ROSEBURG, OREGON, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1923

HANDLING YOUNG BOYS.

To many people who do not know how to appeal to the young crowd, a certain type of boys appear absolutely tough and not to be reached by any form of appeal. A woman engaged in settlement work in a large city was recently telling of some of their experience with the tough kid element. It was their practice to try to interest the young crowd in good children's books, and they would gather them at certain hours to tell them stories out of history and classic literature. Certain boys however, used to take delight in their toughness, and in showing that they did not propose to be improved. When asked what kind of books they liked, they would reply, "O we like de dime novels, the worst we can get. We are tough guys and you can't touch us." However the story telling hour was kept up, and these same kids in spite of themselves were drawn in. They became so fascinated by hearing the fine tales of heroism and real achievement, that they listened with open mouths and bated breath, and when the story was over, they would beg for another. Such instances go to show that there is always some way to appeal to the boy element if you only know the way to their hearts. Usually that way is to arouse their interest in achievement and in accomplishing fine and splendid results. The deeds of the fore-fathers of America or the men who have lived and sacrificed anywhere for the cause of human advance, can be made to seem far more interesting to them than any heroes of trashy novels. If the heart of a boy can thus be touched by giving him an admiration for the work of fine men, he will feel a desire to live a worthy life himself. There are few boys who are thoroughly bad at heart. Most of them have good impulses which can be roused.

New York has 142 radical Sunday schools where children are taught to despise the American flag. Dr. B. L. Scott, of Pittsburgh, stated during the Christian Citizenship Conference recently held at Stony Brook, N. Y., under the auspices of the National Reform Association. With a condition of this kind existing in civilized America there is any wonder that true American citizenship is being undermined and frequent disturbances occur from radical sources. One of the first steps to be taken in this country would be a general cleaning up of such institutions above referred to. No such act should be permitted to exist and the government ought to take drastic action against any individual or set of people who attempt to poison the minds of the young with radical teachings.

What Roseburg should set about to do and do it just as quickly as possible is to get proper financial aid from the government to assure early completion of the highway to Diamond and Crater Lakes by way of the North Umpqua route. When this roadway is complete it will be one of the best scenic routes in the west, and will command the attention of thousands of tourists who annually visit these lakes. And the tourist trade is no longer in its infancy, it is now one of the most important industries of the nation, and any community that does not take advantage of its possibilities to encourage this class of business is simply passing a big asset to neighboring cities that are awake to the real value of tourist trade. Nothing should be left undone to get the North Umpqua project completed at the very earliest possible date.

The plight of Japan is one that should command the attention of all nations throughout the world. Suffering among the people of that country is beyond description and a quick response will be necessary in the way of food and clothing to alleviate the suffering of thousands of homeless people. Supplies are already being rushed to devastated districts, but regardless of the rapidity with which aid is being given thousands of people will perish before it is possible to give them any assistance.

There is talk of recalling Governor Pierce. This would be an awful slam at this grand old state after the people had given him such a handsome majority at the last election. But when it comes to voting the average fellow is here today and gone tomorrow.

THE VILLAGE RHYMESTER

by Carlisle Emery

Dear Folks:

Ambition's like the filling of a sandwich—that is sweet, of a sandwich that is wholesome, one that's worth the while to eat. And the goal for which you're striving, is the upper slice of bread while hard work makes up the lower. So if you would get ahead, take the sandwich that I mention, eat a mouthful every day. Indigestion brought by failure, then will never come your way.

If the upper slice is missing, you'll be wholly out of luck, for without a goal before you, what's the use of work and pluck? And the lower slice is vital when you feel you want to shirk. What's begun is never finished when there's not a sign of work. But the filling of ambition makes the sandwich all complete, it's the part that's most important for it makes the eating sweet.

You may have a goal or purpose and be rich in work that's hard, but the lack of real ambition slows you up and will retard all the progress you are hoping to procure from toil and sweat. Folks may win without ambition, but they've never done it yet.

So be sure you have this sandwich with its top and lower slice, with its filling so important. Then regardless of the price keep it daily on your menu, chew it well and never stop. That's the way to climb the ladder and to land yourself on top.

PRUNE PICKIN'S

GOOD EVENING FOLKS—

Tommy Gibbons
Who kept a slacker
At bay in Shelby
On July 4th
For fifteen rounds
Is in the village today
And we'll never forget
The look on Tom's mug
After the bout at Shelby
When the wife
Of the Shelby mayor
Hopped over the ropes
And smacked him one
Which was certainly
A knockout.

DUMBBELL DORA THINKS

Nom de plume is the draping on a French hat.

If Tommy Gibbons had brought along Patsy Salmon, the Shelby tent prima donna, we could guarantee him standing room only.

OUR DAILY MAIL.

