conan Doyle lecture and think his sensational ought to contact with him privately when he is tuning under the public rostrum as it were—trying out his "dreams" on you and me, or a small group in some parlor, according to a New York letter in the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

His high spot in "thrill-ems" is a claim he has made of having had a twenty-minute chat since his arrival in the United States with the late Lord Northcliffe. He gives all the details of a remarkable conversation in which the departed publisher and publicist regrets not having his checkbook along, else he would write a good one for carrying forward the cause of spiritualism.

Sir Arthur in many of his talks with persons in the next world dispenses with mediums and controls. He claims to have had 13 Northcliffe interviews without a medium as intermediary. Northcliffe came to him. What transpired was most delightfully informal and really characteristic of the brilliant Harmsworth, who, according to Sir Arthur, even talked of individuals who had been running his press since his death, and not in an altogether complimentary manner.

Here's where the joy begins!

COUNT everybody in, when Post Toasties are served! The name and the fame of these delicious flakes of toasted corn are a call to every one's appetite.

If you know about them, there's a get-hungry thought, in just hearing about them!

They're so delightfully golden-brown and flavory and satisfying—and they stay crisp in the cream!

And you can be generous! A serving usually costs less than a cent. There are many servings in a package—every flake a delight. All ready to serve, too; no bother, no waiting—and they build energy for work or play.

A fresh supply at the grocer's for you. Worth asking for by their own name, Post Toasties, and be sure to get the Yellow and Red wax-wrapped package.

WILL GIVE DINNER TO CHERRIAN CLUB

Preparations for the entertainment of the Cherrian club, a booster organization of Salem, which is to arrive here tomorrow afternoon at six o'clock have been completed and all committees of the chamber of commerce are finishing up the details. The exact number of the visitors has not been received but the number will approximate from fifty to fifty-six. An informal dinner at the Palace of Sweets has been arranged. Charles McElhinny, J. E. McClintock, A. J. Hochradel, O. P. Coshov, Ben Zigler and L. L. Crocker are to have charge of the affair. The dinner will not be a banquet, but will be a sort of a get-together meeting and dinner. No speeches or toasts or any other program will be presented, the dinner taking the form of a welcome entertainment. Following the dinner the big parade will be held. The Cherrians are staging the parade, but will be escorted by the Douglas County Concert band which will take them to the court house lawn for a special concert after the parade has ended. The program for the concert has been especially prepared for the club members and will probably draw a large crowd.

PRIEST CONVICTED ON FORGERY CHARGE

(By United Press.)
DENVER, July 25.—Father Walter A. Grace, pastor of the Catholic church in Arvada, a suburb of Denver, was convicted today in the United States district court, of a charge of forging a permit for an application to ship liquor into Colorado.

MEDFORD MAN IS SHOT FOR COYOTE

MEDFORD, July 25.—Herman Walters of Humboldt creek is in the Sacred Heart hospital with a badly shattered right shoulder through having received a charge of buckshot at 9:30 Sunday night, and H. D. McVey, another Applegate man, who resides along Forrest creek, is in the custody of the authorities on charge of assault with a dangerous weapon. The shooting came about in a peculiar manner, according to McVey, who claims it was unintentional and accidental, he having fired at what he said he thought was a coyote and Walters having received the charge as he was riding by a short distance away. The charge resting against McVey who gave himself into custody as soon as he heard that Walters was shot, was proffered by District Attorney Moore yesterday before he heard of McVey's explanation.

"This thing of what is claimed to be shooting coyotes in the night time has got to be stopped," said District Attorney Rawlins Moore early this afternoon. "Hunters should wait, as the deer hunting season opens next month." The official's remarks were in line with general rumors that McVey was hunting deer Sunday night, instead of coyotes.

Walters said that accompanied by his dog he was riding around Sunday night in search of stray horses when he saw a man about fifty feet away in the dark. A fence and a lot of brush lay between them. He shouted to the man several times, something like "Hello, I am looking for horses and you needn't be afraid of me." Finally on receiving no answer he rode on, and then was fired on. After being wounded he was able to make his way home over the hill nearby, and from there was brought to Medford and to the hospital.

McVey's story is to the effect that accompanied by a neighbor named Muller he was in the vicinity with his gun loaded with buckshot on the lookout for coyotes, Muller being one-fourth of a mile away, and finally saw what he took to be a coyote about 50 feet away and fired on the animal as it leaped in the air.

"I must have hit Walters when I fired at his dog, which I mistook for a coyote," says McVey. "There is no other explanation."

"He no doubt did shout to me to give warning that he was in the vicinity. But I am hard of hearing and did not hear him."
