HOW EVERYBODY CAN HELP.

There is a general tendency in almost any country, for the people to look to the head authority for those measures and laws and efforts that shall relieve the people from their difficulties, and help them meet their own personal and family problems, So at the present time, the country is full of clamor for this or that to he done to help the people bear the burdens created by the war. Yet these problems are not to be solved by one man alone or any group of men. Our country created its tremendous results during war, as the result of a stupendous effort on the part of nearly all the people. People asked how they could help, and they worked enthusinstically on any line of effort suggested to them. Then the war closed, there was a certain sizekening up of effort. People became tired of sacrifices. They demanded that they should get back the same old conditions they had before the war. Many of them seemed unwilling to do as much work as they did before the war, and a spirit of slackening and indolence seemed to settle over large elements. With less willingness to work, and more work to be done to bear the great burdens created by the war, it was natural that many conditions should go wrong, and that it is taking a long time to recover from war conditions. There can not be a quick return to pre-war conditions if the people just look to President Coolidge and his advisers to lift them out of their difficulties by some miracle of statesmanship, A new spirit of co-operation, like that prevailing during war times, must prevail. People must be willing to work hard, to deny themselves luxuries, to exercise thrift. They must avoid class warfare, and try to settle industrial quarrels in a spirit of reason and justice.

The law of supply and demand works slowly, but it works with irresistible force. A few months ago we were told by political prophets that gasoline would be a dollar a gallon unless the oil industry was placed under political control. But high prices to it not overloosed when it comes to doling out the meat. The law of supply and demand works slowly, but it works with irresistible force. A few months ago we were told by political prophets that gasoline would be a dollar a gallon unless the oil industry was placed under political control. But high prices resulted in undreamed of crude oil output and stored supplies of petroleum products. Old man supply and Demand must sit back and laugh. He knows that present low prices will discourage output of crude oil and when our reserve supply is low the price will begin to climb in order to ensourage production. The politician williery out that the oil combine is robbing the consumer and that government control is necessary to stop the outrage. And that government control is necessary to stop the outrage. And that government control is necessary to stop the outrage. And that government control is necessary to stop the outrage. And they now old han supply and Demand will laugh. It's a great then how Old Man Supply and Demand will laugh. It's a great life for those who have sense enough to learn the lessons that nature teaches, but its easy to fool those who pass the lessons by, remarks the Manufacturer,

Presa reports state President Coolidge is going to invoke a program of strict economy. Here's hoping he will chop off the heads of a dozen or more publicity bureaus that have been established and operating at the capital city for the past half century. It would be a blessing to the newspaper men of the country,

Counties Against Gamblers

Line county is joining Lane in the move to har undesirable concessions from the annual county fairs according to word received by W. A. Ayres, secretary of the Lane' fair board, this morning. Albany people, and their neighbors, feel as does Lane; that such concessions are not worth what they cost the general publis. what they cost the general public. The fair boards make good revenue off of them, but fair attendants and viltors are covers, according to Ayres. It is felf that it is for the best to bur thom. Consequently, there will be few "border-line" anusements at the Lane fair grounds this year, September 18 to 21.—Eugene Guard.

The Fordney-McCumber tariff was designed to shut off imports and so project American industries from foreign competition. It is the highout tariff ever enacted in any one. Yet while imports have de-ed, they still remain surprising-

The reason is not hard to find. It Hes in the increased railroad freight cates and the low water rates which makes it possible to land foreign nate goods in American ports at as ow or lower price than the Ameri-an goods can be shipped from inter-or points of manufacture to the coust. What the tariff adds to cost of imported goods is offset by what the extortionate freight rates add to American made goods. The same congress which enzeted

The city ordinance providing that permits must be secured before bonfires are lighted, will be strictly enforced in the future, according to Fire Chief James Fletcher. This is one of the most commonly violated ordinances, he states, and there violations cost the city a great deal of money. Last night the reflection of a benfire caused some person to turn in a fire alarm. The cost to the city was between $15 and $29. Volume of the county of city was between $15 and $29.