Dear Ed: Was Tommy Gibbons crowned as a chief of the Blackfeet tribe at Shelby on account of the shortage of water? FAN.

Ans.: We refuse to answer personal questions in this column.

RABBITS ORGANIZING.

At a well attended meeting held near Dillard, melon center of Oregon, the question of reckless driving by auto operators was fully discussed. It was agreed by all, unless some means was devised to protect those who use the pavement on foot, especially during the night time, that the death toll now taken will continue, and no doubt show an increase. It was decided to ask that all cars passing over the highway during the night time, be equipped with cloth lined fenders, similar to those used on street cars.

Roll call of the representatives present showed that every "kiani" of rabbits between Roseburg and Myrtle Creek were represented.

PETE RABBIT, Secy.

If that wild bull of the South American pampas with a name that sounds like a drink should happen to connect one of his crushing swats on Dempsey's chin on the evening of September 14th it'll surprise most of us, for in spite of Jack's war record and his unlikable manager, he is some little scrapper and is still the champ of the world.

Some fellow left a chunk of tangle-foot on the chair in our sanctum today and as a result we can't keep our mind on this column.

These girls who keep their eyebrows thinned out find that it takes a lot of pluck.

If you want to avoid fracturing a friendship when you go fishing be sure to keep your own matches dry, take your own baits and lures, put a drinking cup in your pocket, a supply of your own tobacco in your kit, smoke your own pipe and never try to borrow your companion's rod or reel.

Fair warning: You have less than four months to prepare for your Christmas shopping.

Men have written seven books destined to live longer than the Bible, but we do not remember just now what they were.

A lane with bobbed hair which stood out all around like a frazzled kitchen mop, and who chewed gum in furious fashion, registered a vigorous kick to this column today and we're sorry she talked too fast for us to understand her.

The penalty of being a high brow is that you have to read so many books you don't like and don't understand.

From all appearances the soldiers' bonus is bogus.

The automobile has ruined the porch swing says a writer. On the contrary the motor car has given dad and mother a chance to enjoy the swing so long appropriated by the princess of the family and her callers.

Dumbell Dora was in our sanctum this a. m. to get five bucks stating she wished to get a pair of pumps made from the skins of hydraulic rams.

An empty demijohn is what we would call hollow mockery.

The first shall be last and the last shall be first—from the table to the grave.

The hot spell wasn't a permanent wave after all.

The Oakland fellers have organized a club known as the "Gobblers" and they show up as well as the Oakland turks after which they are named they'll make their mark in the world without a doubt.

NEWS-REVIEW JOINS HIGHWAY ASSOCIATION

The Roseburg News-Review has accepted a newspaper association membership in the National Highway Association (Washington, D. C.) with which are affiliated two hundred and two road associations and organizations. It stands not for any particular road, but for good roads everywhere, through the establishment of national highways.

The "Map Device" with this article expresses our interest in roads, your interest in roads. It is the symbol of an association which for twelve years has worked faithfully and hard for the dissemination of road information, which has published thousands of maps, and millions of pamphlets, in the interest of good roads, and which believes that the future civilization of this great country will go forward as fast and no faster than we develop our transportation.

The motor and motor truck have come to stay. The farmer of 20 years ago on an isolated mud-walled, mis-called a road, who today lives near a hard asphal road and drives his car to town and back in an hour where formerly he required a day, knows what roads mean to him. Good roads mean prosperity; they mean progress, they mean education; they mean a full life. Forth highway they mean the greatest amount of goods purchased for the least amount of haulage; they mean greater profits from farm produce because they cost less to haul over good roads.

Good roads everywhere mean prosperity and happiness everywhere.

That is why we have become a newspaper association member of the association which will eventually produce good roads everywhere.

PRISONER RELEASED

L. J. Dunn of Salem, who was arrested a month ago charged with possession of liquor, was released from jail last night, having completed his 30-day sentence, less the time given for good behavior. He also paid his fine of $500. The departure of Mr. Dunn leaves the county jail unoccupied.

STUMP SAVES LIVES IN AUTO ACCIDENT

MARSHFIELD, Sept. 6.—A. Blane and wife of Portland who had been visiting at the home of their nephew L. A. Blane, and Mrs. C. B. Nicoud, had a narrow escape from serious injury Sunday near Coquille. They had started home in their car and went over the grade, a stump stopping their machine before it turned over.

Mrs. Nicoud, who has been making her home with her sons, L. A. Blane and C. L. Nicoud here, was accompanying them back for a visit. She sustained an injured knee. Mr. and Mrs. Blane were unhurt. Their car, a Dodge touring machine, was not little damaged, a bumper saving it.

The accident was caused by Mr. Blane losing control of it when he swung out into the gravel in passing another machine. The scene of the accident was about five miles north of Coquille, not far from where Dr. Morrow wrecked his car several weeks ago.
